Hydro Chief Rapped For 'Politics' Charge

WIRE BRIEFS

Lumpas End Fighting

LUSAKA (Reuters) — Followers of the Lumpa Church "prophetess," Alice Lenshina, today appeared to be ending her appeal for an end to fighting in Northern Rhodesia.

Russians Defect

TOKYO (UPI) — Two Soviet musicians for a touring Russian variety show defected from their troupe and sought asylum today in the U.S. Embassy, an American spokesman reported.

Space Spectacular?

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Russians are planning to launch soon their biggest space spectacular so far, according to unofficial reports today. The reports came amid a burst of Soviet press hints on how space flights.

U.S. Centre Besieged

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Three thousand Indonesians, shouting "Americans go home," besieged the U.S. cultural centre in Jogjakarta today and Indonesian authorities seized the building at the mob's demand.

Cafe Blast Kills 2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An explosion apparently caused by escaping gas blew up a restaurant in suburban Glenside today, killing at least two persons and injuring eight or more.

Bomb Blast

McCOMB, Miss. (AP) — A bomb exploded today in front of a Negro grocery store across the street from a church where civil rights workers have been holding a "freedom school." No injuries were reported.

U.S. Jet Shot Down

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist forces in Laos shot down a U.S. jet fighter plane Friday and badly damaged another, Radio Peking said today.

B.C. Hydro co-chairman Gordon Shrum was told today to stay out of politics and look after his corporation.

Mayor William Rathie of Vancouver, in an interview with The Times, denied flatly an accusation by Dr. Shrum that municipal leaders are trying to stall bus-fare increases until after December municipal elections. He also expressed scepticism about Dr. Shrum's offer to supply transit figures.

"It took B.C. Hydro two and a half years to apply for the increase, when they had all the facts and figures."

PHONE INTERVIEW

"Now they expect the municipalities to make up their minds in two or three weeks," he said in a telephone interview.

"Dr. Shrum should keep his cotton-picking fingers out of politics. He's running a hydro system."

B.C. Hydro has applied to boost cash fares from 13 cents here to 25 cents.

Greater Vancouver and Greater Victoria municipalities are trying to delay the Public Utilities Commission hearings on the application.

ASK FOR TIME

They plan to ask for time to conduct a $50,000 transit survey of both areas—a move Dr. Shrum calls unnecessary because B.C. Hydro can supply all the facts needed.

"So far we are not satisfied

ROCK BURSTS DIM HOPES FOR MINERS

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (UPI) — New upheavals at the wrecked 4,000-foot level today stalled efforts to reach two men trapped and believed killed when rock bursts collapsed part of a gold mine.

The latest burst came while rescue teams prepared to dig through to the miners. The victims, among 65 men working in the mile-deep mine when the first burst came Friday night, were Donald Yaworski, a 45-year-old widower with three children; and Edouard Deschene, 55, who is married and has no children.

Sharing of Command In War on Viet Cong

SAIGON (Reuters) — United States and South Vietnamese officials today were working on establishment of what amounts to a joint U.S.-South Viet Nam military command to direct the war against the Communist Viet Cong, reliable military sources said.

The sources said American officers will have virtual parity with the South Vietnamese in making tactical decisions, instead of merely advising, as in the past.

The new relationship between Americans and South Vietnamese will not mean that Americans give orders to South Vietnamese forces, the sources said.

"But the Vietnamese won't be able to reject American advice outright," they added. "There will be a sharing of command."

Grandmother of the party and swimming at number nine position is Mrs. Sheila Black, women's editor of The Financial Times, Britain's national business daily.

"It's the first time I have swum in the sea for years," she said.

PGE Officials Man Trains In 'Walkout'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Pacific Great Eastern trains, a passenger and a freight, left on schedule today, apparently with supervisory personnel at the controls.

Fifty employees of the British Columbia government-owned railway that runs from here to Fort St. John announced Friday night a "temporary absence from duty" to protest what they called unfair labor practices.

PGE officials could not be contacted today but reports indicated the trains today were manned by supervisory personnel when the regular crews did not show.

In a statement after a meeting Friday night, the train crews said the absence from duty will end as soon as there are assurances that the unfair practices and "inconsiderate dismissals" of employees ceased.

NOT SPELLED OUT
The men did not spell out precisely what the "unfair-labor practices" were.

Under their union contract the men have the right to book off work as being unfit for duty.

Many employees did this last year on the day of the funeral of a conductor who was killed in a derailment about 30 miles north of here. At that time there was a statement the previous night saying the men were dissatisfied with the safety conditions. Trains were run by supervisory personnel and some trains were cancelled.

The men at Friday night's meeting declined to give their names. They said in the statement:

"A temporary absence from duty by train crews is currently taking place on the PGE. This is occurring due to a general dissatisfaction with unfair labor practices used by the company's officers.

"These practices have occurred with such frequency that the only feasible method of coping with a situation rapidly getting beyond control was temporary absence from duty.

UNJUST DISMISSALS
"One result of these unfair labor practices, which includes the tolerance of unsafe conditions, has been unjust dismissal of a number of men.

"The men are willing and anxious to work and will do so as soon as assurance is given that these unfair practices and inconsiderate dismissals will cease forthwith."

Montreal Alouette trainer Guy Girardeau, overcome by smoke when he knocked on doors to arouse guests, was treated for smoke inhalation at hospital and released.

Guests streamed down to the lobby and to the street shortly after the alarm was sounded at 2:30 a.m. Some slid down bed-sheets to the street, climbed down fire ladders or formed human chains and groped their way through smoke-filled corridors.

TRAINERS OVERCOME

The third man was seen earlier this week in the Peace River district of Alberta, is believed armed and in a car with Ontario licence plates.

"If he was seen in Alberta he must be heading for your area," a Toronto metropolitan police spokesman said in a telephone interview.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HELLSIDE

Bill Mattick said farewell to Reeve Stanley Murphy on Friday night as only Bill could. The Cordova Bay farmer threw a party in the log room of his farm that will be large for a long time in the memories of everyone who attended.

MATTICK

Councillors, municipal officials, newsmen and friends of the reeve crowded in to sit around the open fireplace and listen to the honkytonk piano.

And the food... I've heard of a graining table, but that fabulous board of Bill's just moaned softly under the weight of ham, turkey, baked salmon and suckling pig.

In for a little ribbing was MP George Chatterton, long-time friend of Bill's and a former Saanich reeve. When the meal was served, a caricature of George rode in on the ham—"and what a ham he is," joked Bill.

Another caricature rode in on the baked salmon... one of Reeve Murphy wearing a mortar board with the tassle in his eyes.

"He's leaving us," said Bill. "Poor fish!"

The list of the people there would fill up this column.

And there were a few hatchets buried (political species) in the feeling of goodwill that pervaded the place.

When people sang For He's a Jolly Good Fellow, they meant it.

Reeve Murphy made a little thank-you speech for himself and wife, Barbara Mae.

"Our cup runneth over," he said.

MURPHY

One of these needle-nosing busybody surveys has established a wife is worth $67,000 as a dishwasher.

A sink manufacturer figured out that wives spend three hours a day washing dishes, and at an hourly rate a wife would make that much during her family lifetime.

I don't know if your wife spends three hours a day washing dishes, but I know mine doesn't.

And if I thought she'd make that much as a professional dishwasher, I might encourage her to take the job... I could use that $67,000.

Birthdays are usually marked by a visit from a few relations. But when you're 90 years old a special celebration is called for. This is what Mat Myhre's, of 1081 Chesterfield, got recently on his 90th birthday.

All the family turned up at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chester Westby, 4119 Delmar Avenue.

That included five sons, three daughters, 24 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

It was the first time the family had all got together for 21 years.

Mr. Myhre came to Canada from Norway, where he was born, in 1891. He farmed for three years and then moved to Outlook, Saskatchewan, and began homesteading.

He retired to Victoria in 1955.

Interesting things happen to me when I walk through town with a camera slung around my neck.

I'm immediately classed as Affluent Tourist and have to be pretty fast on my feet to avoid being herded on to certain tourist rides.

But these techniques which depend on sheep-like obedience from large crowds have now been augmented by a more refined type of sidewalk salesmanship.

Walking along Douglas Street, I was beckoned by a young man sitting in a parking lot.

With a tone of voice I haven't heard since Tijuana, this chap said: "Would you come here please sir? I have something to show you."

What he had to show me was innocent enough and a good idea at that—a packet of passes which offered cut rates for two at Victoria tourist spots.

But really, this sidewalk soliciting is not the best way to win friends among tourists.

Went out to the new airport terminal Friday night and was highly impressed by the modern, solid look. It gives more confidence to the apprehensive air traveller than the old frame terminal which has served for many years.

But then I saw one of those lovely little machines that sell life insurance and...

A Seattle newspaperman is convinced that city police and RCMP "always get their man."

Svea Gilje of the Seattle Times telephoned city police late one Sunday night recently to ask them to locate a relative who was touring in this area. There had been a death in Mr. Gilje's family and he wanted to let his relatives know.

City police, in co-operation with RCMP, found his relatives about 10 miles north of Victoria only a half-hour after Mr. Gilje phoned.

Mr. Gilje says the co-operation of the police here went "above and beyond the call of duty" and was a great help to him in the family crisis.

Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill should know better than to mention the word "flag" in Victoria.

His statement Friday that the flag issue was "settled" in the public's mind brought me a telephone call from Miss Colbie Huntley, 1195 Fort Street.

"It's absolutely wicked," she said.

"You know what the reaction was in the Times?" she said, referring to a poll conducted last May when Red Ensign supporters sent in twice as many ballots as Maple Leaf flag supporters.

"Perhaps we're a very apathetic lot, but I don't think the public should take a statement like that," she continued.

"If Mr. Pearson wants to fly his nightshirt, let him try, but put it to a public vote first."

BEAUTY AND BRAINS

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)

A girl who has everything—beauty, brains and social standing—today reigns as Miss International.

Miss Gemma Teresa Guerrero Cruz, 21, a historical writer at the National Museum, Manila, the Philippines, Friday night won the International Beauty Congress' top prize, $10,000.

But Miss Cruz, member of a wealthy Filipino family, donated all her winnings to: "The building of homes to house the children who are sleeping in the streets of Manila."

The black-haired, black-eyed beauty is 5 feet 10, weighs 135 pounds and measures 37-25-37.

POLLING LIGHT IN FRINGE AREAS

Light to very light voting was reported at noon today in the five unorganized areas voting for representatives on a semi-metro study group.

Each area is to send one man to join appointees from the Greater Victoria municipalities to discuss setting up a joint services board for the capital region.

All those over 21 and resident in the area six months or more are entitled to vote, returning officers told The Times today.

Previously Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell had said voting would be by property owners only.

Candidates and polling places are, by area:

LANGFORD: F. H. Boulter, J. L. Phelps, R. H. Willing, voting at Langford and Happy Valley elementary schools; that the figures given by B.C. Hydro are factual," Mayor Ratcliffe said this morning.

VIEW ROYAL: A. E. Beasley, R. R. McLeod, View Royal elementary school;

"We are satisfied that there has been considerable padding of overhead expenses, and that there are substantial charges against transit that are legacies from the B.C. Electric days."

"Dr. Shrum presents the picture of a very poor corporate citizen when he suggests a move that by his own figures would cut transit service 21 per cent in Victoria without consideration of the economic consequences to the municipality."

OPPOSE DELAY

Dr. Shrum said in Vancouver Friday that the transit system is losing money so fast that B.C. Hydro is opposed to any delay in getting the fare hike through.

"There's no other solution we can offer."

"If the municipalities want to subsidize the buses that's another matter—but it's up to them."

In Victoria, the Greater Victoria Citizens' Committee opposing the fare hike says it fares go up a boycott of the transit system may be organized.

"It would be for just one day," chairman Mrs. Evelyn Peaker told the Times.

Mrs. Peaker said the committee would organize the boycott as a car pool system through the local organizations which have pledged support.

Businessman Denies Strikes Are Outdated

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. B. Haughan, a director of the Vancouver Board of Trade, outdated and costly weapon in solving labor disputes.

Mr. Haughan, president of "The idea of having an im-

Mr. Haughan said the right

Vancouver Printers Reject Toronto Ad

VANCOUVER (CP)—Union printers working for Pacific Press Ltd., which prints Vancouver's two daily newspapers, have refused to handle a help-wanted advertisement from three struck Toronto newspapers.

The Province, the city's morning newspaper, reported the refusal in a newspaper story today.

The advertisement from the Toronto Daily Star, Telegram, and Globe and Mail, offers permanent jobs in their composing rooms for experienced men.

ISSUES CHANGE

The International Typographical Union (ITU) has been on strike against the three newspapers since July 9 in a dispute that originally was over control of computers used in typesetting but which now centres on other issues.

The newspapers have continued to publish, using supervisory personnel in the composing rooms.

The Province says Vancouver Local 226 of the ITU claims the advertisement came within the category of material from an unfair employer.

CONTRACT RIGHT

"The union's contract with Pacific Press gives it the right to refuse to handle any work coming from, or destined to, employers the union declares unfair," it says.

Congo 'Second Viet Nam' Red China Charges U.S.

By ADAM KELLETT-LONG

PEKING (Reuters)—Communist China's press today switched the emphasis of its current campaign against the United States from Viet Nam to the Congo after 10 days of almost exclusive concentration on the Tonkin Gulf incident.

A front-page editorial in the main Communist newspaper, The People's Daily, accused President Johnson's administration of "seeking to turn the Congo into a second Viet Nam."

It was commenting on the dispatch of American transport aircraft and military guards to Leopoldville to help the government of Prime Minister Moise Tshombe in his battle against left-wing rebels.

"This is an important military move taken by U.S. imperialism towards unleashing sanguinary war and intervention against the Congo, and a grave provocation against the Congolese and other African peoples," the editorial said.

If the U.S. intervenes directly in the war, the "imperialist Congolese people, like the South Vietnamese and the Cuban people, would surely cast another loop around its neck and cast it into the marsh," the newspaper said.

China has so far ignored Tshombe's accusation that China's embassies in Brazzaville and Burundi are aiding the Congo rebels.

But it has made no secret of the fact that it regards the Congo's situation as a textbook for an "armed revolutionary struggle" in Africa, and a current focus for anti-colonialism on that continent.

Amnesty Period Allowed Chinese Immigration Deadline Prolonged

By RUSSELL ELMAN
OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration Minister Tremblay was bombarded Friday by protests from all sides of the Commons over his department's policies and administration.
Focal point of the criticisms was his announcement that the amnesty for Chinese who are in Canada illegally will end Sept. 1 after which RCMP and immigration officers would apply the law to Chinese the same way as to other residents.
Ken More (PC—Regina City), said the date should be extended to at least September, 1965. Only after four years was the Chinese community beginning to trust a government promise of no deportations if Chinese came forward, told the truth and had their status made legal.
Six hours after he made his initial statement, Mr. Tremblay told the Commons the Sept. 1 deadline still stands but the government will be prepared to prolong the amnesty period if there are more people who want to make statements to adjust their status.

But he added he thought there would be sufficient time before Sept. 1. He estimated 3,500 Chinese have come forward under the amnesty since 1960.
Friday's proceedings were devoted to the 1964-65 spending estimates of Mr. Tremblay's department.

OUTLINES PLANS

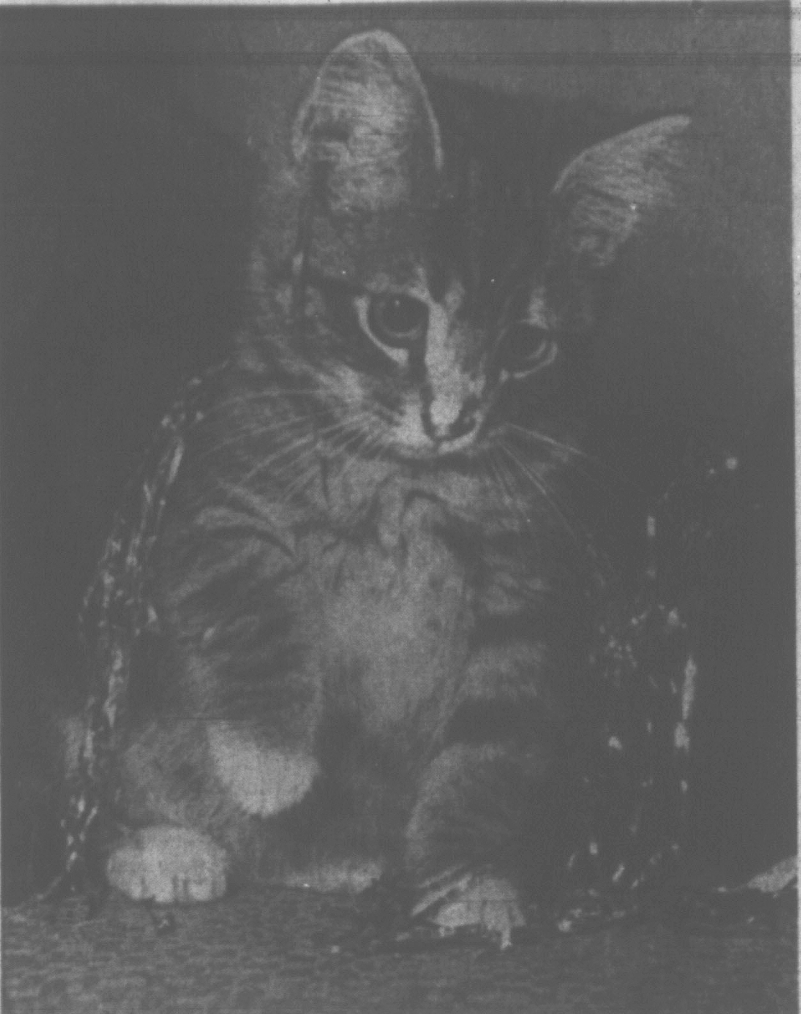

Mr. Tremblay outlined various steps aimed at attracting substantial numbers of skilled immigrants.
Provisions also were being made to speed the arrival of sponsored immigrants, especially close relatives, and to assist immigration of more refugees. There would be improvements in the department's administration and organization.
The minister said he will visit Europe and other countries next month to inspect Canadian immigration offices and discuss Canada's immigration plans with foreign governments.
Auguste Choquette (L—Lotbinière) proposed that Canadian citizens should no longer be British subjects.
The Quebec lawyer also urged that more be done to attract immigrants of French origin to maintain the demographic balance in Canada.
"The best method of stifling Quebec separatism would be in having strong and dynamic French minorities in the other provinces," he said in a later statement.
William Skoreyko (PC—Edmonton East) suggested that Mr. Tremblay hold talks with Communist countries in Europe to see whether Canadians might be allowed to establish immigration facilities there.

'It Had To Come'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sun says an estimated 3,000 illegally-landed Chinese are continuing to hide here.
The newspaper says sources in Chinatown, Canada's largest, made the estimate as Immigration Minister Tremblay announced a Sept. 1 deadline (later extended for special cases) for illegal Chinese immigrants to clarify their status.
The reaction from Chinatown's 15,000 residents was summed up by Father Peter Chow of the Vancouver Chinese Catholic Society.
"They knew in their hearts this order would have to come," he said.
Lawyer Douglas Jung, the first Chinese-Canadian to become an MP, said he expected the order to come but took issue with Mr. Tremblay's statement that the program has had limited success.
"The program has been snowballing in Vancouver—I am booked up until Oct. 13 with about one (immigrant) a day," he said.

Horse Kills Rider

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—Richard Ryan, 30, of north Sacramento, Calif., was killed Friday night when bucked from a horse and kicked at the Merced County Fair rodeo. Ryan, entered in the bareback riding event, was thrown from his horse which reared back and repeatedly kicked him in the head.

Major Leadership Crisis Hits Italian Communists

By PIERO DE GARZAROLLI
ROME (AP)—Palmiro Togliatti's stroke leaves Italian Communists in the throes of a major leadership crisis today. The search for a successor may split open the West's largest Communist party.
Togliatti, leader of the Italian Communist party for 38 years, is reported gravely ill in the Crimea, where he suffered a stroke Thursday while vacationing in the Soviet Union.
Togliatti is 71 and the question of a successor can't be dodged. Party leaders, many of whom had left Rome on holiday, returned hurriedly today.
Togliatti put the Italian Communist party behind the Soviet Union, quelling any followers of Communist China. The struggle for the succession may open the old cracks.
Luigi Longo, 64, deputy leader who flew to Togliatti's side Friday, appears for the moment as the most likely successor. He was a hero of the Italian Communist underground during the Second World War.
MAY BE OPPOSED
But Longo may meet strong opposition. He is reported to have supported Stalin, even after de-Stalinization, and was said to have favored the Chinese Communists.
Under Togliatti's persuasion, Longo came around to the party line.
Some observers think Togliatti's mantle may fall on Mario Alicata, 46, the director of the party organ, L'Unita.
Giorgio Amendola, 56, and Pietro Ingrao, 51, are other possibilities. Both are considered top theoreticians, but believe the Italian party should make its own national policy, even while supporting the Kremlin.
AFFECTED HIS SPEECH
The stroke Segni suffered occurred as he worked at his desk in the Quirinal Palace and it affected his ability to move and speak.
The Italian constitution provides that if a president dies, or is permanently incapacitated from performing his duties, both houses of Parliament meet in a joint session to elect a new president.
A former university professor, Segni was twice premier and three times foreign minister in Christian Democrat cabinets before being elected head of state in 1962—the first Sardinian to hold the position.

Cloak, Dagger Bit Retrieves Stolen Art

NEW YORK (AP)—How the Museum of Modern Art got back a $40,000 collection of watercolors and sketches, stolen Tuesday, should qualify in anybody's book as a real "who-done-it."
The collection, done by Jules Pascin, was recovered unharmed Friday from a bus terminal locker.
Bruce Aitken, 54, the man whom police said led them to the locker, was charged with grand larceny.
Friday morning, William S. Lieberman, the museum's curator of drawings and prints, received a phone call from a man who said he would return the collection for $10,000 in old bills. The curator agreed to pay.
The caller said to send a museum representative wearing a red carnation to 130th Street and 8th Avenue and wait by two telephone booths. Detective Roy Meinsen showed up, carnation and all.
One of the phones rang. Meinsen, answering it, was told to go to a public phone booth in an office building on Foley Square. At Foley Square, Meinsen got another call, directing him to the U.S. courthouse nearby.
At the courthouse, Meinsen and two other detectives closed in on a man nervously pacing near the telephones. It was Aitken.

PASSENGERS STRANDED

Cruise Ship Sails Light

NEW YORK (AP)—The cruise ship Riviera Prima is sailing the high seas today—but without her passengers, who were stranded in Manhattan by her abrupt departure Friday seven hours early.
In her wake, the Riviera Prima also left a tangled financial situation.
The unscheduled sailing brought to more than 1,000 the number of would-be travellers stranded by the Caribbean Cruise Line's difficulties. Two other cruises on a different ship were also cancelled on short notice.
Dr. Luigi Maras, U.S. agent of the Riviera's owners, Commerciale Marittima Petrolio di Palermo, Italy, said the Cruise Line was several hundred thousand dollars behind in payments for previous cruises.
Jack Sloane, the line's director of sales, blamed the difficulties on the withdrawal from service of the Yarmouth Castle whose tours were cancelled.
He said that action by the ship's owner forced the company to "seek the protection of the courts" in its financial dealings.
He said the line was "taking every possible step to secure refunds and to protect the rights of all passengers, creditors and travel agents."
The ship's agents declined to disclose the Riviera Prima's destination. The coast guard said it was Bermuda. It was also reported she might be on her way back to Italy.

A New Front Door

THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORT has given Victoria its long-awaited new front door and has fashioned the installation in keeping with the attractiveness and dignity of this capital city.

The vastly improved facilities for air visitors and local residents alike are complemented by the appearance of this excellent building, complete with a controversial mural.

For far too many years Victoria was forced to put up with a structure as appealing as a chickenhouse — along with continuing promises of something better to come.

Now the admirably designed terminal has become a reality, has been suitably dedicated by officials and has placed this community among those leading Canadian air-minded centres with attractive quarters to house amenities essential to a modern airport.

With vastly improved appearance and comfort the terminal becomes one more asset to create a favorable first impression on those who come to Victoria by air.

As both Transport Minister Pickersgill and Mayor Wilson suggested to the audience at the terminal ceremonies last night, the number of these travellers will undoubtedly increase substantially over the years. Mayor Wilson pointed to a 28 per cent increase in air traffic through the Victoria terminal in the past year, with a 40 per cent increase in passengers from Seattle. These are significant figures, and as Mayor Wilson said, "the market to the south is hardly scratched yet."

Mr. Pickersgill predicted that the terminal building would be outgrown long before it was outworn, and all who had gathered for the opening appeared to agree.

It could well be that airports and mouse traps have something in common: build a better one and the world will beat a path to your door.

Questions in the Gulf

A SWEDISH NEWSPAPER HAS raised the question of provocation in the recent naval actions in the Gulf of Tonkin. It appears, as U.S. Senator Wayne Morse has also publicly noted, that the North Vietnamese torpedo boat attack on the patrolling United States destroyers came simultaneously with an alleged South Vietnamese shelling of two Northern off-shore islands in the Gulf.

The American contention is that the Hanoi government knew that the presence of the destroyers had nothing to do with the action of Saigon's small naval craft which were attacking the islands, and that the destroyers were carrying out patrols which had long been routine. This might have been less clear to the commanders of the North Viet Nam torpedo boats, however, and their initial attack on the destroyers would thus appear in a slightly less incredible light.

It is quite possible, too, that the South government's action against the islands was without United States sanction or even knowledge. But if the destroyers were providing a screen for the attack against the island they would naturally be fair game for any defenders. The point has never been explained and the whole island incident, as the Swedish newspaper notes, has received surprisingly little publicity.

This version of the Gulf of Tonkin events does nothing to explain the second Northern attack on the U.S. destroyers, even though the Communist governments do not accept that the waters of the Gulf are in the category of "high seas." They claim the Tonkin waters as a private preserve.

Two aspects of the situation whet the curiosity of readers: why the Hanoi government has not used the island attack, if true, as a basis for high-pressure publicity and propaganda; and why Washington has not been out in front with a full explanation so as to forestall possible Communist exploitation.

Another Step

THE ACTION OF THE FOUR major hospitals in the Greater Victoria area and the Resthaven Institution in forming a joint council is one more step toward the obviously expedient integration of all public services in the district.

The council will act in much the same manner as the proposed joint services board for other public needs which has been proposed by Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell. The five hospitals will thus be able to co-ordinate their work in the public interest and demonstrate further the benefits of a formal organization in assisting the traditional co-operation between the institutions.

A Chance to Learn a Job

NO DATE HAS BEEN SET FOR a start on construction of the $2,000,000 vocational school for Victoria, to be financed 75 per cent by the federal government and 25 per cent by the province.

The fact that Premier Bennett mentioned it the other day as part of the government's plans for training and retraining people for new jobs has nevertheless led to the assumption that work may begin within the next two years on a site still to be fixed definitely.

This would follow other vocational centres now in operation and help to round out facilities for special training of people who have left school but need particular skills to hold jobs. Presumably students would be about 20 years old or more.

Courses would depend largely on the needs of local employers. A pilot project of relatively modest proportions already in operation here is aimed at training practical nurses and in providing business fundamentals. The program would, of course, be expanded with construction of the major unit—a regional school for the lower Island.

What subjects would be taught will be determined following a survey now in progress.

The need for such an institution has been underscored by the premier in his recent remarks. It may be necessary, most probably will be necessary, to train future workers more than once in a working lifetime as certain occupations become obsolete and new ones develop under the constant pressure of advancing technology and science.

This will do little to influence the course of general education at the elementary and secondary levels. Change is occurring there now and will continue. But conventional schools will be distinct from the training centres which, in effect, will offer many people a second chance to acquire skills for particular jobs — jobs which may not even exist now, or existing jobs for which potential workers need special training.

They Remember Macmillan Too

IN THE LAST FEW DAYS before it rose, Parliament at Westminster focused its attention on farewells to Sir Winston Churchill.

The world of free men has noted the occasion and joined in tributes to the great Englishman. Some discerning newspapers have not allowed the occasion to pass, however, without noting the end of another era — that of Mr. Harold Macmillan.

Sir Douglas Home leads the present Conservative government towards its final days, but the government in its more spectacular vigor was the government of Macmillan—a government that attained unique distinction, that was rocked by scandal, disappointed by the abrupt closing of the European club's door by General de Gaulle, but still a government which accomplished a great deal.

Mr. Macmillan, "Mac", "Super-

mac" or "Mac the Knife" as he has been variously called, was forced by ill-health to leave office, and not without a loud chorus of criticism. But he did not leave until he had largely repaired the rifts in the Anglo-Saxon and western alliance caused by Suez. He did not leave until he had cultivated the seeds of closer understanding and the beginnings of softer relations with Russia. And it was during his term in office that his government launched its quiet, but substantially effective campaign against anti-Americanism. While he was leader there also occurred an upsurge in the British economy.

In the adieu to the remembered brilliance of Sir Winston Churchill, the recollection of Macmillan leadership was obscured. Yet it is the government he led with personal dignity and dedicated purpose that now trends its way into the record—a time, surely, to recall a career of high service.

Nature Rambles

By FREEMAN KING

OUT along the Sooke Road there are many things of interest. Along the Dewdney Flats, where the old market garden used to be, the grasses and sedges are taking over. This has changed the outlook, and as the different plants become established, this in turn brings in new types of birds to feed on the seeds.

Along the road the towering bluffs of the mountain seem to shut in little McKenzie Creek as it wanders beside the road.

Near the road, where the damp spots are, you can see the Cattails with their dark brown heads standing out above the slender green leaves.

As one moves along there are many little pastures that show bright and green. You will see a number of stumps that were logged off many years ago with the old "spring board" and cross-cut saws. They are standing now like sentinels in their whitish-grey uniforms, relics of a day when big trees were so plentiful that no thought was given to the loss of wood below the "spring board" cut.

Around the bend as you approach Sassenos there is a view of the harbor with its quiet, shimmering waters, and the rolling hills to the southeast.

In the water are many log booms that seem to be the pattern for a "patch-work quilt." Beyond the gap at the entrance to the bay the Olympic Mountains with their snowcaps form a wonderful backdrop.

FROM WASHINGTON

The Goldwater Attempt to Moderate His Public Image

JUDGING by what he has been saying since San Francisco, Sen. Barry Goldwater has realized that he must tidy up and moderate his public image.

At the convention he rode roughshod over the moderates, giving them no quarter, and he frightened the country, as well as the rest of the world, with his extremism. The experience shocked the Republican Party, and, since San Francisco, Senator Goldwater has had to try to put the pieces together by rewriting his words, by reinterpreting his meaning, by pleading that he is misunderstood and by cooing like a dove.

Thus, the warhawk who has wanted to break relations with the Soviet Union has been redecorated as a loyal disciple of the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy—without mentioning the invitation to Chairman Khrushchev to tour the United States and President Eisenhower's acceptance of an invitation from Khrushchev to go himself to Moscow. And the happy-go-lucky wisecracker about extremism has now been diluted into "whole-hearted devotion to liberty" and moderation has been downgraded into "half-hearted devotion to justice."

One of the great virtues of the American political system is that as an election approaches there is a strong pull on the candidates to move away from the ex-

From the Mediterranean, Victoria student Vicky Husband writes: "In any Greek port it is easy to find a group of old seamen, each a character in himself and always willing to regale his audience with another story. The Greek seaman's moustache is a distinctive feature and tends to epitomize the personality of the wearer."

By WALTER LIPPMANN

adequate." But the real question is, how do we determine whether or not they are fully adequate? Senator Goldwater sponsors a billion-dollar Arizona water and power project and has therefore determined that Arizona's state and local governments are not fully adequate and that national action is necessary. Presumably he is right about Arizona. But how does he know what he thinks he knows about the Tennessee Valley?

I am omitting what he said about national defence because there he raised issues of fact that he must debate with the Pentagon. Let us look now at how he has started to campaign about the war in Viet Nam.

The point here was that while he supports the President's action in the Gulf of Tonkin, it was "a tactical reaction and not a winning strategy." This is quite true. But what is the winning strategy that President Johnson has failed to apply? The senator did not say, hoping no doubt that his audience would think he had the answer because he had charged the President with not having the answer.

This is an old dodge which has often worked well. For you can fool a good many people a good deal of the time, and if you cannot fool them you can always say that the press has misrepresented you.

But this kind of campaigning can be dealt with by continual exposure of the device, which is as old as the art of rhetoric. It is to ask questions and then to beg them.

Senator Goldwater endorsed this platform. But so does everyone else that we ever heard of. For these are truths which are part of the underlying consensus of American life.

How then is Senator Goldwater to give us a choice and not an echo? By failing to acknowledge that the real problem is that every one of these principles is in fact a question, and a question to which there is no final and self-evident answer.

For example, we must "reserve national action for residual participation where state and local governments are not fully

APPREHENSION AND CONFUSION

Follies of the Last Election and Fears of the Next

SLOWLY, oh so slowly, like a man emerging from a long hibernation, we begin to work through the follies of the last Canadian election.

Most likely we shall not have repealed half of them before the polls open again. But at least we have learned in recent weeks to recognize, for the nonsense it always was, a certain dazzling revelation granted exclusively to the New Democratic Party.

Was it only eighteen months or lives ago that Mr. T. C. Douglas told us that a minority government would be a good thing? Indeed, if Mr. Douglas and his little band of sea-green incorruptibles could hold a balance of power between the Liberal and Conservative minorities then the millennium, or something close to it, might soon appear.

Today we hear no more of this thunder on the left of politics. We hear only a nervous whisper and some hollow stage laughter from the part-time pundit, Mr. Fisher. We have learned the hard way, that a Parliament of minorities cannot function if the leader of its second largest group decides otherwise. And clearly Mr. Diefenbaker has decided otherwise.

Ironically enough, the very reforms most desired by Mr. Douglas are paralyzed with other business in the kind of Parliament that he advocated so eloquently in 1963. On the great project of contributory pensions, for example, and on medical insurance, the next instalment of his welfare state, there is no progress.

Whatever the merits of these and auxiliary reforms may be, progress is impossible so long as the official opposition uses Parliament not as a legislative process but as the instrument of a cold war, a mere pre-election device, while Mr. Douglas gibbers helplessly from the sidelines.

Even his sensible formula for breaking the flag stalemate is indignantly rejected by the Conservatives as they, or some of them, pant for office. The Parliament of minorities, like the constitution in Carleton Place, is the French Revolution, simply won't march.

Still more ironic, such a Parliament, as advocated by Mr. Douglas, is bound to produce sooner or later the election which he is now desperately trying to avoid, lest his own minority be whittled down to the splinter of a splinter. The only question is when Parliament will burst from its present strait-jacket, when Gulliver will break the net of the pygmies.

No doubt it would have been broken before now if either of the national parties had been ready for an election. Neither is ready, nor is the nation.

Apart from the accidental complication of the Queen's Canadian visit in October, which makes an election before then impossible or, at any rate, highly embarrassing to the Crown, no party feels confident of winning a majority. No one wants an early election, except Mr. Diefenbaker and he sees it mainly as a chance to drive his divided followers together in the face of the enemy.

Those Canadians who look beyond the ballot boxes and are more interested in the nation than in the fortunes of individual politicians, must recoil with horror from the immediate electoral prospects. For plainly Mr. Diefenbaker's grand design is to divide the nation on racial lines by the emotional catalyst of the flag issue, make Conservatism the English-speaking party and, if possible, hive Liberalism in Quebec.

According to Mr. Peter Newman, in his biography of Mr. Diefenbaker, it was Mr. Churchill, of Winnipeg, who first made the exciting discovery that an election could be won without Quebec. Mathematically speaking, the election of 1958 was so won. Mr. Diefenbaker could have governed then without Quebec. He could have governed, that is to say, in theory but not in fact.

Supposing that Quebec was expendable, Mr. Churchill perhaps did not quite equal the genius of his great British namesake. Without strong support from Quebec no government can ever truly govern this two-sided nation and to isolate Quebec in sullen opposition to an English-speaking bloc would be, under present conditions, the ultimate act of madness. Such a naked racial division would suit nobody but the Quebec separatists and them perfectly.

This is unthinkable and probably impossible anyway but the not much less alarming prospect mentioned by Mr. Blair Fraser in Maclean's Magazine cannot be disregarded. It is that a victorious Liberal party may be dominated by its Quebec wing after the next election while the Conservative party, though defeated, may hold a majority of English-speaking seats.

Thus to polarize the races, to split politics by blood and prejudice instead of policies, would be to undo the original work of John A. Macdonald, as carried on by successors like Laurier, King and St.

Laurent. There is the highest irony of all—since Mr. Diefenbaker considers himself the current incarnation of Macdonald's ideals and, moreover, has modeled his political methods on King.

Yet he has lately committed the final mistake which neither of those eminent predecessors would consider for a single moment. He has quarreled with French Canada, and quite deliberately, on the issue of the flag.

Why, the latest statements from his chief Quebec lieutenant, Mr. Balcer, sound like the threats of his worst enemy, and possibly they are. Mr. Balcer sees how things are going, and is terrified. So does Mr. Fulton, to judge by his recent speeches. So must any responsible Conservative who is not afflicted by Mr. Diefenbaker's ambition and his appetite for revenge.

Until he closes his breach with French Canada his party will not be prepared, in the vital sense, for an election, even if it could be sure of a majority elsewhere. Until it can put its program in better order and decide what it really intends to do—or rather what the nation's means will allow it to do—the government cannot be prepared for an election either. Until it decides to place full trust in one party or another, repair the mistakes of 1963 and elect a workable Parliament, the nation assuredly is not prepared.

After this summer's grim comedy at Ottawa all parties, all leaders and all voters need a spell of quiet reconsideration, a chance to collect their scattered thoughts and put the impractical promises of the last election in proportion before another is called. But if Mr. Diefenbaker continues his war of nerves much longer we may not have that chance.

THROUGH TUNNELS TO ITALY

Verona, Home of Two Gentlemen and Good Wine

TO CROSS from Switzerland to Italy we could have gone over the Alps, Hannibal-fashion, but our elephant was tired so we put ourselves and the car on the train at Kandersteg and took the mole's way through the Lotschberg tunnel into the Rhone Valley to Brig, where we changed trains and travelled again—the Simplon this time—into Italy.

This route was cheap ($10 for car and four occupants for a two-hour trip that saved us a day's driving), educative (the Italian honeymoon couple in the Alfa-Romeo in front of us kept nudging on the interior light inadvertently as we puffed through the Simplon), and pleasant: on the Italian side at Iselle di Trasquera the air was warm and spring-like in spite of the altitude.

There is no very direct route from Domodossola towards Venice, and because of the mountains and the brief, the Swiss Italian frontier meanders back and forth like a junior executive returning from the office party. It was not so surprising, then, that an hour after leaving Switzerland we entered it once more on the Centovalli road which connects Domodossola with Locarno.

This is a beautiful road: narrow, winding and relatively unfrequented in early spring, with great drifts of primroses and violets in the woods that climb the steep slopes on either hand, it gives the traveller a glimpse of what all trans-alpine roads must have looked like to the Grand Tourist of 150 years ago. Except for the paving and occasional widening of the road I doubt if this region has changed much since Byron's time.

Ticino, the Italian-speaking canton of Switzerland, is the Helvetic answer to British Columbia, and Lugano is its Victoria. There may even be hardy souls who would dare to suggest that Lugano is more beautiful than our own city, but since I cannot abide controversy I will avoid making any comparison. I do believe, however, that anyone who is interested in seeing how best to combine 20th-century amenities with timeless scenic beauty would do well to visit Lugano.

Pausing only to note, as we paid the bill for a cheap and clean night's lodging at a Lugano pension, a letter addressed to someone at University School, Victoria, B.C., lying on the manager's table, we took the road for Como and the Italian frontier once more.

On the Italian side the houses are less well-cared for, the roads not quite so smooth: it is not surprising that those who like the good things about the Italian attitude to life without being struck dumb with admiration for Italian plumbing or executive efficiency should choose to live among the Ticinesi, who are "improved" Italians, much as the Nova Scotians are "improved" Scots (they tell me).

So many foreigners have come flooding in to live on the shores of Lugano and Maggiore that legislation has had to be introduced to curb the sale of land to them, before none is left to the natives.

Between Bergamo and Brescia we got on to the Autostrada della Serenissima, a highway that conducts you smoothly and swiftly past the foothills of the Bergamo century amenities with timeless scenic beauty would do well to visit Lugano.

to Verona, an ancient city equally famous for its architecture and its connection with Shakespeare and Dante, to say nothing (which I cannot bring myself to do) of its celebrity as the exporting centre for the wines of the region: the red Valpolicella and Bardolino, and the white Soave.

These are not "fine" wines for the more precious oenophiles to make a song and dance about but they deserve to be better known than the usually inferior lanky liquids from Tuscany sold under the label of Chianti: they are easily come by in Switzerland (where a 2-litre bottle of Valpolicella sells for $1.50) and England, which is rapidly becoming a wine-drinking country once more after a long lapse occasioned by the fiscal excesses of chancellors who were either well able to afford any price for wine, or else were unfortunates, a species not to be trusted with matters seriously affecting the well-being of humanity.

In Venice, when you order a carafe of "ordinary" to go with your pasta they will probably fill it from the Valpolicella barrel. Buon appetito, you lucky old Canadians, you...

Victoria Conductors' Course a 'First'

The Chamber of Commerce tried; publicity and visitors' bureaus tried; various dedicated mayors, ordinary citizens and late journalists made individual efforts; but no one has completely succeeded in convincing the rest of Canada that there is a major Canadian city west of Vancouver.

"Halifax to Vancouver!" That's the umbrella phrase magazine writers and CBC commentators use so handily. And we've been stuck with it. Up to now.

But this summer, several momentous events have occurred here; events calculated to focus serious and widespread attention on Victoria and to enhance its image as not only the most western, the most beautiful, but one of the most cultured cities in Canada.

No need to say more concerning most of them. They have already been well canvassed in the press and a main topic of conversation the length and breadth of the town.

But what to my mind is the most significant because it will be the most sustained and has the greatest growth potential has become operative within the last two weeks with a minimum of fanfare.

Ideal Location

The Victoria School of Music was for a long time simply a daydream, a bit of wishful thinking indulged in and conversed about by Jack Barraclough and Hans Gruber.

Then a few months ago it became an actual project when Otto-Werner Mueller took up the banner with Mr. Barraclough and together they found, as Tom Patterson did in Stratford, a group of far-sighted citizens who believed in the idea sufficiently to back it with time and money.

Today the School of Music is a concrete fact, represented by a stout brick building provided as a permanent home by one of these same citizens. It is ideally located opposite the McPherson Playhouse on Centennial Square and although it does not officially open until Sept. 15, it is already "alive."

Early this week I dropped in to have a look around. Bright, freshly-decorated surroundings made an inviting setting for quiet, businesslike activity in the school's office-reception centre and in the adjoining office of the Symphony Society.

Upstairs, in one of the larger of several studios, there was more fresh decor and more activity of a somewhat different kind.

I slipped unobtrusively into the studio—by invitation—meaning to stay for 10 or 15 minutes; but after the first five minutes only a fire alarm could have bugged me and I remained rooted on the sidelines until the end of the session.

The atmosphere here was businesslike too, but the business was music, and it was carried on at peak intensity.

Ringed the room were nine conductors and potential conductors, three from Montreal, the rest local.

Nine Students

Under the alert eye of the music school's director and Victoria Symphony conductor, Otto-Werner Mueller, they were studying the art of the conductor in the first class of its kind ever held in Canada.

Music under study at the particular moment was Brahms' Variations on a Theme by Handel. But Mr. Mueller requires his students to study three works simultaneously and that all scores shall be memorized.

As I listened and watched new vistas of understanding began to open up. I thought briefly of the people I have heard wondering what a conductor really did on the podium besides beat time.

The question would more properly be, what does he not do?

His entire body is involved, not just hands and eyes, besides the full power of his intellect and a phenomenal amount of concentration.

The nine students, several of whom have long conducted professionally, heard the music played on the piano by Mr. Mueller, and then conducted it in silence, each face a study in concentration as mentally they heard and visualized the score.

Then as the hour wore on, deeper and more profound aspects of the subject were explored by Mr. Mueller.

Questions of balance: relationships of various phrases in various orchestral voices; technical problems of individual instruments and means of coping with them; the approach and musical modifications necessary when faced with an ensemble of lesser ability than one is accustomed to.

Of first importance, Mr. Mueller stressed, is a clear and sound technique with complete independence of the right and left hands.

Development of personality comes second to the establishment of technique, he tells his students, and warns them: "I don't want to see you using your bodies now. Later, when you are on your own, do as you please, develop your individual styles."

Mr. Mueller lays great emphasis on the importance of the conductor's eye-contact with his musicians, which is one reason for his insistence on memorization of the score.

And how clearly he demonstrated for his class the importance of properly scaled and clear gestures to shape and build, to highlight and subdue, in developing a musical interpretation.

"Never," he emphasizes, "never go before an orchestra or any ensemble, without being thoroughly prepared; without having every aspect of the works to be performed firmly in your minds."

Dessaint, Michel Perrault and Claude Poirier, all of whom have come from Montreal to study here.

piano and his range is wide—jazz nightclubs, orchestral pianist, soloist, chamber musician, accompanist—in fact everything all the way from square dances to Jewish weddings.

He had studied conducting for nearly two years with Mr. Mueller in Montreal and is now in Victoria on scholarships provided by Canada Council and the Quebec Ministry of Education.

It is clear then from all this, that something more than echoes of the Victoria School of Music's first activity will reach clear across Canada and bring to the school and to the city, a special kind of prestige whose far-reaching effects it would be difficult to over-estimate.

City musicians taking the six-week concentrated course include Victoria Symphony French hornist Charles Moore, Christ Church Cathedral organist and choirmaster Richard Proudman, Victoria Choral Society conductor Derek MacDermot and University student Timothy Vernon, who is also director of the choir at the church of St. George the Martyr.

Symphony horn player Charles Moore takes to the baton under watchful eye of director Mueller.

When the session broke up for the day, I met the trio of musicians from French Canada. First thing that impressed me was that here—after all the talk and footwork—was practical biculturalism (or in fact triculturalism) quietly and consciously at work.

The three—Claude Poirier, Raymond Dessaint and Michel Perrault—are young, ranging in age from possibly 25 or 26 to 38 or 40, but they are all professional musicians of considerable standing.

They are gifted, dedicated and, to a man, charming. (And I hope they will forgive me for saying so.)

Michel Perrault is the most animated and trest, tres eloquent, as much so in English as in French, with only an occasional shrug or gesture to punctuate the flow.

He is pre-eminently a composer but has conducted for 20 years in Montreal, urged onto the podium by the need to conduct his own works. Aside from which he has found it intensely interesting as an occupation in itself.

He has also earned his living as a percussionist with the Montreal and CBC Symphonies and was assistant conductor to Otto Mueller in the CBC television production of the opera, Carmen.

January Guest

At present he is composing a three-act ballet for Les Grands Ballets Canadiens which may be the first original three-act ballet written in North America and is certainly the first in Canada.

In January, Mr. Perrault will be guest of the Victoria Symphony when he will conduct some of his own compositions. Raymond Dessaint, the youngest of the trio, has a look of quiet humor and an habitual air of concentration on some deep thought. He is first violinist with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra and has done a considerable amount of solo work and chamber ensemble playing, but he is content to let others tell about it.

It is now his wish to add conducting to his accomplishments and according to Mr. Mueller, he has outstanding ability in that direction.

Victorians who attend the Butchart Gardens concert Sunday, will have a chance to hear Mr. Dessaint who will take the position of leader of the second violin section.

He will be one of the three soloists, with Arthur Polson and

Concert Sunday

Sunday's Butchart Gardens symphony concert, which is the last of this summer's series in that setting, may well turn out to be also the most delightful of the four.

Lyrical Franz Schubert appears twice on the program selected by conductor, Otto-Werner Mueller. The well-known Marche Militaire in D major, and excerpts—including the ballet music—from Rosamunde, are the Schubert numbers.

First desk cellist Hans Siegrist is to be soloist in a delightfully gay and melodic Concert Sonata by Sammartini. Written by the late 18th century composer for solo cello and harpsichord, it has been arranged for string orchestra and oboe by Mr. Mueller.

Mr. Siegrist will also play Gavotte No. 2 by David Popper and will be featured with violinists Arthur Polson and Raymond Dessaint in the Handel Concerto Grosso.

The program is to end with Strauss' Roses From the South as a salute to the Gardens.

ACCORDING TO FELDBRILL

We Must Go to Bat For Our Composers

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian orchestras have a duty to play the work of Canadian composers, says Winnipeg conductor Victor Feldbrill. If they don't no one else will.

"We must be the guinea pigs. No one else will go to bat for us. We know the music of Sweden and Germany and other countries. Now we've got to find the best in our own country."

Feldbrill, formerly assistant conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, is conductor of the Winnipeg Symphony and was here in his role as co-conductor of the National Youth Orchestra.

"There is a shocking lack of encouragement for Canadian music in the Toronto Symphony Orchestra," he says. "It isn't right to say there isn't enough good Canadian music."

"People who take the trouble of coming to a symphony concert won't feel insulted if they are treated as an orchestra of human beings and brought in on the experiment of discovery."

"If a work has elements of greatness it will be immediately picked up by performer and listener. . . . If you don't like it, hiss. Don't applaud if you don't feel like it. But the

VICTOR FELDBRILL
... you may not like it

Canadian composer must have the opportunity to be heard."

Feldbrill says he doesn't suggest an orchestra should give a complete program of contemporary music. The challenge would be too much. He adds that the Winnipeg orchestra plays one Canadian work on each of its concerts.

"I don't want to die like a gentleman," says American-born William Holden to a British army officer; "I want to live like a human being!"

This could be the keynote to a screen classic in which the very appealing rebellion of an American civilian is pitted against the stern, uncompromising discipline of a dedicated soldier of the old school.

It is this soul-searing conflict of ideas—the belief in the right to live and the ideal of patriotic self-sacrifice—which make the film great.

The measure of its greatness is that, after nearly seven years in cold storage, it is now being revived all over the Western world.

By AUDREY JOHNSON

A fine display of youthful talent was embodied in the concert Friday night at the Empress Hotel, which wound up six weeks of intensive music study for the second annual session of the Victoria School of Music.

The evening program followed an afternoon concert which had featured principally the pianists with one or two string players.

Director of the school is violinist-conductor Clayton Hare of Portland, Ore., and his pianist wife, Dorothy Swetnam.

Perhaps the most impressive number on the evening program was the performance by Michael Adamson of two movements of the Bruch Violin Concerto.

This is a young violinist rich in promise. He has mastered considerable technique, plays with an authoritative style, well in tune, and notably in the Adagio movement gave evidence of controlled temperament and a sense of poetry.

Another younger violinist, Marc, Lehmann, and pianists Carol Cottrell and Colin Bonneau were among several who showed exceptional ability.

The difficult fugue movement from Beethoven's Quartet Opus 59, No. 3, was played with a fair degree of success by an ensemble consisting of Clayton Hare, first violin, Michael Adamson, second, Peter Hatch, viola, and Gillian Price, cello.

The school orchestra, augmented by several young Victoria instrumentalists, and conducted by Mr. Hare, played the Minuetto and Allegro from Mozart's Symphony No. 39 in E flat major, and the Overture to Die Fledermaus.

A good string section was over-ridden by heavy brass and the effect was rather more rough and boisterous than buoyantly animato for the Mozart.

TV CAREER GIRL, by June Dennis, Ryerson Press.

Will Sherry and Don become life-mates? Will Don hit the big-time? Why is Doris making Sherry's life miserable?

These earth-shattering problems with a daytime radio soap serial quality make anything faced by Stella Dallas and Ma Perkins pale by comparison.

Yet, these ingredients are sprinkled heavily throughout the plot of TV Career Girl which follows the destinies of a young woman from the transition of a small town radio station into the television medium.

Behind the heart-rending situations, June Dennis' second novel smacks of knowledge and authenticity of the broadcasting industry with continual references to the BBC, Canadian content rules and other modern-day headaches.

It should. Miss Dennis' familiarity with the media reaches back over 18 years. Her own career in radio started with CJVL, Victoria.

She moved to Toronto where she continued to pursue her ambitions through regular on-air commentaries and reviews.

Accounts of shore leaves spent in various parts of the world are salty, bawdy and highly hilarious—certainly to a merchant seaman or a war

Rare B.C. Papers Donated to Archives

Rare newspapers printed on B.C.'s first press have been donated to the provincial archives by a New Yorker.

George F. Wallace Jr. of Kenmore, New York, has presented two files of newspapers published by his grandfather, George Wallace.

One is the first volume of the Cariboo Sentinel, published in Barkerville in 1862 on B.C.'s first press, which arrived in Victoria in 1862 and was taken to the Cariboo gold town by Mr. Wallace.

The second file is of the B.C. Tribune, published in Yale in 1866.

REAL TREASURE

"Newspapers of this early period are most difficult to acquire and now through this generous gift real treasures with direct personal links to a pioneer newspaperman have come back to B.C.," said archivist Willard Ireland. Mr. Wallace arrived in Victoria from Toronto in 1862 and founded his own newspaper—The Daily Evening Express—here in 1863.

The paper folded in 1865 and Mr. Wallace went pioneering to the Interior. The Cariboo Sentinel was the first newspaper to be published in the Interior.

Impressive Two-Man Print Show Offers Interesting Comparison

Two exhibitions demand comment this week. The first is a superb collection of prints by Winston Leathers and John K. Esler which is on show at Ego Interiors, Fort Street. These two print-makers have developed several new techniques and their work is both technically fascinating and aesthetically exciting.

Winston Leathers, by bonding fragments of cloth to his etching plates, has managed to present images of such texture that the prints almost have the quality of collage.

He has, however, controlled his medium perfectly so that the results are not merely expressions of sensual richness; symbols emerge powerfully from the very nature of his materials, as in The Lilies of the Field which with saturnine rag and tatter, points fiercely to the world which results from all our toil and spinning.

In Structural Innovation a shape that is almost that of a head, and yet is no head, stares formidably out at us, a creature made of both nature and manufacture, of cloth and steel.

Moreover, within these pictures there is much movement; look at the swirling shapes, caught in their ascending motion, in Rise to the Zenith, and notice the shifting forms in Of Movement and Repose.

Mr. Leathers is not always restless, however; the gunshape in Colt "45" has an almost sardonic calm, and the better of the two white relief prints, Serene Countenance, is as calmly assured as those early White Reliefs of Ben Nicholson to which it seems temperamentally related.

The range of feeling and form displayed by Winston Leathers is matched by a similar dexterity in the work of John K. Esler.

The majority of his prints appear to refer to landscape, and many of them depend upon patterns of tension created by numbers of long, narrow, almost tape-like forms.

Some of these, like The Great Northwest, are enormously evocative of the barren, scarred, brusque wasteland which is a part of our spiritual condition as well as our geography.

His Warrior and Monument No. XXX are even more impressive; the latter is one of a series in which columnar and medallion shapes are assembled together to make a powerful image of the commemorative monument, an image at once threatening and mocking, human and mechanical.

All the prints I have referred to so far are in only one colour; there are, however, several multi-coloured prints, and the best of these is Winston Leathers' delicate, glowing, Klee-like Earth Worshipers. This is, without qualification, a wonderful print.

We are enormously fortunate to have the work of these two impressive young artists on display in Victoria at this time.

I wish I could be as complimentary about the second exhibition I feel obliged to discuss.

The show of Florence Senior's work in the Victoria Art Gallery is, however, the worst exhibition of paintings I have ever seen hung in a public gallery on either side of the Atlantic.

The most cursory and sympathetic glance reveals bad drawing, conventional and inept composition, the amateurish handling of paint, and gross sentimentality.

If you doubt my judgement, go and look at the stance of the figures in Beginners Ballet, the smeary paintwork of Morning at Oak Bay, the bleary and perfunctory flower paintings, and the inexpressibly pretentious and ugly "Stood Up." My gorge rises at it.

Were this show not hung in the Art Gallery I do not think I would have felt obliged to mention its existence, but since it is there it's awfulness becomes a matter for public comment.

No one can appreciate the work done by the Art Gallery more than I. Its policy of continually hanging new exhibitions and of frequently changing its selection of work displayed from the permanent collection makes a weekly visit a necessity; moreover, I fully appreciate the way in which it considers it part of its duty to keep the community informed of the painters among us, whether or not they are of the highest standing.

Nevertheless, it must be realized that the hanging of a painter's work in a public gallery implies the gallery's recognition of some degree of merit in the work shown; it must also be realized that no gallery can afford to lend its name and facilities to amateurish exhibitions without damaging its reputation, alienating its supporters, and offending those serious artists upon whom it depends so often for so many courtesies.

I do not wish to be thought an enemy to amateur painters, or to suggest that they should not exhibit their work. It does them no service, however, to accept them uncritically, or exhibit them irresponsibly.

I wish I had not seen this exhibition.

BOOKS and BOOKMEN

By DONALD STAINSBY

It is surprising, the number of people who look at something in print and consider themselves entitled to comment upon it when they have not, in fact, properly read it. I have been subjected to a flock of them in the past couple of weeks since I protested the formation of what I called, and still call, a vigilante group to police our newsstands, imposing their tastes upon the reading public.

I am going to try again to straighten out a few points.

First, the moving force behind this organization, Canon Hilary Butler, seconded by Canon Brian Page, who is editor of the (Anglican) B.C. Diocesan Post, liken it to a board that functions in Alberta.

But in an article written by Canon Butler for the Post and republished in the Times last week (there has, incidentally, been no suggestion thus far that I get equal time in the Post) Canon Butler describes the Alberta board and points out it was set up by "an order in council pursuant to the provisions of the Cultural Development Act . . . as amended in 1958."

The Alberta board, therefore, as is the Ontario board I have cited, is a legal body, part of the democratic governmental system, responsible through the government and the legislature to the people of the province as a whole.

This Victoria group is a self-appointed collection of volunteers, pressuring the booksellers and newsstand dealers to comply with their private interpretation of the law.

It is a vigilante group, in no way part of the democratic governmental system, responsible to nobody but itself.

And that is the evil of it. If they wish, as they publicly state, to force the government to take action, why do they not set themselves up as a lobby and fight for the appointment of a legal, and responsible, board of review?

Action of this kind is perfectly legitimate in our system of democratic government. Action of the kind they are proposing to take is not.

They can show the government better by an organized campaign of petitions, letters and resolutions that some kind of censorship is desirable to deal with hard-core pornography than they can by the back-door, vigilante method they propose.

I would support such a lobby. Not because I believe in censorship, but precisely because I don't believe in it. I would support them because a government board would be public; it could be seen and controlled.

This volunteer, vigilante, organization could not be.

I have been told a number of times that this proposed vigilante band would not be engaged in censorship.

Such a statement is at best a terminological inexactitude, a retreat into the mists of semantics where we will all soon be lost.

Censorship has nothing to do with the kind or degree of what is censored. It has merely to do with the act of looking over whatever is, for whatever reason, in question, altering this, eliminating that, banning the other according to a set of rules—or personal whims.

I prefer publicly known rules to private and secret whims. Censorship is and cannot escape being a basic interference with the right of free information which in a democracy no private group should have the authority or the temerity to take upon itself.

Finally, I have been accused of writing tongue in cheek. I consider that an insulting remark.

Every word I have so far written on this subject—and shall be writing, from the look of things, far into the future—has been written in all seriousness.

And so are these:

Gentlemen, I beg of you, do not do this thing you propose in the manner you propose this far to do it.

(And this time, please, read carefully what I have written.)

Sturdy Exuberant Novel Uvic Professor's Second

BRIGHT DAY, DARK RUNNER, by George Cuomo; Doubleday; New York and Toronto; $5.95.

Reviewed by Arthur Mayne

Readers of this fat novel, and I hope their name is legion, will find Uvic assistant professor George Cuomo's credentials for writing a book where J. L. LeBlanche bids us seek his: overleaf.

LeBlanche is Mr. Cuomo's lead character—I hesitate to call him a hero—and you can overleaf with him through 421 pages in the assurance that few dull passages will intrude.

What Mr. Cuomo has done is given us, between the same covers, comedy and tragedy. Here and there he has even attempted the tricky and dangerous feat of allowing his ingredients to overlap.

That he has pulled it off with close to 100 per cent success establishes him as a novelist of stature.

LeBlanche, to give you the bones of an involved story, is a red-haired Ulysses of a cook whose wanderings bring him, at the age of 54, to a Cape Cod summer resort called The Mariner.

From the kitchen which he rules, he extends his domain until he is kingpin of the entire menage. This he accomplishes through williness backed by a battering-ram personality.

Mellow in wisdom, though not always benign, he comes a cropper only once. Even then, he accepts a hurtful truth with the calm of a truly superior man.

"To me," he says of the girl who deluded, and eluded him, "she had always been, and would always remain, a most lovely and delightful innocent, a dear child."

The girl Sandra is but one of a large and sharply-characterized company which revolves, dizzily at times, around the master-cook.

WELCOME BACK

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Elinor Donahue, eldest daughter of the defunct "Father Knows Best" series, returns to television with a continuing role in the new situation comedy "Many Happy Returns."

GEORGE CUOMO
... novelist of stature

the dark runner that haunts his bright Cape Cod days. We learn the secrets of that grim past in due time.

There is a certain churlishness in picking even minor quarrels with a book that pleases as much as does George Cuomo's second novel (this first was slim but clever Jack Be Nimble).

Still, to my ear, the otherwise smooth job gives off two unloiled squeaks.

One is the nuisance lugging of past into present by its pointed ears at times when Mr. Cuomo's on-stage people should not be interrupted.

Another is a soufle of coincidence which not even so clever a cook as LeBlanche can prevent from falling flat as a greasy- spoon omelette.

Auctorial manipulation in the form of hints and plants fails to justify the tactic; and were this a whodunnit, Mr. Cuomo would get lumps from his audience.

These criticisms out of the way, let me assure you that Bright Day, Dark Runner, is a big, sturdy and exuberant novel, and that once into it, you will find LeBlanche the best of companions for the long haul.

Paperback Parade

By E. H. ROY

Four novels have recently been published in Penguin paperback which will be welcomed on many bookshelves. Three of these are by Evelyn Waugh: Men at Arms, Officers and Gentlemen and Unconditional Surrender.

These came out in hardback editions in 1952, 1955 and 1951 respectively, and were widely acclaimed at the time. Fans of Waugh will be delighted to get these books at less than a dollar.

The fourth novel is The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz by the Canadian author, Mordecai Richler. This was first published five years ago.

All four represent a rich collection of humorous writing—just the thing to bring with you to the summer cottage or camping trip.

Alex Comfort, The Process of Ageing. (Signet Science Library, P 2452).

The Essential Erasmus (Mentor Omega MT 571). "Selected and newly translated with Introduction and Commentary by John P. Dolan."

Henri D. Rops, Daily Life in the Time of Jesus (MQ 570). "An authentic reconstruction of Biblical Palestine and the day-to-day lives and customs of its people."

Charles Dickens, Bleak House. (Signet Classic, CT 213).

Anton P. Chekov, The Major Plays. (Signet Classic, CD 173).

Wm. Shakespeare, Much Ado About Nothing. (Signet Classic, CD 173). Edited by David L. Stevenson.

Wm. Shakespeare, Antony and Cleopatra. (Signet Classic, CD 218). Edited by Barbara Everett.

James B. Conant, The American High School Today. (Signet, P 2454).

Frazier Hunt, The Untold Story of Douglas MacArthur. (Signet, T 2522).

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE IN ATTENDANCE

Foreign Companies Will Bid

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction companies in Europe, the Orient, the United States and Canada have expressed interest in the multi-million-dollar projects planned by British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority.

The jobs are construction of the Duncan Lake dam, the first of three to be built in Canada under the International Columbia River project; construction of a water supply to feed a pulp mill during construction of another dam; access tunnels for the Peace River project powerhouse and 200 miles of powerline towers from the Peace River.

The hydro authority has declined to give estimated costs for the projects for fear of influencing the bidding. But the Duncan Lake dam has been reported in the past costing around $33,000,000.

The Kiewit-Dawson-Johnson consortium building the $73,000,000 Peace River dam is interested in the access tunnels for the power house.

At the same time the three companies in consortium, Peter Kiewit Son Company of Canada Ltd., Dawson Construction Ltd. and Al Johnson Construction Company of Canada Ltd., have taken out specifications on the Duncan dam.

It is reported that members of the construction industry feel that the three companies will not form another consortium to bid on Duncan Lake.

JOINT VENTURE

It is reported that a joint venture of laminating and wood preserving firms may bid on the towers that will carry lines over 200 miles of the 575-mile route from the Peace dam to Vancouver.

Japanese and Italian firms are reported interested in the towers as well as North American companies. Bidders will design their own towers and hydro will pick the best tower on a cost and design basis.

The water supply is for the Celgar pulp mill at Castlegar, below the Arrow dam, second of the Columbia dams. It is estimated to cost $2,000,000.

Tenders will be called Sept. 15 for the Duncan Lake dam; Aug. 27 for the powerhouse tunnels; Oct. 6 for the transmission towers.

Economic Boom Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic boom in the United States passed new milestones last month as factory production scored an 11th consecutive advance and the government reported a breakthrough in the fight against unemployment.

Industrial production for July was 5½ per cent higher than a year ago and stood at 132.7 on the Federal Reserve Board's index of factory and mine output that uses 100 for the 1957-58 period as a base.

The labor department, analyzing employment and unemployment figures for the first seven months of 1964, reported that employment during the period averaged 1,600,000 above 1963 levels. At the same time the labor force increased by an average of only 1,400,000.

"Recent improvements appear to have broken the 10-year upward trend in unemployment," the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics concluded.

Last week, the bureau had put the July jobless rate at a seasonally adjusted figure of 4.9 per cent—the first time in 4½ years the rate dropped below 5 per cent.

The average unemployment rate for the first seven months of 1964, the bureau said, was 5.3 per cent, compared with 5.7 per cent during the same period last year.

Sheep Creek Shares Bid By Guaranty

TORONTO (CP) — Guaranty Trust Co. has offered to buy 800,000 shares of Sheep Creek Mines Ltd. on behalf of an unnamed party for $1.25 a share.

The offer expires Aug. 27 or before if 800,000 shares are received, and will not be binding unless 800,000 are received.

Sheep Creek owns a base-metal property near Inverness, B.C., with a mill that produced at the rate of 382 tons daily in 1963.

The stock reached a 1964 high of $1.35 and a low of $1.05 on the Toronto Stock Exchange, and by noon Friday had climbed seven cents to $1.27 on volume of 2,700 shares.

J. R. Pyper of Kamloops, B.C., president of Sheep Creek, said the men bidding for effective control were J. P. Sheridan, president of Vauze Mines Ltd. of Quebec, and C. Duff, secretary-treasurer of Vauze.

The offer would be considered at the annual meeting in Vancouver Aug. 28 but "I don't think the shareholders will entertain this idea," said Mr. Pyper.

THE WINDOW FRAMES of the new city hall in Toronto give a honeycomb effect as Mayor Philip Givens and Metro Toronto Chairman William Allen study the building.

BUTTE LAKE PROPERTY

Western Mines Winds Up Financing for Production

VANCOUVER (CP) — An agreement is approaching on the multi-million dollar financing of production and concentrate marketing for Western Mines Ltd.

The company, with a gold-silver-copper-lead-zinc property at Butte Lake on Vancouver Island said Friday it expects to make full disclosure of its plans in the "very near future."

Negotiations are still underway and "proceeding very favorably," the company announced after the stock market closed.

It is the first indication that the company is negotiating a specific financing deal.

"As soon as financing is completed, the production program which has now been completely worked out, will be immediately instituted," a company statement said.

Harold M. Wright, company president, said in June it would cost $7,000,000 to put the property into production. Plans included a 750-ton-a-day mill.

Friday's statement said diamond drilling is continuing with excellent results.

MANAGER NAMED

Charles M. Campbell, Jr., has been appointed general manager, effective Sept. 15, it was announced.

With headquarters in Vancouver, he will co-ordinate the plans to bring the island property into production.

Gordon H. McDougall will continue as mine manager.

Mr. Campbell has been resident manager of Bralorne Pioneer Mines Ltd., as well as a director and vice-president of the company. He has also had wide experience in Quebec, Ontario and B.C.

James S. Thomson succeeds Mr. Campbell at Bralorne Pioneer. He has been appointed manager of mines and will have charge of all the company's mining activities. Until now he has been general superintendent.

Growers Wine Plans Plant At Moose Jaw

Vancouver (CP) — Growers Wine Company Ltd., plans to start a winery in Moose Jaw, Sask., it was announced Friday.

President E. C. Warner said the winery will be the first in Saskatchewan and will be part of the industrial development program announced by Saskatchewan and will be part of the industrial development program announced by Saskatchewan premier Ross Thatcher.

He said he will head a new company, to be called Growers Wine Company of Saskatchewan Ltd. Vice-president would be Brian Roberts of Victoria. Directors would be Saskatchewan businessmen.

About $100,000 would be spent this year to buy or rebuild a suitable location. Total investment could reach $500,000.

Growers recently established an Alberta subsidiary which would begin crushing grapes Oct. 1. The Saskatchewan company was part of a program to make growers a national company.

Both prairie companies would use a high percentage of B.C. grapes.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Blue Chips Hold Major Interest

By GORDON GRANT, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Investors preferred blue-chip issues on Canadian stock markets this week, ignoring the speculative mines.

There was some uncertainty early in the week with investors fearing trouble could flare in the international hot spots. By mid-week, the situation cooled and the markets advanced.

The Canadian economy continued to roll ahead with steel production and the construction industry maintaining their upward progress.

Producer mines were boosted as the price of copper increased sharply. Two African producers suspended shipments because of a rail strike.

Rising profits were a spur for industrials. Improvement was shown by CPR, Reichhold Chemical, Alcan, Canadian Superior Oil and Lake Ontario Portland Cement.

BANKS UP

In banks, Imperial Commerce and Toronto-Dominion touched highs.

In oils, Superpetrol Ordinary gained 2½ to 21 and sold as high as 23 on rumors of a takeover offer.

CPR led utilities, gaining 2½ to 4½. Quebec Natural Gas was a standout in gas distributors while in pipelines Alberta Gas and Interprovincial were well ahead.

Chrysler gained 3 to 58 in motors. Production in the industry is at a standstill for 1965 retooling.

In steels, Algoma gained 1½ to 74.

Senior mining issues were led by Falconbridge, which gained 4½ to 76½.

International Nickel gained 2½ to 85½ and Cominco 1 to 37½.

In speculative mines, Raglan, with nickel-copper property in the Quebec Ungava sagged to $1.73 from $2.87 on word it encountered low-grade ore. It closed the week with a 70-cent loss at $2.15.

Windfall dipped 16 cents to 62

cents. It collapsed from $5.60.

In Western oils, Lundia was up $1.90 to $9.25. National Petroleum, Canadian Homestead, Hudson's Bay, Husky and Medallion were all stronger.

TRAVEL to Land of Lost Continent and Alchemy

Mysteries Lurk in Magic West of France

Frenchmen are finding their country—the west side at least—a very mysterious place.

A recent book by Rene Alleau—Guide de la France Mystérieuse and a long article in a magazine called Planète describe ancient France as a land of magicians, fairies, legendary kings, stone worshippers, strange nomadic peoples, healing saints and gold-seeking alchemists. Both books have many maps and guides to help 20th-century escapades discover a new miraculous France.

The French Government Tourist Office, believing Canadian visitors will enjoy the new mystic trend, offers seven keys to magic France:

● Lost continents, cities: Most French 'mystery spots' are in the West. Why? One theory: a lost continent, Atlantis, once lay off Brittany's coast and influenced the mainland. Hence King Arthur and the Round Table are known equally in France and the other Celtic homeland, Cornwall (England).

Yes, a lovely carefree city, perched on a west-coast rock was drowned by the waves as punishment for the misdeeds of its beautiful princess, Dahut. The city of Herbadilla is said to have sunk to the bottom of lac de Grandlieu near Nantes.

● Fairies and Magicians: Merlin the magician, favorite at King Arthur's court, roamed Paimpont Forest in North Brittany, home of fairy Viviane.

To keep Merlin there she threw a magic circle around him. Merlin knew how to escape but feigned capture so as to enjoy Viviane's company.

Another fairy, Melusine, from Lusignan (Poitou) could turn herself into a snake-siren. She got a fine husband on condition she never appeared before him in reptile guise. However, her mate crept on her unaware, so Melusine turned into a winged snake and vanished into the sky.

Now there are dozens of Poitou churches and chateaux with snake emblems honoring Melusine.

● Megaliths: Strange stones exist all over, but nowhere as plentifully as in France, Carnac (South Brittany) has

1,500 weird 'menhirs' (some 18 feet tall), some with strange Oriental inscriptions, others lined evenly in long alleys.

Nearby Plouharnel has 'Dolmens'—rock gateways. Megaliths stretch on a NW-SE axis right across France to the Rhone mouth.

What are they—markers on Phoenician trade routes, religious relics? Nobody knows for sure.

● Alchemists: Medieval alchemists used secret methods to try to turn base metals into gold. To hide their techniques they used symbols and these adorn many Gothic houses and churches in West France.

The ceiling of the great hall at Dampierre sur Boutonne (Vendee) is an "alchemist's dictionary" with 93 enigmatic panels. Other cryptic buildings: Jacques Coeur Palace (Bourges), Lisieux Manor (Normandy).

Churches somehow involved in alchemy include Chartres (enigmatic mosaic at transept), Rouen and Limoges cathedrals.

Key to symbols: roaring lion or dragon biting its tail; success for the alchemist; Adam and Eve; a struggle; old man; base metal. Other favorites: salamander, monkey, trees.

● Saints: Even after Christianity miracles continued in Western France, thanks to many local saints, (sometimes nine to a family). Most spectacular saint, Rade-gonde, female dragon slayer (see her church at Poitiers).

Track down the healing saints too—St. Aurelie and St. Ouen: deafness; St. Ovide: nose afflictions; St. Lvertin: headaches; St. Appoline: toothache. The big Brittany saints have their own colorful patrons.

St. Yves, patron of lawyers—Treguier, June 19; Sainte Anne, patron of families—Auray, July 26.

● Bulls: Every Whit Monday at Moncontour (Brittany) farmers lead their bulls to the altar in an age-old religious rite. There's another 'bull pardon' at Carnac (mid-September).

Lascaux and all the Perigordian caves have wonderfully lifelike bull paintings, more than 10,000 years old. Even unmythical eastern France has strange bull carvings in the Valley of Miracles (near Nice).

● Magic Highspots: Visitors should note the following seven centres in their search for miraculous France: 1. Les Eyzies prehistoric caves (Perigord); 2. Lourdes (Grotto of Bernadette);

3. Carnac and region (Brittany); 4. Rouen; 5. Poitiers; 6. Dampierre-sur-Boutonne (Charente-Maritime); 7. Chateau Tiffauges (Vendee)—Bluebeard's castle.

Diners Now Tower High Over London

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Sometime next year tourists with a head for heights will be able to combine an expensive meal with a unique 23-minute round trip of London.

They will be taking their meal some 600 feet up in the clouds in a revolving restaurant on a tower near the heart of the city.

Diners will see a London that few human eyes have seen before—lower than any aircraft is allowed to fly yet higher than any other building in Britain. On a clear day the city and surrounding counties spread out like a panoramic relief map.

On a foggy day in London town, when the British Museum has lost its charm, disenchanted visitors will be able to head for Bloomsbury and take a 1,000-foot-a-minute elevator to the sunlight above the gloom.

The revolving restaurant and cocktail bar above it exist only because of a hedonistic afterthought to a purely functional design.

MICROWAVE PIVOT

The tower was originally commissioned by the General Post Office, which runs Britain's telephone system, as the pivot for a new microwave hookup relaying telephone and television beams out of the centre of London.

The tower had to be at least 600 feet high because microwave links operate on a line-of-sight basis and London is in a bowl formed by the Thames Valley. The tower also had to be higher than any other building in London—such as the new 380-foot Hilton Hotel or the 387-foot Vickers Building.

"Once these essential technical requirements had been satisfied we began to think of what other uses the tower could be put to," said Geoffrey Rippon, minister of public works, at a "topping out" ceremony on the tower recently.

"So we introduced the observation galleries and still later decided it would be feasible to have a revolving restaurant."

The £2.5-million tower, founded on London clay and built of reinforced concrete, is about two-thirds as high as the Eiffel Tower in Paris and about the same height as the restaurant tower built for the world's fair in Seattle.

In London, where soft clay prohibits Manhattan-style skyscrapers, the green-glassed tower punctures the skyline like a huge rocket ship or a misplaced lighthouse. It is already established as a primary landmark for airline pilots homing on London Airport.

CAFETERIA SERVICE PLANNED

'Car Ferries' to Sail Atlantic?

GLASGOW (UPI)—Swiss shipowner Meyer Halevy said today he plans to operate a car-ferry service between New York and Southampton with a 20,000-ton, drive-on, drive-off "boatel."

"We consider there is a demand for this type of ship because people in the upper middle class all have a car and like to get to their destination quickly," Halevy told a news conference.

"And the Americans like to buy European cars. Our plan could help in the export of cars by offering Americans an inexpensive way of getting their car shipped."

Halevy, 47, of Geneva, said shipyards in Britain, France and Norway had been asked to tender bids for the "boatel," which would carry 1,000 passengers and 240 cars. An order may be placed before the end of this year, he said.

The transatlantic fare would be $224 to $280 return, plus 25 to 35 per cent extra for a car, Halevy said. He added it would be a "classless" ship with a self-service cafeteria to dispense with stewards.

Halevy, managing director of Somerlin S. A. of Geneva and Israel Car Ferries Ltd. of Tel Aviv, was in Glasgow for the launching this afternoon of a new car ferry, Thenli, by Mrs. Levi Eshkol, wife of the Israeli prime minister.

FORM LINK
It will operate between England and France and link up with its sister ship, the Bili, which operates between Israel and Egypt.

Halevy said he hopes eventually motorists will be able to go from Jerusalem to San Francisco.

Negotiations are still under way to determine whether the planned transatlantic ferry should ply between Southampton and New York all year or go to South America in the winter, he said.

WEDDING PROCESSION ROUGH ON CAMERAMEN

GARY, Ind. (AP)—World heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay and Sonji M. Roy, a Gary model, were married Friday in a ceremony followed by the manhandling of photographers.

A reporter for the Gary Post-Tribune said a member of Clay's party slugged a photographer for the Gary newspaper and knocked him to the ground as the wedding party shoved its way from the office of a justice of the peace.

The reporter, Durwood Haines, who was a witness at the ceremony, said a Negro photographer also was manhandled as the party left the office of Justice of the Peace Hoyt C. Brown in this northwest Indiana steel and oil industrial area.

CONSISTENCY LACKING

One Star Ref Might Reduce Boxla Trouble

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The regular 1964 Inter-City Lacrosse League schedule can be ticked off after tonight, and now is as good a time as any to think of 1965.

Victoria Shamrocks step over to New Westminster in a sudden-death playoff for second place. Vancouver visits Nanaimo in the schedule-ending game that will mean nothing except, possibly, to serve as a farewell outing for Terry Davis.

They'll recognize Davis as the league's scoring champion after tonight and some time later the wee wizard may announce he will be leaving the Nanaimo club.

The way we hear it, Davis is tired of asking for a day-shift job so his next request may be for his transfer papers.

Sid Greenwood may or may not be transferred out of his referee-in-chief position but someone almost certainly is going to demand to know just what he accomplished in 1964.

Either Victoria or New Westminster executives may lead the interrogation because officials of both teams were extremely dissatisfied with the refereeing in the two games between the clubs this week.

The inconsistency of the whistle-blowers can be pardoned in the first week. But this is the last one, remember, and that doesn't say much for next season.

Among the four coaches in the league, there is a unanimous feeling that lacrosse is one of the most difficult of all sports to referee. Westminister's Jack Byford, for one, is quite emphatic on that score.

It is the opinion of Victoria's Don Ashbee that the standard could be improved by concentrating on quality rather than quantity.

Greenwood directed an eight-man staff. A group, I might add, which I felt at mid-season showed more "promise" than any assembled in four or five preceding years.

There was considerable variety in the manner in which Greenwood appointed his two-man staffs. There were no cut-and-dried combinations. It's a system that has its merits when you consider only the development of a staff.

Ashbee feels the great variety is one of the reasons there was inconsistency.

"The answer," Ashbee believes, "is one referee to work every game with a local linesman."

That's not a new idea because the league wanted to do just that two years ago. The plan was to offer Eddie Powers, then a colorful National Hockey League arbitrator, summer employment.

"If you get one man," Ashbee says, "it won't matter if he's good, bad or indifferent, just as long as he makes all his calls the same."

"The players would get used to his calls. When a player gets rapped, it would be his own fault then because he would know how the referee was going to call it," Ashbee added.

The one senior referee plan is plausible because games in each league city are played on different nights—Tuesday in Vancouver, Wednesday in Victoria, Thursday in New Westminster and Saturday in Nanaimo.

On the basis of what went on in the Westminister-Victoria series this week, the Greenwood system can stand a review.

ON THE REBOUND: Don't count on Jack Blonds playing any more lacrosse this season. . . . The starry Westminister ace is still recovering from a back ailment. . . . Count on Jack Blonds and/or Tom Cullen to return to Shamrocks' lineup tonight. . . . Both were due to wind up their vacations today.

... Ron Jay has been working out with the Rocks for a week but his ailing shoulder is still quite tender. . . . Jim McNeill, who finished up the season with 41 goals, picked up 25 of his 69 points in the last eight Victoria games. . . . John Hansen scored 19 points in nine games and Reg Foster finished with a flourish by scoring 11 goals in Victoria's last 10 games. . . .

There's another Farnell on the way up, and to hear Joan Farnell tell it, he's "going to be good." . . . Joan, wife of New Westminster's top scorer, says 14-year-old Tom Farnell will move out from Ontario next summer to stay with brother Paul and to play with the junior Salmonbellies. . . . New Westminster also is reported to have the strings out for Johnny Davis.

... He's Terry's brother and a centre with Oshawa Green Gables. . . . John set the Ontario Junior League on its ear this year by scoring 91 goals and 93 assists for 184 points. . . . He finished 70 points ahead of linemate Ken Thompson. . . . Gaels, defending Minto Cup champions, shape up as the team to beat again. . . . They finished their 24-game Ontario schedule with a record of 20 wins and four losses.

'OUT OF CONTROL'

Angels Suspend One-Hit Belinsky

WASHINGTON (AP)—"If they're going to suspend me without pay, fine. Let them give me my release. It was something out of my control."

So said Bo Belinsky, 27, temperamental pitcher of Los Angeles Angels of his one-punch kayo of 66-year-old sports writer Braven Dyer.

Belinsky, suspended indefinitely by the Angels, was to fly back to Los Angeles today to explain to general manager Fred Haney why he socked—or, as Belinsky explains it, the Los Angeles Times reporter.

He also said he has a date with his lawyer to see "just what right Los Angeles Angels have to suspend me without pay. I haven't even had a hearing. They haven't told me why I was suspended."

Manager Bill Rigney would say only that Belinsky was "suspended indefinitely . . . for punching sports writer Braven Dyer."

Rigney was reported to have said he didn't want Belinsky on his ball team and he wanted to get him out of town as soon as possible.

SPORTS STITCHES, SHINER

As a result of the brief battle early Friday Dyer required five stitches under his left ear. He reported it was badly swollen, and he had a black eye.

The disagreement in a hotel was about a story on Belinsky.

Both agree they got into a hot argument over the telephone that concluded when Belinsky said: "You come down here and I'll stick your . . . head under the shower."

Dyer, once a star college football player, said: "A writer can't let a player get away with a threat like that. I dressed and went down to his room."

Dyer's description on what followed:

"I knocked on the door. We started talking, and that's all I remember."

Belinsky said Dyer hung his coat in the hall and came in prepared for a fight.

Toronto Pair in Front; Munn Five Shots Back

GEORGE KNUDSON
... a hot second

HALIFAX (CP)—Alvie Thompson and George Knudson were the all-star attraction today as the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship tournament moved into its final round with the two Torontonians in a showdown struggle for the title.

The all-Toronto tussle was set up Friday when Thompson parred the 18th hole with a four to Knudson's five and earned his slender one-stroke lead at the two-thirds stage of the 54-hole tournament.

Alvie gave the Ashburn course a three-under-par-65 spanking in his second round for a 131 total, five under par for the distance. Knudson matched his own first-round 66 for 132.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, trying for his ninth CPGA title, shot a 69 and was closest to the leaders with 135.

Another stroke back, at 136, stood six hopefuls, including defending champion Al Balding and Victoria's Dick Munn. Four more were grouped at 137 and the three-man 139 bracket included Moe Norman of Toronto, who led the first round with a 65 and blew to a five-over-par 73 Friday.

Munn stuck close to the leaders for the first nine holes of Friday's round. He matched Ashburn's par of 34 but toured the back nine with a two-over 36.

In addition to Balding and Munn, others bracketed at 136 were Bill Thompson of Vancouver, Jerry Magee of Toronto, Val Bissegger of Val Morin, Que., and Bill Fox of London.

Thompson's game was sound all the way. He said his key putts, both for pars, came at the third and 18th holes. He was off the green with his tee shot at the third third but chipped up and sank a nine-footer. He got out of a trap at the 18th and ran down a 20-footer.

Roughies Blasted By Lion 'Hunters'

Great Defence Boosts B.C. Into Top Spot

REGINA — The mighty "head hunters" of B.C. Lions have left Saskatchewan Roughriders battered and limping.

Styled the head hunters by defensive coach Jim Champion, the brilliant defensive unit of the Lions has yielded just one touchdown in three games and boosted the Lions to the top of the Western Football Conference ladder.

They were at their best here Friday night before a record Taylor Field crowd of 17,787 fans, yielding only a safety touch as the Lions chalked up a 17-2 victory by beating the Roughies at their own game-tough defensive football.

Six Saskatchewan players were taken off the field with injuries as the Roughies went down to their first defeat and skidded into second place.

"They beat us physically," Roughriders head coach Bob Shaw said after the game.

Roughriders helped off the field were middle guard Ron Atchison, halfbacks Gene Wlasluk, Larry Dumelle and Ed Buchanan, centre Ted Urness and end and punting specialist Martin Fahl.

Fahl was taken off on a stretcher with a groin injury and taken to hospital for observation. The other players suffered a variety of lesser injuries.

Safety Touch

Roughies picked up two points in the first quarter on a safety touch but Lions led 10-2 after the first half and 16-2 after three quarters.

Fullback Bob Swift and halfback Ron Morris scored touchdowns for B.C. and Peter Kempf added one convert and a field goal. Neal Beaumont kicked a single.

Roughriders quarterback Ron Lancaster completed seven of 23 pass attempts.

Riders opened scoring when Neal Beaumont dropped a bad snap from centre in his own end zone as he prepared to punt. Beaumont dropped on the ball and Dumelle dropped on Beaumont.

Swift Scores TD

Swift plunged over for a touchdown for the Lions on the first play of the second quarter. Kempf converted and shortly afterward added a field goal from the 25. The field goal was set up when one of Fahl's punts went short.

In the second half, Morris plunged over from the three-yard line for a Lions touchdown. Fahl was injured in the next Roughrider drive after a brilliant catch of a 40-yard Lancaster pass.

A fumble by Buchanan, recovered by B.C. fullback Don Vico, set up Beaumont's last-quarter single.

POLITICIANS URGE

A Good Look At Baseball ...

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is casting a wary eye on the $11,200,000 deal that gives the Columbia Broadcasting System majority ownership of New York Yankees.

Congressional reaction to the transaction — already approved by the American League — included demands that professional baseball be subjected to anti-trust laws.

Emanuel Celler, New York Democrat and chairman of the powerful House of Representatives judiciary committee, said Friday the sale "indicates baseball is big business."

Cellar, also chairman of the judiciary committee's antitrust subcommittee, said "the bars must be put up and the baseball clubs subjected to the anti-trust laws."

Professional baseball now operates under limited exemption from anti-trust laws. The Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee recently approved a bill to clarify the exemption and extend it to other professional sports.

Senator Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee, hinted his group might take another look at the measure when he said "there might be anti-trust implications" in the sale.

'SCRUTINY NEEDED'

Senator John L. McClellan, Arkansas Democrat on Hart's subcommittee, said "the sale raises questions which should receive the prompt scrutiny of the justice department and the subcommittee."

Senators Kenneth D. Keating and Jacob K. Javits, New York Republicans, said there should be no quick condemnation of the sale even though they agreed there would be surface points that merit inquiry.

Possible effects of the sale on baseball's relationship with radio and television were cited by Ed Short, general manager of Chicago White Sox, who said he withheld approval of the purchase "because of ramifications regarding open television-radio bidding on the World Series, the all-star game and the Game-of-the-Week program."

Rights for broadcasting and telecasting the all-star game and World Series are granted through competitive bidding among the networks.

Both CBS and the National Broadcasting Company have Game-of-the-Week programs that present major league games Saturday and Sunday.

The major leagues are considering a package of weekly Monday night games for national prime-time exposure and the networks are expected to bid for this package, which might sell for as much as $20,000,000.

OTTAWA (CP)—If it weren't for Hamilton Tiger Cats, there wouldn't be a cellar in the Eastern Football Conference right now. Every other team is in first place.

Ottawa Rough Riders joined Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes at the top Friday night by dealing the Grey Cup champions a 13-0 defeat.

The last time Ottawa fans saw the Tiger Cats, in the first game of the Eastern finals last year, the Riders lost 45-0.

Offensively, the star for Riders was end Ted Watkins who combined on pass plays with Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson in the second and third quarters for both touchdowns. Moe Racine converted one of them.

Hamilton's touchdown came in the second quarter on a 64-yard pass-and-run play from quarterback Bernie Faloney to newcomer Stan Crisson. Don Suter converted that one and added a field goal in the final quarter to end the scoring.

Faloney went to the air 22 times, completed eight and had two intercepted. A six-yard pass to Garney Henley in the third quarter was Faloney's 1,000th completion in Canadian football. Jackson completed 11 of 19

Birds Tame Yanks, Prove Bauer Wrong

New York Continues to Slide; Giants' Bolin Fires One-Hitter

By UP International

Hank Bauer isn't going to be wrong twice.

The one-time Yankee who always gave it the old Oriole spirit expressed his sincere opinion at the beginning of the season that his Baltimore team would finish behind New York in the pennant race.

Maybe it came from being a Yankee himself during many successful years, but Bauer couldn't see his former companions failing in their bid for a fifth straight American League flag.

Fortunately for Baltimore fans, few of the Oriole players had much to do with the Yankee empire and they weren't too awed at the task that faced them. They took another step to proving their manager wrong Friday night when they whipped the Yankees 5-4 in the opener of a big three-game series.

A crowd of 47,425, largest in modern Baltimore history, saw the first-place Orioles maintain a three-game edge over runner-up Chicago while boosting their lead over the sagging New Yorkers to 4½ games.

Bauer, who has maintained that 100 victories will be enough to win the pennant, wasn't about to make any more predictions after his team had recorded win No. 73.

"We need 27 more wins," Bauer said, "but it could be a long way if they're as hard as this one."

Brooks Robinson struck the big blow for the Orioles, slugging a three-run homer in the sixth inning to put his side ahead for good. 4-2. The victory evened Steve Barber's record at 6-8 while reliever Steve Hamilton suffered his second loss in nine decisions.

In other American League games, Chicago routed the Boston Red Sox 11-1; Minnesota Twins tripped Cleveland Indians 7-6; Kansas City Athletics edged Detroit Tigers 5-4, and the Los Angeles Angels beat Washington 7-4 after the Senators had taken the opener of a two-night doubleheader, 7-3.

In the National League, the pace-setting Philadelphia Phillies beat the New York Mets twice 6-1 and 6-4; St. Louis nipped Los Angeles 4-3; San Francisco defeated Milwaukee 3-0; Houston topped Cincinnati 3-2, and Pittsburgh and Chicago split a double-header, the Pirates taking the opener 3-2 and the Cubs striking back in the nightcap 4-2.

Big Bob Bolin kept San Francisco within striking distance of the Phillies by blanking Milwaukee on one hit—a line-drive single by Ed Bailey.

The Giants got only three hits themselves—but all were home runs, by Willie McCovey, Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda.

Trail in Final

PORTLAND (AP) — The Madras, Ore. Little League team came from behind Friday night to defeat Quincy, Wash., 6-5, in ten innings.

The Oregon team played Trail, B.C., in the District 1 finals today in Portland.

Seattle Ousted In Pony League

KENNEWICK, Wash. (AP) — Nine was a wrong number for Seattle's Pony League team Friday as it was eliminated 9-4 by the Hilo team of Hawaii.

Hilo now goes into the finals tonight against the Moses Lake, Wash., team that beat it 3-2 Thursday. By winning, Hilo could force a championship playoff.

Vancouver Advances In Mack Tournament

TACOMA (AP) — Vancouver and Seattle chalked up victories Friday night in the first round of the regional Connie Mack baseball tournament. Vancouver edged Tacoma 5-4 in eight innings, one more than regulation, while Seattle downed Portland 4-2.

DR. MEL ASPRAY
... seniors' champ

'Rookie' Senior Captures Title

First time lucky?

True, it's the first year Dr. Melvin Aspray has campaigned in the over-55 bracket, but lucky can hardly describe his victory in the annual Seniors' North West Golf Association tournament.

The Spokane medic picked up the trophy at Victoria Golf Club Friday, playing par golf most of the way while defeating Lew Power of Bellevue, Wash., 6 and 5.

Aspray scored a one-over-par 34 for the first time to take a five-hole lead at the turn.

Three Victoria swingers, all from the host club, won class championships. They are Colin Hart, Peter McIntyre and Harold Lineham.

Complete results:

Grand championship — Dr. Melvin Aspray (Spokane) defeated Lew Power (Bellevue, Wash.), 6 and 5.
 "A" championship — Colin Hart (Victoria) defeated Gene Walsh (Portland), 4 and 2.
 "B" championship — Nelson Perkins (Tacoma) won from R. J. Filberg (Comox) by default.
 "C" championship — Peter McIntyre (Victoria) defeated Murray Marsh (Seattle), 5 and 2.
 "D" championship — Harold Lineham (Victoria) defeated Jerry Gleason (Seattle), 3 and 2.
 "E" championship — Ted Bruno (Portland) defeated Harold Hubbard (Victoria), 3 and 1.
 "F" championship — first night — Dr. Merie Taylor (Portland) defeated Ben Steiner (Seattle) at 180 holes.
 "AA" championship, first night — Al Gossard (Victoria) defeated Paul Glaser (Seattle), 2 up.
 "A" championship, first night — John Humphrey (Victoria) defeated Harry Randall (Victoria), 4 and 2.
 "B" championship, first night — Bob Thompson (Seattle) defeated Stan Stron (Bellevue, Wash.), 5 and 4.
 "C" championship, first night — Torrey Torrance (Seattle) defeated Bernard Petty (Seattle), 1 up.
 "D" championship, first night — Jack Richardson (North Vancouver) defeated Baron Gibson (Vancouver), 1 and 5.
 Second night — Ed Dunn (Seattle) defeated Harold Feiborch (Victoria), 3 and 2.
 Third night — Manley Treese (Portland) defeated Bob Abel (Tacoma), 2 and 2.

Fiery Trueman Hits Milestone

LONDON (Reuters) — Fred Trueman, fiery England and Yorkshire fast bowler, completed a magnificent personal record of 300 wickets—a figure which may never be matched—in test cricket when he claimed three victims against Australia on the third day of the fifth test match at the Oval here today.

Trueman started the match needing three more wickets for his 300th Test victim. He toiled unsuccessfully until just before lunch today, when he captured two wickets with successive balls, but he failed for the third score with his first ball after lunch.

Trueman had to wait another half-hour and with the crowd roaring him on with every ball, he had Neil Hawke caught in the slips.

The crowd erupted but, with policemen every few yards on the boundary, they were prevented from swarming on to the pitch.

Trueman, 33, one of the most popular players in the game, made his test debut in 1952.

He has played against every cricketing nation, but this season, after being dropped from

THE SAND CHIP

GENERALLY I DO NOT RECOMMEND CHIPPING OUT OF SAND, AS SELDOM DOES IT OFFER ANY ADVANTAGE OVER BLASTING.

HOWEVER, I DID CALL UPON THIS SHOT TWICE IN A SINGLE TOURNAMENT—THE '63 HOUSTON CLASSIC—WHEN ON CONSECUTIVE DAYS, I CALIGNED A TRAP AT THE SAND. EACH TIME THE BALL WAS SITTING UP WELL, THERE WAS NO BUNKER LIP, LITTLE SAND TO CARRY AND 60 FEET OF GREEN TO THE PIN.

WHEN THE OPPORTUNITY ARISES, PLAY THE SHOT LIKE A NORMAL CHIP, AND MAKE SURE YOU CONTACT THE BALL FIRST.

Roger Marches To Tennis Semis

OTTAWA—Roger Skillings of Victoria was eliminated Friday in boys' under-16 singles in the Canadian tennis championships here but lived up to his top ranking in the under-14 section.

Skillings, seeded first in the under-14 singles, marched easily through the second and third rounds. He defeated Stu McAlpine of Deep River, Ont., 6-1, 6-0, and then ousted John McFarland of Kingston by a 6-1, 6-4 count.

Roger waged a strong battle in the under-16 division before losing 3-6, 6-0, 6-2 to Mike Leblanc of Montreal.

Theodore Booker, another Victoria star, moved into the third round of the girls' under-16 singles. She defeated Robin Moore of Ottawa 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Booker advanced to the semis this morning as she

Fistic Upset Ignites Riot

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — A stadium here erupted into a riot Friday night when a referee awarded a 10-round decision to heavyweight Johnny Prescott over former British and Empire champion Brian London.

Rubbish and other debris were hurled into the ring, and one spectator, ex-boxer George Tomanit, 55, climbed through the ropes for a scuffle in London's corner. He quickly collapsed onto the ring floor with blood streaming from his nose.

London later showed a reporter a cut over his right eye which he claimed had been caused by the pugnacious spectator.

"I may even sue him," London was quoted as saying. "It depends on what my manager says."

The pandemonium began when referee Wally Thom raised Prescott's arm in victory.

Fred Stille downed Chile newcomer Pat Cornejo 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

Australian coach Harry Hopman will send a doubles team, yet undesignated, against Chile today in an effort to nail down the American Zone finals in the best three out of five matches.

The city council has even decided to close the university and all schools for the championship period to be able to house all expected hockey fans and some 300 reporters and photographers in the school dormitories.

Eve Plans TV Debut In Towel

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A GRIT'S measurements aren't everything, in these days of bikinis and topless bathing suits.

The magic 36-24-36, for instance, doesn't mean a thing if the female in question stands 4 feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. Similarly, a 42-25-37 measurement isn't all that imposing if the damsel is a baby-faced thrower on the Russian Olympic team.

But on brandie Eve Brice, a statuesque actress, 42-25-37, is very nice athletic indeed.

Eve is 6 feet 2 with eyes of blue and doesn't know a daisy can come from a jesseln. At height, however, it isn't easy to find leading lady roles; Hollywood glamour boys are notoriously narrow-minded about standing on their tip toes to kiss their co-star.

Nevertheless, Eve has landed lead roles in stage versions of "1776," "Marriage Game," "Round" and "Wuth Spooones Sport Rock Rock Hunter." No one's invading television in a big way, literally

"The comedy team of Rowan and Martin is putting together a kind of Steve Allen or Johnny Carson show," Edwards explained in a Sunset Boulevard coffee house.

"They want me to be a regular member of the program. No one's sure what the show will be, but I know it sounds like fun."

If the show is to contain the art show, had better make that a beach town.

A native of Virginia, Edwards had his highest art school training at the University of Virginia. He studied sculpture, but he did not become an artist. He did become a writer, but he did not become a novelist. He did become a comedian, but he did not become a stand-up comic. He did become a writer, but he did not become a novelist. He did become a comedian, but he did not become a stand-up comic.

Happily, she doesn't want to date.

"The trouble is very few in my area have a good idea of what a mean life is date tall girls," she said. "It's always the little guys who come running. The shorter they are, the faster they run."

"I can't figure it out unless being seen with a tall girl does something for their ego. Where I lived in Washington, D.C. (where Eve attended school) dated a fellow who was only 5 foot 2. Wherever we went it was as if he was a peacock."

Eve came to California to earn a doctorate, but after three years of jousting at UCLA she changed her mind.

"I was studying acting in off-campus class conducted by Rod Steiger," she explains. "He told me I should seriously consider becoming an actress. So I quit school and studied at the Actors' Studio."

Eve has a bright friendly glow whose idea of the perfect hangman is Jim Aronson—6 foot 7, 170 bone nothing better than to land a great shot on television with him," she confabulates. "That way I wouldn't have to stand in a trench and I wouldn't have to stand on box."

A convention preview and two reruns look like the best of programming which seems to point to a dismal week for television viewers.

The Great Conventions documentary which looks at past Democratic party conventions will introduce to viewers the team of Robert Trout and Roger Mudd when it is broadcast Wednesday at 7:30 pm on Channel 17.

Trout and Mudd will be replacing CBS newscaster Walter Cronkite when the convention and the Stars searches for Kim Novak—more star and reduce in her small screen castle.

THE WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

This is the only time to move the bulbs of the Madonna or Candidum lily (Lilium candidum). Do not disturb if doing well. Give it light, shallow soil, and shallow planting.

Poinsettia plants (Euphorbia pulcherrima) are growing freely now, and require frequent watering and light feedings of a well-balanced fertilizer.

The English daisy (Bellis perennis) and London's Pride (Saxifraga umbrosa) can each be split into single crowns now for replanting in borders. If each piece has a few roots and is kept damp, new growth will soon be apparent.

Cut out all raspberry canes which have fruited. In the summer fruiting kinds, the unfruited canes will bear next year's crop; in the everbearing raspberries, the unfruited ones are those which will be in flower soon to bear fruit in the fall.

Bend leaves of onions at right angles to bulbs to hasten ripening.

Prune gooseberry and red currants. Cut back laterals to four leaves from base. Black currants can be cut to the ground immediately after picking.

Some people cut the branches of fruit and take to a convenient spot for stripping the currants; their pruning is then done.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

By JACK BEASTALL

Q. These little dwarf evergreens, will they really stay dwarf, or will they grow into huge trees like others of the same size I have bought in the past? Fooled Once, Victoria.

A. The true dwarf conifers (I'm presuming you refer to coniferous evergreens) will grow at the rate of a quarter-inch to a half-inch a year to varying dwarf heights according to the kind and variety.

Larger types grow much more quickly and eventually reach tree-like proportions. The true dwarfs are three to four times the price of fast-growing kinds.

BEASTALL ADVISES

'Green Fingers' No Gift; They Come the Hard Way

There are no records to tell us when man first conceived the idea of increasing the number of his desirable plants by vegetative means. It seems likely to have originated with the removal of a portion of some food or medicinal plant from the wild to a more convenient place where it could be tended and readily procured when needed.

Today we call this method propagation by division and practise it extensively in the home garden.

Division may have been followed by layering, adopted when man needed plants too large to remove bodily or with a growth habit unsuited to division.

Later, came the removal of a comparatively small piece of a plant and attaching it to other roots by grafting, or placing it in a situation where it could develop into a new plant. This latter process we know as propagation by cuttings.

Of all the methods of vegetative propagation, that by cuttings is the most important and the means on which nurserymen and gardeners rely for the increase in numbers of desirable plants.

Cuttings may be taken from any part of a plant, root, shoot, or leaf, and each kind of cutting may be treated in several different ways.

Some plants respond well to one technique and not to others, which is reasonable, but the irregular behaviour of cuttings from season to season and in the hands of different people is a puzzle to all.

To say that a few plantmen are "green-fingered" does not solve the problem. We need to know how one acquires this coloring at will.

The idea of "trade secrets" is equally unreasonable. In 20 years of plant propagation I have discovered the so-called trade secrets to be secrets locked within the plants themselves which, to date, we have been unable to pry loose.

Much knowledge has been gained in recent decades but there is still no direct and positive answer to the home gardener's frequent question as to when the cuttings of a given plant should be taken to ensure results.

Cuttings of juvenile wood (new growth or soft cuttings) root readily, but due to immaturity they are extremely sensitive to other influences and quick to die.

Cuttings that are partially mature (half-ripe) are slower to root but more tolerant of conditions surrounding them, while mature wood (hardwood cuttings) will survive for months without showing an inclination to make roots.

Propagators usually exercise considerable care in "preparing" cuttings before inserting into the rooting media, but there is no supporting evidence that the quality or position of the basal cut has any significance. Heels of older wood seem only to aid survival in adverse conditions.

Allowing certain leafy cuttings to wilt before setting is practiced, although it is well known that a high moisture content at time of removal is conducive to good rooting.

The position on the plant from which the cuttings are removed can influence the results. Wood on the north side will not be ripened as much as that in full sun, nor will cuttings from tips be as mature as those lower on the plant.

Cultural practices have a pronounced effect on the ability of cuttings to make new plants. Cuttings from neglected, especially dried-out, plants can be considered as hardwood even though it is recent growth, while cuttings from overstimulated plants will rate as softwood even late in the season.

Root inducing substances may be beneficial or detrimental. In liquid form they have proved helpful, but the tale used to dilute the dry forms has been blamed for preventing moisture from reaching the cutting during the root-forming period.

Probably the greatest influence on material for cuttings is exerted by the variation in the seasons, which makes it impossible to give any steady date for the taking of cuttings.

The best that can be said, meagre as it may be, is spring, summer, or fall. At what specific date in spring, summer or fall, we cannot be sure although experience over the years becomes a guide.

Mass in English First Time in U.S.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Roman Catholic mass will be celebrated in English for the first time in the United States at St. Louis' Kiel Auditorium during National Liturgical Week Aug. 24-27.

Four masses to be celebrated in the giant downtown auditorium, including one by Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St.
Louis, will use the new English translations approved by the second Vatican ecumenical council.

The mass traditionally has been celebrated around the world in Latin.

NEWS FROM CITY CHURCHES

Chorales to Sound on Aged Organ

Depth of the 300-year-old organ at the Church of Our Lord will be revealed Sunday when J. Ingram Smith presents three German chorales from The Reformation.

The organ was brought to Victoria via Cape Horn in the 1880s and is still very much alive, having been recently renovated.

Mr. Ingram Smith's recital will be heard at the 7:30 p.m.
evensong when baritone Martin Chambers will be the soloist.
"He is well known in music circles for the color and quality of his voice," writes Bishop Denis Rankin, minister of the Church of Our Lord.

Rev. Murdo Nicholson, DD, will conduct morning and evening worship in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.
Eleanor Duff will be soloist at the morning service. In the evening Lorne Griffiths will be the featured singer.
The music at St. Andrew's is directed by C. C. Warren, organist and choirmaster.

In a broadcast service from First United Church Sunday morning, Rev. Robert J. D. Morris will preach on the subject
"A Long Way from Home."

In the evening, at a combined service of First United and Metropolitan United, Rev. Albert E. King will preach on "A New Age Needs a New Birth."
Mr. King has succeeded Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James as

600 Attend Induction Ceremonies

More than 600 residents and visitors attended the induction of Rev. Albert E. King as minister of Metropolitan United Church Wednesday night.

They included members of other Victoria churches and people from out of town, including Mr. and Mrs. Arthur
H. Brant and their daughter,
Priscilla, from Portland, Ore.

"I was surprised and pleased by the simplicity of this induction service," said Mr. Brant, who belongs to the American Episcopal Church in Portland.

Mr. King, formerly of Highlands United Church, Edmonton, was inducted minister of Metropolitan by Rev. G. Howard Turpin, former president of the Victoria Presbytery, United Church of Canada.

"ASSET TO CITY"
Rev. John Garden, DD, who conducted the service, said Metropolitan had chosen wisely in appointing a man of Mr. King's calibre and ability.

"He will be an asset to this city," Dr. Garden said.

Music was by the Sanctuary
Choir, conducted by Dr. James Gayfer, with Eric Boothroyd at the organ.

Rev. Robert J. D. Morris of
First United was the preacher.
Speaking of the need for attracting more young people into church life, he said only 5 per cent of Canada's university students have any "meaningful association" with organized religion.

After the service, Mr. Morris said he imagined this percentage would be somewhat higher in Victoria, which is largely a church-going community, with a university that is "religious-minded."

Battle of Mons Marked Next Week

Next Sunday, Aug. 23, is the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Mons.

At the 11 a.m. service in Christ Church Cathedral members of the Old Contemptibles will celebrate the occasion.
Canon S. J. Wickens, a veteran of both world wars, will be the preacher.

JOINT GOSPEL SERVICE SET

Victoria Free Methodist and Parkdale Evangelical Free Churches will be jointly responsible for the gospel service at the Cameron bandshell, Beacon Hill Park, Sunday at 7 p.m.

Rev. J. H. James, minister of Victoria Free Methodist, will deliver the gospel message. Vocal solos will be given by Ron Tangeman and Mrs. C. Dash, and vocal trios by Carol, Marjorie and Sharon James.

This will be the seventh in the summer series of nine open-air services sponsored by the Victoria committee, Christian Businessmen's Committee International.

Fairness Laws Lack Publicity

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia government has passed laws against discrimination but has done nothing to publicize them, a labor leader said Friday night.

D. E. Coupland, research director for the B.C. Federation of Labour, said the B.C. Public Accommodations Practices Act was passed in 1961 and the Fair Employment Practices Act was passed in 1956.

There was no publicity, educational material or other literature in preparation with the accommodations Act, Mr. Coupland told the B.C. Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Fair Employment Act was passed under pressure of public opinion. But the government made no move to publicize it or educate employers about it, he said.

minister of Metropolitan United and will preach at Metropolitan Sunday morning.

Pastor Kenneth Lacey, recently of Scotland and now of Vancouver, was guest preacher at Victoria Seventh-Day Adventist Church this morning.

Pastor Lacey is employed by the church to do public evangelism in the province for several years.

Guest preacher Rev. Gordon S. Patch, pastor of First Baptist Church, West Vancouver, will continue his ministry at Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday.

In the morning he will speak on "Criminal Negligence."
At the evening service his topic will be "The Art of Communication Then and Now."

Mrs. Harold Robinson will be guest soloist at both services.

The Baha'is of Victoria will hold a public meeting in the Baha'i Centre, 1005 View Street, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

A series of tape-recorded lectures on Lessons in the Science of Living are being given in the Universal Apostolic Church of Life, Shelbourne and King Streets, every Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The public lectures have been recorded by Archbishop William Wolsey.

U.K. VIEW

Counter-Reformation Needed for Catholics?

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Roman Catholic Church in England needs some of that old-time bigotry aimed its way if it is to be revitalized, a British writer claims.

"I think there is far too little anti-Catholicism and would welcome another counter-reformation," wrote Auberon Waugh in the Roman Catholic magazine "The Critic," published here by the Thomas More Association.

"Politeness is undermining the church," Waugh said.

"Until recently, the Catholic Church in England was a good fighting body conscious of being a minority and conscious of antagonism from Protestants and pagans alike; all of which helped enormously to keep it together."

"Since good Pope John, there is much less anti-Catholicism, and one has an unworthy suspicion that the Catholic clergy are using the ecumenical movement to make them more acceptable in English society," Waugh said.

The "moribund" Anglican church "is a happy church and does no harm to anybody," he said. "By contrast, the Catholic church was underprivileged, poor and thriving. Its priests were from humble stock and its doctrines contentious in the extreme."

"Yet nobody doubted that the meaningful voice of Christianity in England, was to be heard from Father Murphy's pulpit as he shouted about the danger of hell for reading Sunday newspapers, rather than from those fluting voices on the House of Lords, discoursing on the problems of leisure or the housing situation," Waugh said.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Page and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Prior, all of Victoria. (Chevrans Studio.)

Mr. and Mrs. Collin Carille Creighton were piped from St. Mary's Anglican Church following their marriage in late July. The bride is the former Ann Mary MacDougall, daughter of Major and Mrs. Keith MacDougall. The groom's parents are Mrs. Hugh Creighton and the late Mr. Creighton. The piper was Bill Quigg. (Jorgen V. Svendsen.)

Rev. R. J. Morris officiated at the wedding in First United Church when Hazel Catherine Isabelle Craig and Frederick W. Comer exchanged marriage vows. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Comer, all of this city. (Gibson's Studio.)

Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Gordon Greenwood were married in St. George the Martyr Church in early July. Rev. N. S. Noel officiated. Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Reid, Mr. J. Gordon Greenwood and Mrs. Thomas Dawe, all of Victoria. (Chevrans Studio.)

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Friedrich Vendt are now making their home in Vancouver. Rev. A. Calder officiated at their recent marriage in Oak Bay United Church. The bride, the former Patricia Anne Huxtable, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Huxtable of this city. (Chapman Photography.)

Doing The Town

with DOROTHY FRASER

Fall's afoot at Munday's...

We'll try anything once, we told Mr. Munday, as we gingerly clambered up a tall ladder in the nether regions of the store to get an advance look at some of the new fall shoes in the process of being unpacked! ... Of course, you won't have to do likewise, because many of these stunners will be in the windows by the time you read this ... We concentrated on D'Antoni's time ... shoes that are not only smart and beautiful, but supremely comfortable ... and don't cost the world—($19.95 for most models) ... We noticed toes are still pointed, but not too pointed ... illusion and set-back stacked heels far outnumber spikes ... A particularly pretty dressy shoe is sooty black suede, open on one side, trimmed with a soft ribbon bow ... Some nice black patents too with slim sling backs which won't slip down ... Tailored pumps in calf or patent are trimmed with grosgrain ... Others have a threaded ribbon trim ... We liked an oter-colored pump which is a wonderful neutral ... a shaded red and black patent ... very new ... And an antiqued brown walking shoe with stacked heel ... All these shoes are leather lined ... have the "casseroles" (cushioned insole which holds the foot firmly, keeps heel snug) ... Munday's, 1203 Douglas St., EV 3-2211.

Tailored fabrics ... action skirts ... space pleats ... all very good for fall.

The early bird gets the pick...

We would have to pick the warmest day we've had so far this summer to buy an Italian knit from Miss Frith's ... (fortunately the room is large and airy) ... but the thing is, when you see what you want the smart thing is to get it then and there ... And with all the fresh new clothes coming in, this is a wonderful time to give serious thought to fall and winter wardrobes ... Take a look at Miss Frith's windows when you're downtown this week ... One is done entirely in red ... various shades, from light, lively red to dark claret ... Including that wonderfully rich berry shade which will be big on the autumn color hit parade ... A lot of new knits have arrived ... as well as wool crepe dresses, deceptively simple in appearance ... the kind that look wonderful with you inside them ... and can be dressed up or down by the judicious choice of accessories ... Hand-washable silk knits are making fashion news too ... We saw two attractive models ... one in sapphire blue with high round neck and short sleeves ... the other a light navy sheath with white cow-like collar ... Surprisingly inexpensive ... We like the looped mohair coats for fall ... many with milk collars ... You'll find most of the new coats have more texture and surface interest than heretofore ... Miss Frith Millinery & Fashions, 1617 Douglas St., EV 3-4912.

Try a touch of saffron in cream cheese or scrambled eggs ... adds a fillip.

Nothing "ordinary" at this shop...

Seems to us every time we pass Sydney Reynolds ... day or night ... there's practically a side-walk traffic jam in front of the windows ... and it's not surprising, really ... This shop somehow manages to get hold of things from all over continental Europe and the British Isles that don't even appear elsewhere in Victoria ... but often not even anywhere else in Canada! ... If you own an older house ... or are fixing up an old house ... or know someone who is ... don't fail to see the latest arrivals ... hand painted china door knobs and face plates (the thing you push the door with) from England ... They're positively delightful ... come in a wide range of designs and colors ... mostly flowers and such ... One set has nursery rhyme characters to put up a child's room ... Prices run from $10.50 to about $20 ... Here's a room accessory that could make all the difference! ... A new shipment of pewter mugs, jugs and goblets is on display too ... The goblets are especially nice, to our mind ... would make a lovely gift, plain or engraved ... as would the fox handled mugs in 1/2- and 1-pint sizes ... "Paddy's Black Pig" piggy banks are being featured in the Irish Shop ... only $50 ... Sydney Reynolds, 301 Government St., EV 3-3931.

A coil of curtain lace, lined in net ... pretty on the beach.

It's back to school...

Heavens, it can't really be! we thought, when we wandered into Wilson's Junior Shop this week and saw no less than three mothers armed with lists, busily examining school blazers and tunics ... But indeed it is ... time to get the youngsters outfitted for another school year ... And believe us, the proper outfitting makes a world of difference to a child's appearance and sense of well-being! ... You probably know that Wilson's carry a complete range of school uniforms and everything required for every private school for miles around ... Blazers, tunics, shirts, pants, sweaters, ties, socks, raincoats, berets, etc. ... You name it they have it ... and in a complete range of sizes ... at down-to-earth competitive prices ... All these garments are excellently made ... of sturdy, quality material that will take a real beating ... stand up to hard wear ... Another thing we noticed is how generously they're cut ... so if your sprout shoots up an inch or so in the next few months, you can easily make necessary adjustments ... Wilson's new cord pants by Days are a wonderful buy ... good-looking and wear like iron ... So are the G.W.G. cotton drill pants ... Sanforized of course ... Solid colors and checks ... W & J Wilson Limited, 1321 Government St., EV 3-7177.

Slim princesses bodices, pencil-slim coat dresses, help disguise excessive avoirdupois.

Hong Kong dress panels are dreamy...

If you want to make yourself a perfectly stunning cocktail or evening sheath for a mere $25 ... he yourself to Saba Bros. fabric department and look at those panels they've just received from Hong Kong ... and which are exclusive to them ... Dress lengths of heavy pure silk satin, the front panel lavishly embroidered with bugle beads, pearls and sequins ... every stitch by hand ... Plain back panel ... You shouldn't even need a pattern to run one of these up! ... Colors are black, beige, pale blue, pink and white ... the latter especially delectable with a design of flowers outlined with beads and filled with iridescent sequins ... Also new at Saba's are gorgeous brocades from France and England ... 36" to 48" wide ... $4.95 to $8.95 a yard ... There's a French metallic jersey at $4.95 (36" wide) that drapes beautifully ... would make a beautiful long sheath or verbiouse ... dressy but not too formal ... Comes in gold, black, cream and white ... A black and blue iridescent metallic jersey is also quite lovely ... And don't forget that Saba's imported blouses are really something to rave about ... They have a big collection, in a wide range of colors ... the likes of which you certainly won't find elsewhere! ... Saba Bros. Limited, 1130 Douglas St., EV 4-0561.

The "skimp" coat ... new word in fashion vocabulary.

They'll do it every time!

A gentleman of our acquaintance is a great car buff ... he currently owns one of those big luxury cars complete with all the gadgets ... His wife owns a Volkswagen ... and we'll give you one guess as to which car friend husband drives away to work with every morning ... Right, the Volkswagen! ... His wife's getting pretty exasperated with the whole deal because she's devoted to her Volks too ... which brings on endless arguments and causes her to say for heaven's sake why doesn't he just sell the big job and get his own Volkswagen ... then there'd be an end of family-dissention ... We shouldn't be a bit surprised if he takes this excellent advice! ... Meanwhile, we can tell you ... from a long and beautiful personal relationship with the Volkswagen ... that it really is the sweetest thing on wheels for cruising around our town ... Easy to drive ... a dream to park in the tight spots ... costs mere pin money to run ... In a word, a car that's just made for a woman ... though goodness knows, the men are catching on fast! ... Why not lure your spouse into Speedway Motors and let him sell himself on a Volkswagen for you? ... Speedway Motors Limited, Yates at Vancouver St., 393-3412.

Black eyeglass frames are attention getters. They can make small eyes seem larger.

The perfect "thank you"...

With week-end invitations being proffered by fortunate friends and relatives or boats ... we the recipients of this hospitality are sometimes hard put to it to know what token of appreciation would best hit the mark ... Ditto for husbands bachelorling in town, who get invited to someone's home for a square meal ... Well, take our word for it, you can't go wrong if you arm yourself with a box of Welch's chocolates ... It'll do you proud ... as well as being a compliment to the recipient ... If you don't know your hostess's favorites, have one of the gifts make-up a box of assorted chocolates and candies ... or of course you can pick your own ... or even telephone and have your order delivered anywhere in town ... or mailed anywhere in the world! ... We've tasted a lot of famous-name candy in our day, but have yet to encounter anything better than Welch's ... They're freshly made ... of the freshest, purest, finest ingredients ... and we'll run a goodly list of the varieties long before we could begin to describe the 50-odd luscious varieties of chocolates and candies ... The thing to do is find out for yourself! ... And don't forget Welch's have a special every week-end ... one of their many varieties of wrapped candies for only 67c a pound instead of the regular $1.00 ... So take some home ... Welch's Candy Shop, 705 Fort St., 393-3412.

Style and ease combine in this wrap-around coat of engineered elegance. Its collar is deeply notched; the soft, cash belt tied "as you like it." Because of its understated, slim lines and classic sleeves, it could be your favorite coat for fall.

IN STEP WITH STYLE By Nona Damaske

Leather and Suede Year

Some fashions burst like a skyrocket and as quickly fade away. Others come along slowly and grow to be such a pleasant part of the fashion picture that we hardly realize we have a whole new segment of style on our doorstep. Leather, the oldest known fabric, looms large on the fall fashion horizon. Suede and leather coats, jackets and dresses, in limited quantities have been seen in Victoria stores for the past few seasons. For fall and winter 1964 leather and suede will be important to the woman who wants to keep in step with style.

Daytime fashion is careening toward the country look... textured stockings, boots and bulky tweeds. This is the look that Victoria loves. Our weather and our casual way of life has always allowed us a fondness for this way of dressing. September and October, when you first feel a nip in the air and the leaves of the countryside are the color of flame, is the time to indulge your love of suede and leather in the natural tones from beige to chocolate brown.

For the woman who likes to wear color there is no longer any problem. Dye processes have improved greatly and suedes may now be color coordinated with any fabric shade. Cleaning is less of a problem and may now be done close to home. Suede is a great wind-breaker and the top-down female sports car set are ardent advocates of the three-quarter suede motor coat length. This style of topcoat

TODAY'S RECIPE

PEAR MIDLEY

Four-and-a-half cups prepared fruit (about 1 1/2 lbs. (1 qt.) ripe pears, 1 orange, 10 ounces can crushed pineapple, and about 20 maraschino cherries), 5 cups sugar, 1 box powdered fruit pectin.

First, prepare the fruit. Peel and core about 1 1/2 pounds (1 quart) fully ripe pears. Grind pears and 1 whole orange, or chop very fine. Add one 10-ounce can crushed pineapple. Chop fine about 20 maraschino cherries or enough to make 1/2 cup. Combine fruits and measure 4 1/2 cups into a very large saucepan.

Then make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with 1/4-inch hot paraffin. Yields about nine medium glasses (4 1/2 pounds of jam).

DEAR ABBY...

Food for Thought!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 15 and I think I know why kids end up in parked cars doing what they shouldn't.

Boys have started coming to my house along with girls, and my Dad is already complaining about the noise, and not having any privacy any more. I have always brought my girl friends to my house to watch television or just to talk, but this year it's different. Sometimes I think Dad hates to see me grow up. I'd rather have a boy come to my house than go out on a date with one and I should think my Dad would prefer that, too. But if he keeps grumbling about the TV program we're watching instead of going to watch the other TV, he'll make my friends self-conscious and they won't come back, and I won't want to stay home evenings either.

We live in a small town and except for movies, where can we go that doesn't cost a lot more than kids our age have to spend? Most of my friends have the same trouble with their folks. They say we make too much noise, our dances are silly, our ideas are kooky. They criticize our hair, and clothes and our choice of friends. No wonder kids want cars! They want to get as far away from home as possible.

I really don't want to go off in a car with a boy. I just want a place where my friends can come and have fun and act like teen-agers without feeling guilty about being one. To my way of thinking, it's better to have room to move around, play games, and make fudge than to run off some place in a car because, if you keep driving, you get to speeding just for fun, and if you park somewhere, you might just go too far if you aren't careful.

I wonder how many kids who end up in trouble had these same thoughts and fears? I wish you would tell parents, Abby, that we kids aren't bad. We just want to get together, and home is our favorite spot. If only we were made to feel welcome.

SPEAKING FOR TEENS.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old boy who is very mature for my age and look much older. There is a divorced lady who lives on the corner near me. Every time she sees me she tells me what a nice-looking young fellow I am and she asks me when I am coming over to visit her. She says she is lonesome. Should I tell my father?

SONNY.

DEAR SONNY: No. Tell your mother. DEAR ABBY: I am writing in regard to the letter signed "DISAPPOINTED IN D.O.C.TORS." The writer claimed her mother was ill and was ordered to bed by her doctor. When the mother worsened, the daughter phoned the doctor, who said, "There is nothing I can do. What do you expect from a 73-year-old woman?" He refused to make a house call and the mother died the next day.

This is hard to believe. What probably happened was this: When the doctor first saw the patient, he advised the daughter to put her in a hospital for a thorough examination and tests. The daughter refused and attempted to care for her mother at home. When the mother grew worse, the daughter called the doctor and he probably said, "Since you did not let me give her a thorough examination, what do you expect from a 73-year-old woman who has not been properly cared for?" Abby, the image of rich, country-club, golf-playing doctors is a myth. What other professionals are on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week? Tell "DISAPPOINTED" to look to her own conscience regarding her mother. Blaming the doctor will not absolve her guilt for neglecting her mother.

DOCTOR'S WIFE. Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hands Looking Older Than You Do? Need Daily Care

Hands often give a woman's age away. As a matter of fact, they frequently look much older than she does.

The hands of modern women are extremely versatile. They wield a golf club or a tennis racket, indulge in all the house-keeping chores and cooking and still look lovely across the dinner table.

However, this doesn't just happen. It reflects regular, simple, daily care. Frantic periodic efforts will not do the job. No part of a woman's physical ensemble shows neglect more quickly than the hands and these are always so much in evidence. Use only lukewarm water on the hands whenever possible.

Do not use a nail brush which is too harsh. Most important, use a good hand lotion, not just at night, but whenever you wash your hands. We all know this, but few busy women really use a hand lotion this often.

If the cuticle around your nails is dry, push it back each night with an orange stick, after massaging a cuticle cream into the dry skin.

The idea of exercise for the hands may seem foolish when we use them so constantly. However, the hands can profit by exercise, too. Have you ever noticed the hands of a great pianist? We could all use a little of the grace and flexibility which they have because of years of practice.

Let me give you a couple of good exercises today. These also will be helpful to those who find that their fingers are prone to become stiff and less flexible.

Hold your hands up in front of you. Clench both fists. Now straighten the fingers and fling them back as far as possible. Pull backward with them. Continue bending and straightening the fingers.

Again, hold the hands up in front of you. Touch the index finger of each hand to the thumb of the same hand. Hold the finger with the thumb as you try to pull the finger away. Do the same with each finger.

If you would like to have my exercises for the hands, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman, in care of this newspaper.

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

MEASURE FOR BELT WITH ALL OF YOUR CLOTHES ON

Dear Eunice: Every time I make a belt for myself, or have one made, they always come out too tight, even though I use my waist measurement. How do you measure for belts?—Mrs. R. R. E.

Dear Mrs. R. R. E.: Your original waist measurement was probably taken with nothing but your slip on, and the dress you will be wearing will add to the measurement. I would suggest you measure yourself with the dress on, and use that as a guide for the size of the belt.

Certainly you have many questions about sewing. I have a small leaflet which has answers to 20 common questions. To obtain your copy send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Sew Simple in care of this newspaper.

She Always Knows What's Cooking

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Margo Oliver need only get up from her desk in a big office building in Montreal, walk a few steps down the corridor and she's in the most up-to-date kitchen you can possibly imagine.

Not only that, she is the mentor and manager of this kitchen. It is she who says what is to be cooked there, and what is not. She has the privilege of testing the delectable concoctions that come from the big ovens and from the pots and pans on top of the stoves.

And, it's only if she approves what she tests, that the recipes are passed on to you. Who is Margo Oliver? She's the food editor of Weekend Magazine, a Saturday feature in the Victoria Daily Times.

"I imagine I'm one of the only food editors in Canada who has a test kitchen right in the building where her publication is printed," she says. "Most of them work from their own homes."

"It makes it much easier to have this equipment so handy, but it also has its dangers. 'If I could stop at testing, it would be all right. But, when a recipe turns out particularly well and I like it, then testing turns to tasting."

"It doesn't take many tastes to add a pound or so of weight, you know."

"That's why food editors generally have such well-rounded figures."

Despite her assertion, this food editor's figure is tall and willowy and appears to be in no immediate danger.

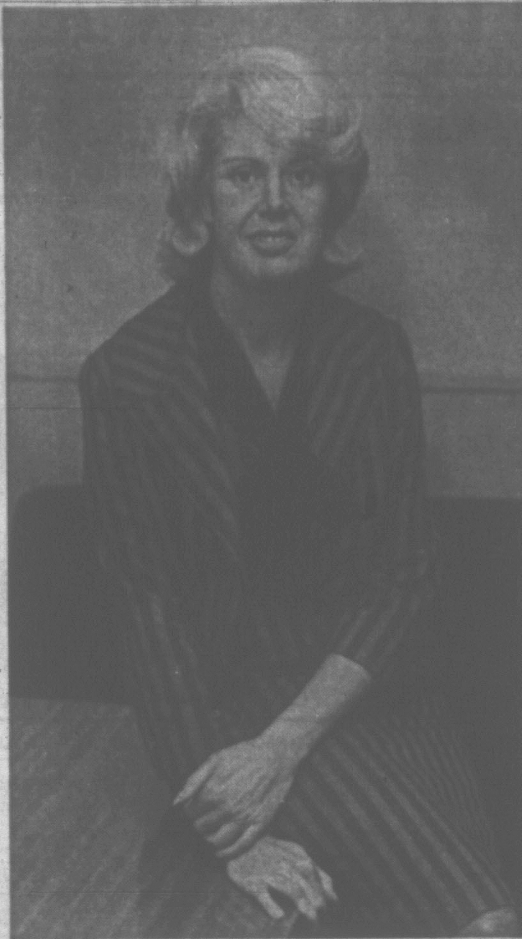

Also connected with Margo Oliver's office ("I just have to go through a swing door") is the photographic department of the magazine, where the color pictures that accompany her Saturday features, are arranged and "shot."

"Kind of special effect I like takes time and patience to produce," she says, "and I give full marks to the photographers for their zeal in going after these effects."

A few months back she "got the idea" she would like a picture of foods frozen into big cakes of ice.

"It meant taking these foods to an ice plant away off on the outskirts of the city. They froze the ice cakes to the consistency of a cooling jello dessert."

"And, just as you would put fruits in a cooling jello, we put our baskets and bowls of foods into the congealing ice. Then,

Home economist turned foods editor, Miss Margo Oliver believes "common sense recipes gain the most fans." She instructs her test kitchen staff to look for such recipes and she uses them when she cooks in her own home. "On occasions it's fun to try the exotic and off-beat, but not as every-day fare," she says. Miss Oliver visited Victoria briefly this week.

the freezing was completed and the ice cakes were brought back to the studio.

Some of them cracked. But, we finally got the effect we wanted. Some fun!"

Right now this keen-minded food editor is mulling over in her mind how to get a color picture featuring Pacific Coast fish.

For she and five other eastern Canada food editors came west at the invitation of the Fisheries Association of British Columbia, to learn more about fish in Pacific waters and the many ways of preparing and cooking them.

"I'm going back with lots of ideas," she avows, "but it will take time to get them whipped into shape."

Her visit to Victoria was short—a matter of a few hours.

But, as she climbed aboard a bus for the return trip by ferry to Vancouver she was promising: "I've got to come back!"

Her last words, flung back over her shoulders were: "Oh! Your hydrangeas! I've never seen such colors in my life!"

"I wish I could get them into the studio back home. We'd do something in the kitchens to go with those magnificent blossoms!"

Gwyneth Judd and Bruce Kingham Exchange Vows This Afternoon

In St. John's Anglican Church, this afternoon, Rev. C. A. Campbell heard marriage vows exchanged between Gwyneth Elaine Judd and Roderick Bruce Kingham.

Parents of the couple are Earl T. Judd, 2780 Winstler Road, Langford, and the late Mrs. Judd, and Col. and Mrs. J. R. Kingham, 3485 Upper Terrace, Victoria.

Pink and white gladioli decorated the church for the wedding. Purcell's organ music was played and during signing of the register the Varsity Singers gave a number.

The bride wore a full-length white gown styled with straight skirt, fitted bodice with scooped neckline and short sleeves, and a lace cummerbund in Talisman rose design from which extended a detachable train. A waist-length veil of the same lace was held with a pearl and crystal teardrop coronet. Pink roses, white carnations and trailing ivy were in her bouquet.

Mr. Judd gave his daughter in marriage.

Striking short-skirted white gowns patterned with red roses were worn by Mrs. Douglas Doig, the groom's sister, as matron of honor and the bride's niece, Elizabeth Judd, who was flower girl.

Red velvet ribbons were around their waists and red velvet bows in their hair. They carried variegated white and red carnations and fern.

Ian Kingham was best man for his brother and the ushers were Michael J. B. I. Rankin, William Maconachie and Robert E. Smith.

The reception was held in Holyrood House where a three-tier cake and pink roses, centred the head table. Kenneth L. Leeming proposed the toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingham will spend their honeymoon in the Selkirk and Rocky Mountains. They will make their home at Field, B.C.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Minister Visits Sister

While in Victoria to officiate at Friday's ceremonies at Pat Bay Airport, the Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, federal transport minister, visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth T. Seaborne of Baynes Road. Mrs. Seaborne left by air with her brother this morning. After attending similar ceremonies at the Kamloops airport, Mrs. Seaborne will join her brother and sister-in-law at their summer home in Newfoundland for a three-week holiday.

Leave Monday

Alderman Austin I. Curtis and Mrs. Curtis leave Victoria on Monday, travelling to Montreal where they will board a Cunard liner, en route to a two-month holiday in Great Britain and continental Europe. While they are away, the Curtis home on Pentrelew Place will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Roal Taggart.

Hear Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Darcy McLeish and Roger came from Vancouver to attend the wedding of Miss Bonita Maycock and Mr. Barry McLeish. Also from out of town were Capt. and Mrs. D. Jones, Leslie and Terry, all of Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. C. Taylor and Sharon of Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cornett and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cornett, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hartie, all of Cowichan Station.

In Vancouver

The engagement has been announced of Miss Nora Borrowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Borrowman of Vancouver, to Mr. Arthur Polson, concert master of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and faculty member of the Victoria School of Music. Also musical, the bride-elect sings with the Vancouver International Festival, Theatre Under the Stars and the Greater Vancouver Operatic Society. The wedding will take place in St. Andrew's Wesley United Church next Friday. After a honeymoon cruise of the Gulf Islands in their boat, "Siesta," the couple will make their home at 1107 Newport Avenue.

For Daughter

Mrs. Bernard A. Lewis recently entertained in her Pentland Road home in honor of her youngest daughter, Miss Doreen Lewis, whose marriage took place earlier today. Invited guests included Mrs. H. Townsend, Duncan; Mrs. T. W. Kensington, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. G. Rice, Mrs. L. Williams, Mrs. J. Pite, Mrs. H. R. Neil, Mrs. J. Ross, Mrs. G. Edgerton, Mrs. C. H. Lockhart, Mrs. G. Lawson, Mrs. F. Bradbury, Mrs. W. H. Grondin, Mrs. C. Buggs and Miss N. Pite.

At Wedding

Out-of-town guests at the Becker-Carmichael wedding last weekend included Mr. and Mrs. R. Duca with Julia-Anne and Mary Angela from San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. E. Devlot of Desert Hot Springs, Calif.; Mrs. P. Mitchell, Toronto; Mrs. Peg Michael, Washington State; Mr. and Mrs. W. Martella and Mamie of Ladysmith; Mr. and Mrs. W. Carmichael of Cassidy, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Minchin and Frank, Mr. and Mrs.

Merner, Miss Sherrin Edgson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lawson and Sheila, Mr. A. Cockburn, Mr. and Mrs. D. Becker and family, all of Nanaimo; Misses Lucia and Pearl Becker; Mrs. E. Edde, Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Irvine and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wilson, Mr. A. Wilson and Danny, all of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Kjelbe of New Brighton, B.C.

'His and Hers'

Mrs. Archie Thomson and Mrs. Dave Stott were co-hostesses at a "his and hers" dessert party at the Stott home for Miss Beverley McLaughlin and Mr. Lorne Reay, who are to be married this evening. The honored couple received gifts of kitchen and hardware gadgets for their new home in Alberta. Among out-of-town guests at the party were the groom-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Reay, and the best man, Mr. Tom Towers of Red Deer, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Scott, 1217 Haultain Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their elder daughter, Miss Nancy Rose Barrett, to Mr. Arthur Joseph Clark, only son of Mrs. Keith Cravelle, Prince George, B.C., and the late Mr. Clark. The wedding will take place in St. John's Anglican Church on September 4 at 7:15 p.m., with Canon George Biddle officiating. (Campbell Studio.)

Kitchen Shower

Tonight's bride, Shirley Pedersen and her mother, Mrs. O. Pedersen received corsages of pink carnations and heather when Mrs. P. H. W. Bray entertained at a surprise kitchen shower. Corsages were presented by Miss Allyson Bray. Gifts were concealed by a bridal doll, made from kitchen items. Other guests were Mrs. W. D. Davies, Mrs. N. Lararuk, Mrs. J. D. Ghanan, Mrs. B. Clayards, Mrs. M. Krowchuck and Miss Jane Bowley.

ROYAL BIRTHDAY

ABERDEEN, Scotland (UPI)—Princess Anne celebrated her 14th birthday today on holiday with the royal family at Balmoral Castle in the Scottish Highlands, 40 miles from Aberdeen.

Household sources said a big postbag of cards and gifts for the blonde princess arrived at the castle along with greeting telegrams.

Queen Elizabeth II arrived at the Scottish estate with her four children and the two children of Princess Margaret last week.

Prince Philip, the Queen's husband, was still in England and missed the tea party which was the main event of his daughter's birthday. Also missing from the family party were the Queen Mother Elizabeth, vacationing at the Castle of May in Calithness, and Princess Margaret, who is on holiday with husband Lord Snowdon in Sardinia.

Wishing Well

Gifts were in a rosevine-covered wishing well at a shower given in honor of Miss Sherri Stephens, whose marriage takes place this evening. Party was given by Miss Sandra Lindsey in her Richmond Avenue home. On arrival, the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage of Johanna Hill roses, while her mother, Mrs. R. M. Stephens, and grandmother, Mrs. V. Sidwell, received rosebud vases. Guests included Mrs. G. McGregor, Mrs. B. Gill, the Misses Karen Stephens, Carolyn Scurrah, Yvonne Muir, Linda Ross, Sandra Lalonde, Gail Smith, Michael Prior, Joan Duncan and Beth Thomas.

They Left 'In a Surrey With a Fringe on the Top'

The groom drove an old-fashioned horse-drawn carriage when Mr. and Mrs. Barry Hague McLeish left St. John's Anglican Church, Colwood, on Friday evening after their marriage.

Rev. D. A. Hatfield officiated and organist was J. H. Nixon. Pink carnations and white gladioli were at the altar.

The bride is the former Bonita Margaret Maycock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Maycock, 1835 Trans-Canada Highway. Groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McLeish, 3140 Metchoin Road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of nylon organza over taffeta, styled with a full skirt and front panel of Chantilly lace. Sleeves of the lace bodice ended in lily points. Sequins shimmered on the sabrina neckline. A coronet of crystals and seed pearls held the four-tier waist-length veil of nylon net that had edging of scallops. Red roses and white feathered carnations were in the cascade bouquet. For "something old," the bride had in her shoe, an 1859 penny belonging to her mother.

Maid of honor, Miss Sharon Taylor wore a sheath gown of turquoise blue silk organza over taffeta and a toning flowered pill box, trimmed with veiling. Similar ensembles in yellow were choice of bridesmaids, the Misses Peg Wheelton and Arleigh McLeish.

Kelly Maycock, niece of the bride, was flower girl in a frock of yellow nylon over taffeta, highlighted with lace.

She wore a coronet of matching flowers and veiling.

Senior attendants carried bouquets of yellow and turquoise carnations while the flower girl carried a basket of feathered carnations in similar tones.

Roger McLeish was best man for his brother and ushering guests were Len Maycock and Jim Fyle.

Gerry Ingles' orchestra played for dancing at a reception which followed in Holyrood House. Chester Taylor, Duncan, proposed the toast to the bride.

Red roses and silver candelabra flanked the three-tier wedding cake on the head table.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a pink Italian knit suit, matching hat and black patent accessories. Corsage was of white roses and pink feathered carnations.

On return from a honeymoon trip to the interior, newlyweds will make their home at 3008 Hull Road at Glen Lake.

IT IS NOT TOO SOON

to start thinking about the fall school term and your children's eyes. Probably the greatest single cause of inefficient school work is faulty vision. Now is the time to have an eye examination and, if glasses are required, bring the prescription to one of our offices. You'll be glad you did.

U.S. Cattlemen Ask Canada Beef Quotas

WASHINGTON (CP)—A cloud originally no bigger than a hamburger patty has arisen on the United States agriculture department's horizon. It has Canadian ramifications too.

The issue is beef and partly—the weight it has in a U.S. election year.

On one hand, despite a big beef population, the government has been doing its best to keep prices up. The prices have done pretty well too after a fall of nearly $4 a hundred pounds for choice steers last year.

Prices have revived by about $3 a hundred since then.

But there is also a possibility still that the U.S. cattlemen's lobby will succeed, despite administration pressure, in having firm quotas imposed on beef imports.

This wouldn't affect Canada as much as it would Australia, Argentina, Mexico and some other countries. Canadian beef exports to the U.S. are mainly live—and thus exempt from the proposed bill. Sales of beef, veal and mutton from other countries have ranged from 10,000,000 to 50,000,000 pounds annually in the past.

The beef quota bill originated as a Senate amendment tacked to a minor legislative item and now is before a congressional committee, where the administration hopes it will die. If it passes it would, for one thing, strike a blow at the U.S. demands for broad tariff cuts internationally.

Agriculture Secretary Freeman in a recent speech to a cattlemen's group outlined a few of the things the government has done to attempt to keep up beef prices.

It has sunk $93,000,000 since March in 155,000,000 pounds of beef more than it usually buys under the so-called school lunch program. In this operation, the federal government stands ready to purchase everything from peanuts to tart red cherries for school lunches.

The government is exporting $16,000,000 worth of beef for international aid. Trade officials abroad have been sent scurrying for beef export markets.

Most important, it has arranged voluntary import quotas with Australia and other countries, but these may be replaced with legislative mandatory curbs if the cattlemen win.

Esquimalt Sub Aids Mid-Pacific Rescue

12 Rescued From Rafts

A U.S. seaman suffering from second-degree burns when a deep-sea tug burned in the Pacific today was given emergency treatment by a sick bay attendant aboard HMCS Grilse.

The Esquimalt-based sub was first to arrive on the scene after U.S. Coast Guard aircraft pinpointed the location of the tug's 12 survivors in two rubber rafts.

The injured seaman was to receive further medical treatment from a navy doctor aboard one of seven RCN ocean escorts shortly after noon today.

The Grilse and HMCS Beacon Hill, Antigonish, Ste. Therese, Sussexville, Stettler, New Glasgow and Jonquiere were en route to Victoria following a month-long training cruise to Hawaiian waters.

The Pacific Command ships were requested to speed to the scene at 12:30 a.m. today by the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Ponchartrain.

They were diverted 160 miles off their intended course.

FLEW CIRCLES

The Coast Guard planes wove protective circles over the 12 men who took to life rafts when fire swept the tug Sea Wolf halfway between San Francisco and Honolulu.

Two Coast Guard cutters as well as the RCN ships and two luxury liners were steaming to the scene.

Reports from C130 planes circling the life rafts said the sea was relatively calm and visibility good.

The Sea Wolf was bound from Portland to Honolulu with a lumber barge in tow when the fire broke out.

The tug was blazing when the first plane reached the scene but the flames were extinguished a short time later, the spokesman said.

FATE UNKNOWN

The fate of the tugboat and barge was not immediately known.

The latest rescue plane message to Coast Guard headquarters in San Francisco said: "Twelve men all accounted for. One man second degree burns on arms and feet. Men in two rafts, well provisioned. The plane dropped another raft and emergency radio equipment."

The coast guard cutters were on patrol about 200 miles from the Sea Wolf when they received its SOS around midnight.

"Mayday, Mayday. Fire on board, fire on board," the message said. "Fuel caught fire, cannot stay on board much longer, position approximately 1,220 miles northeast of Honolulu."

The coast guard said it had put out calls to any merchant vessels which might be in the vicinity, but there had been no answers.

The luxury liners President Roosevelt and Lurline changed course to aid the crewmen.

The first plane over the burning tug spotted the crewmen waving flares from the dark waters.

The coast guard said the Sea Wolf belonged to the Red Stack towboat company of San Francisco.

Big Rebel Drive In Congo

By ROBIN MANNOK

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — Communist-backed rebel forces are stepping up their bid to win control of the turbulent Congo as U.S. planes begin ferrying hard-pressed government troops to trouble spots.

Rebel forces advanced Friday to within 12 miles of Bukavu, the capital of central Kivu province.

In the west, Peking-trained Pierre Mulele's warriors came within 20 miles south of Kikwit in Kwilu province. His forces total more than 2,000 men, reports said.

The rebel thrusts came as four U.S. C-130 planes took off on their first missions to aid the shaky government army. More than 100 Americans, including 40 paratroopers, arrived Friday.

SIX REBELS KILLED

A military source said one of the four U.S. cargo planes flew to Bukavu, where six rebels were reported killed and several others captured.

Scanty reports from the rebel-held northern city of Stanleyville said rebel leader Gaston Soumialot had reached Kindu, the capital of Maniema province.

The paratroopers are the first foreign soldiers officially in the former Belgian territory since the United Nations withdrew its force last June 30. U.S. embassy officials said the men were sent to the Congo only to guard the transport planes and ride U.S. helicopters on rescue and support missions.

U.S. officials reported 22 Communist Chinese at the Chinese embassy in neighboring Bulumba, Burundi, and 15 at the Communist embassy in Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo. The officials also said there were increasing signs of Chinese propaganda in the Congo such as guerrilla warfare books in the Bukavu area printed in Communist China.

PGE Officials Man Trains In 'Walkout'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Pacific Great Eastern trains, a passenger and a freight, left on schedule today, apparently with supervisory personnel at the controls.

Fifty employees of the British Columbia government-owned railway that runs from here to Fort St. John announced Friday night a "temporary absence from duty" to protest what they called unfair labor practices.

PGE officials could not be contacted today but reports indicated the trains today were manned by supervisory personnel when the regular crews did not show.

Blockades 'Barbaric' Say Turks

NICOSIA (UPI) — Turkish Cypriot leader Fazil Kuchuk appealed to world governments today for "drastic concrete measures" to break Greek Cypriot blockades he charged were designed "to starve the Turkish Cypriots to death."

The head of the Turkish Cypriot minority on this Mediterranean Island denounced the blockades as "brutal" and "barbaric." He said counter-measures were necessary "if the world is to be saved from catastrophic international consequences."

Kuchuk said 25,000 Turkish Cypriots were homeless following the destruction of 25 villages and extensive damage to 40 others by Greek Cypriot forces. He said 30,000 other Turkish Cypriots were dependent on relief because all means of earning a living were denied them.

He said the Greek Cypriot blockade had been "total" since Aug. 5—the day the Greek Cypriot guerrillas launched their offensive in northwest Cyprus which caused the Turkish air force to attack the region last weekend.

(In Ankara, a Turkish foreign ministry spokesman said Turkey had asked Greece to use its influence on Cyprus President Makarios to get food, water and medical supplies to the blockaded Turkish Cypriots.)

Under their union contract the men have the right to book off work as being unfit for duty.

Many employees did this last year on the day of the funeral of a conductor who was killed in a derailment about 30 miles north of here. At that time there was a statement the previous night saying the men were dissatisfied with safety conditions. Trains were run by supervisory personnel and some trains were cancelled.

The men at Friday night's meeting declined to give their names. They said in the statement:

"A temporary absence from duty by train crews is currently taking place on the PGE. This is occurring due to a general dissatisfaction with unfair labor practices used by the company's officers."

"These practices have occurred with such frequency that the only feasible method of coping with a situation rapidly getting beyond control was temporary absence from duty."

UNJUST DISMISSALS

"One result of these unfair labor practices, which includes the tolerance of unsafe conditions, has been unjust dismissal of a number of men."

"The men are willing and anxious to work and will do so as soon as assurance is given that these unfair practices and inconsiderate dismissals will cease forthwith."

Hydro Chief Rapped For 'Politics' Charge

By LES MILLIN

B.C. Hydro co-chairman Gordon Shrum was told today to stay out of politics and look after his corporation.

Mayor William Rathie of Vancouver, in an interview with The Times, denied flatly an accusation by Dr. Shrum that municipal leaders are trying to stall bus-fare increases until after December municipal elections.

He also expressed scepticism about Dr. Shrum's offer to supply transit figures.

"It took B.C. Hydro two and a half years to apply for the increase, when they had all the facts and figures."

PHONE INTERVIEW
"Now they expect the municipalities to make up their minds in two or three weeks," he said in a telephone interview.

"Dr. Shrum should keep his cotton-picking fingers out of politics. He's running a hydro system."

B.C. Hydro has applied to boost cash fares from 13 cents here to 25 cents.

Greater Vancouver and Greater Victoria municipalities are trying to delay the Public Utilities Commission hearings on the application.

ASK FOR TIME
They plan to ask for time to conduct a $50,000 transit survey of both areas—a move Dr. Shrum calls unnecessary because B.C. Hydro can supply all the facts needed.

ROCK BURSTS DIM HOPES FOR MINERS

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (UPI) — New upheavals at the wrecked 4,000-foot level today stalled efforts to reach two men trapped and believed killed when rock bursts collapsed part of a gold mine.

The latest burst came while rescue teams prepared to dig through to the miners.

The victims, among 65 men working in the mill-deep mine when the first burst came Friday night, were Donald Yaworski, a 45-year-old widower with three children; and Edouard Dechesne, 35, who is married and has no children.

Sharing of Command In War on Viet Cong

SAIGON (Reuters) — United States and South Vietnamese officials today were working on establishment of what amounts to a joint U.S.-South Viet Nam military command to direct the war against the Communist Viet Cong, reliable military sources said.

The sources said American officers will have virtual parity with the South Vietnamese in making tactical decisions, instead of merely advising, as in the past.

The new relationship between Americans and South Vietnamese will not mean that Americans give orders to South Vietnamese forces, the sources said.

"But the Vietnamese won't be able to reject American advice outright," they added. "There will be a sharing of command."

000 FLEE Royal York Emptied By Fire

TORONTO (CP) — Football players, a nightclub singer and an actress were among 800 guests evacuated into the lobby and out onto the street when fire broke out on the sixth floor of the Royal York Hotel early today.

Jim Trimble, coach of Montreal Alouettes, and his club, who are here to meet Toronto Argonauts tonight to decide the Eastern Football Conference leadership, were staying at the hotel, at Front and York Streets in downtown Toronto. Also on the guest list were Dorothy Dandridge, a nightclub singer, and actress Sherree North.

Four persons were taken to hospital for treatment and released shortly after.

Damage was confined to about four rooms. All 22 floors in the building were smoke-filled.

The hotel, largest in the Commonwealth, has more than 100 suites and 1,600 bedrooms.

Mrs. Frances Fitzgerald of Middleton, N.S., fractured her ankle when she fell from a line of bedclothes from her room to the roof of the main mezzanine, 11 feet below. She and her husband, Peter, were taken from the roof by aerial ladder and sent to hospital.

TRAINERS OVERCOME

Montreal Alouette trainer Guy Girardeau, overcome by smoke when he knocked on doors to arouse guests, was treated for smoke inhalation at hospital and released.

Guests streamed down to the lobby and to the street shortly after the alarm was sounded at 2:30 a.m. Some slid down bedsheets to the street, climbed down fire ladders or formed human chains and groped their way through smoke-filled corridors.

B.C. Alert For Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia police were alerted today to watch for a man wanted for questioning about a Toronto bank holdup. The alert is the third in the province in the last few days. RCMP in Kamloops are checking tips that two of Canada's most wanted men are in the area.

The third man was seen earlier this week in the Peace River district of Alberta, is believed armed and in a car with Ontario licence plates.

"If he was seen in Alberta he must be heading for your area," a Toronto metropolitan police spokesman said in a telephone interview.

Top Winners Chosen In Snapshot Contest

Judging takes place today to pick the four lucky winners of the Times' snapshot contest to be entered in the national competition.

Names of the winners—one in each section—will be announced on Tuesday.

"So if you have already had a winning picture during the six weeks the contest has been running, look for your name."

The lucky four will each receive $25. Their snaps, together with the untouched negatives will then be put forward for the national contest.

Make sure you can produce these negatives, together with the consent of any identifiable persons on your winning snap.

If you cannot do so then you will not be eligible.

VICTORIA, B.C., SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1964—PAGE 19

Arthur Mayse

We come now to the day when we sweep up shop, set the mousetraps, and turn the key in the door. I hate no end to leave you, but the management insists that even columnists must take holidays like everyone else, and I do have a responsibility to certain fish at present finning untrammelled in sea and stream.

Anyway, we're in pretty bad shape here. The other day, I had to use my spare column.

That hurt. For months it had been my umbrella, or perhaps we should say trenchcoat, for a rainy day. It was my ace up the sleeve, my insurance against calamity. On many a rough morning I comforted myself that even though the roof might fall in, business would proceed as usual in this corner.

Several times I committed it to the printers. On each occasion, I was able to come up with a fast notion far enough ahead of deadline to snatch my spare column back.

Then welcome but unexpected visitors stopped by, my car developed an acute case of gallstones, and between one thing and another, the presses were growling before I could give thought to rescuing my precious spare.

I'll write another, of course; maybe even next week, if the fish don't pester too much. If it rains steady—and there's a certain drizzle-puss in a white tower atop Gonzales who will see that it does—I might even gun out a whole half-dozen layaway screeds.

But right now I feel kind of orphaned, and until my spare column is in the bag, my safest spot is out among the fish.

First, though, we have a matter to dispose of.

For days I have been haunted by the plight of a bluff and hearty writer to the Times, a Freeman of the Cinque Port and Town of Dover, England, who enjoys our city but suggests in the kindest possible manner that we tend to ignore one of humanity's basic needs.

He's a long way from Dover, and he can't find the public plumbing.

Neither can most Victorians, since the one such depot now open to the hard-pressed wayfarer is, I've been told, cleverly concealed in the lee of a garage at the start of the Causeway. There was another one, up by the city hall, but time and change have swept it into limbo.

True, Beacon Hill Park offers a haven. But it's a long sprint from downtown Victoria to that shady retreat.

We should do something about this situation, and fast. The bold among us think nothing of commandeering washroom privileges at restaurant or service station. Not so the average unaggressive guest or citizen. What he does is save face by purchasing gas his car doesn't require, or coffee which, heaven help him, he needs even less.

That other Victorians share my indignation at this woeful breach of civic hospitality is borne out by the following letter from a gent who would as soon not be identified.

"When I first arrived in Victoria," he writes, "I asked a policeman where I could find a rest room. He directed me to a department store, which was convenient at the time. However, these stores are not open on Sundays and holidays, when many tourists visit Victoria for a day.

"My suggestion would be to put a notice on all ferries coming to Victoria or Swartz Bay, telling visitors to take full advantage of the conveniences on these boats before landing. This in order to save possible future embarrassment."

I am tempted to further this excellent and humane idea by working out a sample sign, perhaps topped by a grim black warning: "Now or Never!"

But we're running out of time here; and so, I suspect, is our unfortunate Freeman of the Cinque Port and Town of Dover.

We can but trust he makes it back to civilization with his own plumbing intact.

A note on the Cinque ports. The original five—Dover, Hastings, Romney, Hythe and Sandwich—were organized about the time of the Norman conquest as suppliers of men and ships to the Crown.

In return they were granted various exemptions and privileges. Even though these have passed from fact into tradition, the Cinque ports and others later so designated continue to wear their title proudly.

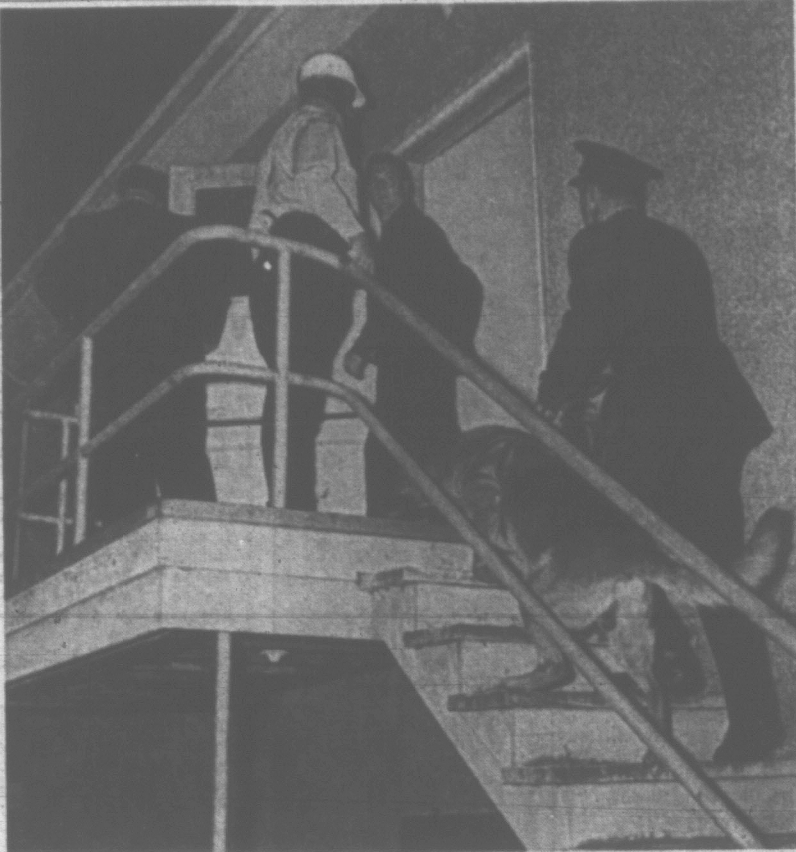

That's it for three weeks, and since there's no harm in hoping, may the sun shine on all of us!

Weekend Skies Promising —Almost—If—Perhaps—

Weekend weather looks almost promising. Forecaster William Mackie said today a few showers will sprinkle over Victoria tonight and early Sunday but skies will be clearing by afternoon.

Shower trouble is caused by a weather system centred over the Island's north coast which extends over all B.C. southern coastal areas and into Washington.

Temperatures will range from an overnight low of 50 degrees to a high of 70 Sunday. Winds will come from the west at 15 m.p.h.

EAGER DOG RAIDS SHOW

Police dog Mountie bounds up the steps at White Eagle Hall in raid on stag party Friday night. Door at top led to stage where stripper was performing. Raid was carried out so quickly that the stripper didn't know police had arrived until one stepped on stage and tapped her on her naked shoulder. Dog was used to control crowd. (Bill Halkett photo.)

ON SHARED-COST BASIS

Laing Urges B.C., Ottawa To Preserve 'Craigflower'

Preservation of Victoria's historic Craigflower Manor (which dates from 1853) on a shared-cost basis between the federal and B.C. governments will be recommended by Resources Minister Arthur Laing when he returns to Ottawa next week.

Mr. Laing—former leader of the B.C. Liberal party—toured Craigflower Manor this morning in company with Victoria MP David Groos, Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace and provincial archivist Willard Ireland.

He examined the walls and ceilings, inquired into the value of adjacent property and said:

"This is one of Canada's landmarks. It should be preserved and I shall recommend to the federal treasury board that it be restored and preserved on a shared-cost basis between the federal and B.C. governments."

TO B.C. TOO

Mr. Wallace said he will make a similar recommendation to the B.C. cabinet.

Mr. Laing and Mr. Wallace agreed that the approach to Craigflower Manor should be extended to the Island Highway, with purchase of a drive-in restaurant intervening.

There is an apartment block flanking the old farmhouse, but Mr. Laing said this could be effectively screened off to preserve the historic atmosphere of the precinct—one of four farms once operated by the Puget Sound Agricultural Company (a subsidiary of the Hudson's Bay Company).

'ATMOSPHERE'

"This old place is full of atmosphere," commented Mr. Laing as he was shown over the premises by Mrs. G. A. Thompson, attractively gowned in a 19th century crinoline.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are the present owners of Craigflower Manor, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wally Fletcher.

"We lose many tourists because the house is concealed by modern properties," Mrs. Thompson told Mr. Laing.

Two Strippers, Club Fined for Stag Show

Beer Bottles Fly In Surprise Raid

By DESMOND BILL

City police raided a stag party Friday night while a stripper was putting on a show for between 200 and 300 men.

The enraged crowd threw beer bottles at police when they appeared on stage and hauled the girl off into the wings.

There was almost a riot at the White Eagle Hall, 90 Dock Street, when police burst in through the doors at 11 o'clock after the show had been going for two hours.

Order was only restored when a member of the Jokers Lacrosse Club, which sponsored the show, told the crowd that none of them was to be arrested.

But one man jumped out a window to escape immediately he saw police come in and a large number milled around outside for an hour before being dispersed.

Police arrested Margaret Johnson, 24, of 1425 Harvard Street, Seattle, while she was doing her act. In the dressing room they found Jacqueline Illman, 21, of 2031 Southeast Ashkeny, Portland, who had completed her performance before the raid.

Both women appeared in court this morning, pleaded guilty to being inmates of a common bawdy house and each was fined $75.

WON'T BE BACK

Lawyer Ian Stewart, who represented them, told Magistrate J. A. Byers that they were returning home this afternoon "and in all likelihood will never be back in this area."

The lacrosse club was represented in court by A. J. Vickery, 3217 Aldridge, who was fined $100 for operating the show. The official charge against him was that of being keeper of a bawdy house.

Detective-Sergeant Bill Andrews said that if it had not been for Vickery pacifying the crowd "some policemen might have been seriously injured."

Mr. Stewart, counsel for Vickery, said the club was operating the show to raise money for "social and recreational purposes" and there was no suggestion it was for personal profit.

PAID $100

Evidence by Det.-Sgt. Andrews showed the strippers were each paid $100 for their performance. One of them, when booked at the police station after the raid, gave her occupation as "exotic dancer."

Seventeen policemen accompanied by the police dog Mountie carried out the raid. Police rushed up, covered all the exits, and barged in without warning.

The stripper doing her act did not even know of the raid until a policeman tapped her on the shoulder as she stood in the middle of the stage.

The crowd started booing and then began to fling beer bottles at police as they ducked into the wings of the stage.

Vickery yelled at the audience, "Take it easy. Just take it easy."

a second. There's going to be no arrests. If you all just leave in an orderly way there'll be no trouble."

The raid was over and most of the men had gone when two vans arrived on the scene with food that had been ordered for the party. The caterer asked police what he should do and was told he could do anything he wanted.

He then distributed chicken-in-a-basket to the people who were still around and they sat on the sidewalk eating it under the eyes of police patrolling the place.

PASSMORE

... 'we had no idea'

Saanich Irate At Colquitz Prison Plans

Saanich councillors hit the roof this morning when told the old Colquitz mental home will be used as a jail indefinitely.

"We were assured by the government it was only a temporary measure, six months at the most," stormed Coun. Leslie Passmore.

"We had no idea it would be extended."

UP IN ARMS

Residents around the Wilkinson Road institution are "up in arms about it, I can assure you," said Coun. Joseph Casey.

"I don't think people should make promises, then break them a few months later," he said.

"That's not playing the game at all."

A-G'S DECISION

"But it's strictly the decision of the attorney-general. There's not much we can do about it."

News that the Colquitz minimum security institution would be continued as such for a lot longer than the six months originally planned came from the attorney-general's department on Friday.

The same source confirmed that a 1,000-acre tract has been obtained for a medium security jail at Saltair, between Ladysmith and Chemainus.

PLANS COMPLETE

This is the institution that was to replace the Colquitz jail. Plans have been completed and tenders will be called soon, said a department source.

But there is no indication when it will be finished—and until then, Saanich has a jail in its midst.

"Council generally didn't like the idea when it was announced," said Coun. Passmore, "but we were given assurance it was only going to be temporary."

"Council could decide to pass a motion of rejection of the idea at Monday night's council meeting," he said.

"The problem is that what the attorney-general says goes."

In February, Health Minister Eric Martin said a home for retarded children would be built on the 30-acre Wilkinson Road site.

He said facilities for emotionally disturbed and psychotic children would also be included, and the plan was hailed by workers in the mental health field here.

CRUMPETS TITILLATE TOURISTS

Si and Jean Feely of Portland, Ore., were selected this morning as Victoria Jaycees' "tourists of the week."

Mrs. Feely was anxious to get a taste of the city's English atmosphere and try some tea and crumpets. The couple is considering a trip to England in the fall.

They were the guests of Capt. Don Oldow on the bridge of My Coho on their trip here from Port Angeles.

They will receive a souvenir of the city, have dinner, attend a variety show at a local theatre and go on a tour of Victoria's harbor.

Entertainment, meals and lodging is provided free to Jaycees' "tourists of the week" by local merchants.

TOPICS of the DAY

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre has found that the drowning death of a five-year-old Winnipeg child in Oak Bay this week was the result of an accident.

Alan Cross was found drowned in a crock of water in the garden of his grandparents' home at 2835 Tod. An inquest will not be held.

Fifi the skunk is still at large. The deodorized pet of Pat and Nancy McLoughlin, 1180 Rock Street, Fifi went missing last week.

The only lead so far has been a telephone call at Mr. McLoughlin's office. A man said he had the skunk at his home, then hung up. The address turned out to be false.

Fifi is believed to be in the Playfair Park area.

A man was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital just before noon today after his car plunged 60 feet off a bridge at Douglas and Carey on to the railway tracks.

Saanich police have not released his name. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

Police said the man's car came out of Carey Road onto Douglas out of control, and crossed to the wrong side.

It smashed down a barricade and slid behind the bridge's concrete abutment, then slid down a bank to the tracks.

When police arrived, the driver was bleeding profusely.

An inquest will be held into the death of Arthur Mahoney, 56, of the Yates Hotel, who died after a fall at the Fairfield Hotel last week.

It will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Sands Mortuary, 1803 Quadra.

NO BOUNTIES—AND NO WILD HORSES

Campaign to Save B.C. Wild Horses? Haw!

By JIM BIGSBY

A crusade to create a sanctuary for B.C.'s wild horses has received more of a "haw" than a "gee" from provincial officials.

The horses galloped into prominence recently with the publication of a pamphlet issued by the Committee for the Preservation of Wild Horses in Canada.

The pamphlet charged that herds of wild horses in the B.C. interior were in danger of becoming extinct.

It said that the provincial government encouraged this by offering up to $150 bounty for the capture or slaughter of the animals, and suggested that some area in the interior be set aside as a permanent sanctuary.

But B.C. grazing commissioner Wilfred Pendray said there were neither wild horses nor bounties.

"The whole thing is unrealistic. We simply don't have wild horses in B.C."

"We do have abandoned domestic animals and when we have too many we round them up."

Most of the captured horses are redeemed by their owners. The remainder are handed over to the captors as part payment.

Of these unredeemed horses—46 in the winter of 1962-63—many became pack horses and the like.

Those in poor condition join other old horses from dude ranches, riding clubs and farms and are sent to slaughterhouses in B.C. and the United States.

"This kind of shocks these super-romanticists to whom a horse is God on Earth which must be kept in super-comfort until it dies a natural death," said Mr. Pendray.

There is no bounty offered, he said, although a subsidy of about $5 is sometimes given when a horse is of such poor quality that its value would not cover the shipping expenses to the slaughterhouse.

And when a round-up is scheduled all non-departmental personnel are paid on the basis of how many horses they catch. This was the only efficient way to handle the taxpayer's dollar, he said.

As for a sanctuary, he likened the idea to a sanctuary for dogs which had become wild.

"You preserve them only by feeding and care which makes them domesticated again."

"Horses just aren't native to B.C. They came with the white man."

In fact even the so-called "wild" horses of the central United States are descendants of horses brought from Europe by man, dating right back to the 16th-century Spanish horse-soldiers who were the first to set hoof on the Americas.

Unlike the B.C. horses which have nearly all been domestic animals at one point in their lives, some of the U.S. "mustangs" are the offspring of several generations of horses which have roamed wild.

HYDRO PROJECTS

Foreign Companies Will Bid

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction companies in Europe, the Orient, the United States and Canada have expressed interest in the multi-million-dollar projects planned by British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority.

The jobs are construction of the Duncan Lake dam, the first of three to be built in Canada under the international Columbia River project; construction of a water supply to feed a pulp mill during construction of another dam; access tunnels for the Peace River project powerhouse and 200 miles of powerline towers from the Peace River.

The hydro authority has declined to give estimated costs for the projects for fear of influencing the bidding. But the Duncan Lake dam has been reported in the past costing around $33,000,000.

The Kiewit-Dawson-Johnson consortium building the $73,000,000 Peace River dam is interested in the access tunnels for the power house.

At the same time the three companies in consortium, Peter Kiewit Son Company of Canada Ltd., Dawson Construction Ltd. and Al Johnson Construction Company of Canada Ltd., have taken out specifications on the Duncan dam.

It is reported that members of the construction industry feel that the three companies will not form another consortium to bid on Duncan Lake.

Japanese and Italian firms are reported interested in the towers as well as North American companies. Bidders will design their own towers and hydro will pick the best tower on a cost and design basis.

The water supply is for the Celgar pulp mill at Castlegar, below the Arrow dam, second of the Columbia dams. It is estimated to cost $2,000,000.

Tenders will be called Sept. 15 for the Duncan Lake dam; Aug. 27 for the powerhouse tunnels; Oct. 5 for the transmission towers.

Economic Boom Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic boom in the United States passed new milestones last month as factory production scored an 11th consecutive advance and the government reported a breakthrough in the fight against unemployment.

Industrial production for July was 5 1/2 per cent higher than a year ago and stood at 132.7 on the Federal Reserve Board's index of factory and mine output that uses 1957 as the 1957-58 period as a base.

The labor department, analyzing employment and unemployment figures for the first seven months of 1964, reported that employment during the period averaged 1,600,000 above 1953 levels. At the same time the labor force increased by an average of only 1,400,000.

"Recent improvements appear to have broken the 10-year upward trend in unemployment," the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics concluded.

Last week, the bureau had put the July jobless rate at a seasonally adjusted figure of 4.9 per cent—the first time in 4 1/2 years the rate dropped below 5 per cent.

The average unemployment rate for the first seven months of 1964, the bureau said, was 5.3 per cent, compared with 5.7 per cent during the same period last year.

Sheep Creek Shares Bid By Guaranty

TORONTO (CP) — Guaranty Trust Co. has offered to buy 800,000 shares of Sheep Creek Mines Ltd. on behalf of an unnamed party for $1.25 a share.

The offer expires Aug. 27 or before if 800,000 shares are received, and will not be binding unless 800,000 are received.

Sheep Creek owns a base-metal property near Invermere, B.C., with a mill that produced at the rate of 582 tons daily in 1963.

The stock reached a 1964 high of $1.35 and a low of $1.05 on the Toronto Stock Exchange, and by noon Friday had climbed seven cents to $1.27 on volume of 2,700 shares.

J. R. Pyper of Kamloops, B.C., president of Sheep Creek, said the men bidding for effective control were J. P. Sheridan, president of Vauze Mines Ltd. of Quebec, and G. Duff, secretary-treasurer of Vauze.

The offer would be considered at the annual meeting in Vancouver Aug. 28 but "I don't think the shareholders will entertain this idea," said Mr. Pyper.

THE WINDOW FRAMES of the new city hall in Toronto give a honeycomb effect as Mayor Philip Givens and Metro Toronto Chairman William Allen study the building.

Western Mines Winds Up Financing for Production

VANCOUVER (CP) — An agreement is approaching on the multi-million dollar financing of production and concentrate marketing for Western Mines Ltd.

The company, with a gold-silver-copper-lead-zinc property at Butte Lake on Vancouver Island said Friday it expects to make full disclosure of its plans in the "very near future."

Negotiations are still underway and "proceeding very favorably," the company announced after the stock market closed.

It is the first indication that the company is negotiating a specific financing deal.

"As soon as financing is completed, the production program which has now been completely worked out, will be immediately instituted," a company statement said.

Harold M. Wright, company president, said in June it would cost $7,000,000 to put the property into production. Plans included a 750-ton-a-day mill.

Friday's statement said diamond drilling is continuing with excellent results.

MANAGER NAMED

Charles M. Campbell, Jr., has been appointed general manager, effective Sept. 15, it was announced.

With headquarters in Vancouver, he will co-ordinate the plans to bring the island property into production.

Gordon H. McDougall will continue as mine manager.

Mr. Campbell has been resident manager of Bralorne Pioneer Mines Ltd., as well as a director and vice-president of the company. He has also had wide experience in Quebec, Ontario and B.C.

James S. Thomson succeeds Mr. Campbell at Bralorne Pioneer. He has been appointed manager of mines and will have charge of all the company's mining activities. Until now he has been general superintendent.

Growers Wine Plans Plant At Moose Jaw

Vancouver (CP) — Growers Wine Company Ltd., plans to start a winery in Moose Jaw, Sask., it was announced Friday.

President E. C. Warner said the winery will be the first in Saskatchewan and will be part of the industrial development program announced by Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher.

He said he will head a new company, to be called Growers Wine Company of Saskatchewan Ltd. Vice-president would be Brian Roberts of Victoria. Directors would be Saskatchewan businessmen.

About $100,000 would be spent this year to buy or rebuild a suitable location. Total investment could reach $500,000.

Growers recently established an Alberta subsidiary which would begin crushing grapes Oct. 1. The Saskatchewan company was part of a program to make growers a national company.

Both prairie companies would use a high percentage of B.C. grapes.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Blue Chips Hold Major Interest

By GORDON GRANT

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Investors preferred blue-chip issues on Canadian stock markets this week, ignoring the speculative mines.

There was some uncertainty early in the week with investors fearing trouble could flare in the international hot spots. By mid-week, the situation cooled and the markets advanced.

The Canadian economy continued to roll ahead with steel production and the construction industry maintaining their upward progress.

Producer mines were boosted as the price of copper increased sharply. Two African producers suspended shipments because of a rail strike.

Rising profits were a spur for industrials. Improvement was shown by CPR, Reichhold Chemical, Alcan, Canadian Superior Oil and Lake Ontario Portland Cement.

BANKS UP

In banks, Imperial Commerce and Toronto-Dominion touched highs.

In oils, Superpetrol Ordinary gained 2 1/2 to 21 and sold as high as 23 on rumors of a takeover offer.

CPR led utilities, gaining 2 1/2 to 47 1/2. Quebec Natural Gas was a standout in gas distributors while in pipelines Alberta Gas and Interprovincial were well ahead.

Chrysler gained 3 to 58 in motors. Production in the industry is at a standstill for 1965 retooling.

In steels, Algoma gained 1 1/2 to 74.

Senior mining issues were led by Falconbridge, which gained 4 1/2 to 76 1/2.

International Nickel gained 2 1/2 to 85 1/2 and Cominco 1 to 37 1/2.

In speculative mines, Raglan, with nickel-copper property in the Quebec Ungava sagged to $1.73 from $2.87 on word it encountered low-grade ore. It closed the week with a 70-cent loss at $2.15.

Windfall dipped 15 cents to 62

cents. It collapsed from $5.60.

In Western oils, Lands was up $1.30 to $3.25. National Petroleum, Canadian Homestead, Hudson's Bay, Husky and Medallion were all stronger.

PACIFIC RESCUE SAVES 12

FINAL ★★★★★ BULLETINS

Tally-Ho Horses Break Loose

Four horses broke loose from a Tally-Ho rig as it pulled in to the side of the road at Belleville and Government at 2 p.m. today.

A new horse in the team apparently was frightened and went up on the sidewalk, tipping the rig against a telephone pole. In the tangle the four horses broke their reins and the new horse ran down Belleville to Douglas.

Two other horses remained where they were.

The third was caught a short distance away.

The fourth was picked up at Blanshard and Yates about five minutes later. None of the passengers or horses was injured.

Knudson Wins CPGA Title

HALIFAX (CP)—George Knudson of Toronto won the 54-hole Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship today with a tournament record score of 199.

Toronto's Al Balding, defending champ, and Alvie Thompson of Whitevale Ont., finished the 54-hole tournament with three-under-par 201s to tie for second spot.

Air Canada Jetliner Turned Back

LONDON (Reuters)—An Air Canada DC-8 jet, carrying more than 100 passengers, made a safe landing at London Airport today when engine trouble forced it to turn back soon after taking off for Toronto.

Fire trucks, emergency vehicles and ambulances lined the main runway as the airliner touched down, using only three of its four engines. It was expected the passengers would be delayed here overnight.

IN 'WALKOUT'

PGE Officials Man Trains

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Pacific Great Eastern trains, a passenger and a freight, left on schedule today, apparently with supervisory personnel at the controls.

Fifty employees of the British Columbia government-owned railway that runs from here to Port St. John announced Friday night a "temporary absence from duty" to protest what they called unfair labor practices.

PGE officials could not be contacted today but reports indicated the trains today were manned by supervisory personnel when the regular crews did not show.

In a statement after a meeting Friday night, the train crews said the absence from duty will end as soon as there are assurances that the unfair practices and "inconsiderate dismissals" of employees ceased.

NOT SPELLED OUT

The men did not spell out precisely what the "unfair labor practices" were.

Under their union contract the men have the right to book off work as being unfit for duty.

Many employees did this last year on the day of the funeral of a conductor who was killed in a derailment about 30 miles north of here. At that time there was a statement the previous night saying the men were dissatisfied with safety conditions. Trains were run by supervisory personnel and some trains were cancelled.

The men at Friday night's meeting declined to give their names. They said in the statement.

"A temporary absence from duty by train crews is currently taking place on the PGE. This is occurring due to a general dissatisfaction with unfair labor practices used by the company's officials."

"These practices have occurred with such frequency that the only feasible method of coping with a situation rapidly getting beyond control was temporary absence from duty."

UNJUST DISMISSALS

"One result of these unfair labor practices, which includes the tolerance of unsafe conditions, has been unjust dismissal of a number of men."

"The men are willing and anxious to work and will do so as soon as assurance is given that these unfair practices and inconsiderate dismissals will cease forthwith."

Blockades 'Barbaric' Say Turks

NICOSIA (UPI)—Turkish Cypriot leader Fazil Kuchuk appealed to world governments today for "drastic concrete measures" to break Greek Cypriot blockades he charged were designed "to starve the Turkish Cypriots to death."

The head of the Turkish Cypriot minority on this Mediterranean island denounced the blockades as "brutal" and "barbaric." He said counter-measures were necessary "if the world is to be saved from catastrophic international consequences."

Kuchuk said 25,000 Turkish Cypriots were homeless following the destruction of 25 villages and extensive damage to 40 others by Greek Cypriot forces. He said 30,000 other Turkish Cypriots were dependent on relief because all means of earning a living were denied them.

He said the Greek Cypriot blockade had been "total" since Aug. 5—the day the Greek Cypriot guerrillas launched their offensive in northwest Cyprus which caused the Turkish air force to attack the region last weekend.

Big Rebel Drive In Congo

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Communist-backed rebel forces are stepping up their bid to win control of the turbulent Congo as U.S. planes begin ferrying hard-pressed government troops to trouble spots.

Rebel forces advanced Friday to within 12 miles of Bukavu, the capital of central Kivu province.

In the west, Peking-trained Pierre Mulele's warriors came within 20 miles south of Kikwit in Kwilu province. His forces total more than 2,000 men, reports said.

The rebel thrusts came as four U.S. C-130 planes took off on their first missions to aid the shaky government army. More than 100 Americans, including 40 paratroopers, arrived Friday.

SIX REBELS KILLED

A military source said one of the four U.S. cargo planes flew to Bukavu, where six rebels were reported killed and several others captured.

Scanty reports from the rebel-held northern city of Stanleyville said rebel leader Gaston Soumialot had reached Kindu, the capital of Maniema province.

The paratroopers are the first foreign soldiers officially in the former Belgian territory since the United Nations withdrew its force last June 30. U.S. embassy officials said the men were sent to the Congo only to guard the transport planes and ride U.S. helicopters on rescue and support missions.

U.S. officials reported 22 Communist Chinese at the Chinese embassy in neighboring Burundi, and 15 at the Communist embassy in Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo. The officials also said there were increasing signs of Chinese propaganda in the Congo such as guerrilla warfare books in the Bukavu area printed in Communist China.

By LES MILLIN

B.C. Hydro co-chairman Gordon Shrum was told today to stay out of politics and look after his corporation.

Mayor William Rathie of Vancouver, in an interview with The Times, denied flatly an accusation by Dr. Shrum that municipal leaders are trying to stall bus-fare increases until after December municipal elections.

ROCK BURSTS DIM HOPES FOR MINERS

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (UPI)—New upheavals at the wrecked 4,000-foot level today stalled efforts to reach two men trapped and believed killed when rock-bursts collapsed part of a gold mine.

The latest burst came while rescue teams prepared to dig through to the miners. The victims, among 65 men working in the first deep mine when the first burst came Friday night, were Donald Yaworski, a 45-year-old widower with three children; and Edouard Dechesne, 55, who is married and has no children.

B.C. Alert For Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia police were alerted today to watch for a man wanted for questioning about a Toronto bank holdup. The alert is the third in the province in the last few days. RCMP in Kamloops are checking tips that two of Canada's most wanted men are in the area.

The third man was seen earlier this week in the Peace River district of Alberta, is believed armed and in a car with Ontario licence plates.

"If he was seen in Alberta he must be heading for your area," a Toronto metropolitan police spokesman said in a telephone interview.

He also expressed scepticism about Dr. Shrum's offer to supply transit figures.

"It took B.C. Hydro two and a half years to apply for the increase, when they had all the facts and figures."

PHONE INTERVIEW

"Now they expect the municipalities to make up their minds in two or three weeks," he said in a telephone interview.

"Dr. Shrum should keep his cotton-picking fingers out of politics. He's running a hydro system."

B.C. Hydro has applied to boost cash fares from 13 cents here to 25 cents.

Greater Vancouver and Greater Victoria municipalities are trying to delay the Public Utilities Commission hearings on the application.

ASK FOR TIME

They plan to ask for time to conduct a $50,000 transit survey of both areas—a move Dr. Shrum calls unnecessary because B.C. Hydro can supply all the facts needed.

"So far we are not satisfied"

Esquimalt Sub First on Scene

A U.S. seaman suffering from second-degree burns when a deep-sea tug-burned in the Pacific was receiving medical attention this afternoon aboard Esquimalt-based HMCS Janguiere.

The seaman, who has not been identified, was taken aboard the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Ponchartrain at noon with the other 11 crew members.

The injured man will be taken to San Francisco aboard the RCN ocean escort.

Capt. D. S. Boyle, commander of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron indicated to naval operations here the other 11 crew members may also go aboard the Canadian ships.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter requested HMCS Grise, the RCN's west coast submarine, to give emergency treatment when it arrived on the scene.

The Grise and HMCS Beacon Hill, Antigonish, Ste. Therese, Sussexvale, Stettler, New Glasgow and Janguiere were en route to Victoria following a month-long cadet training cruise to Hawaiian waters.

RUBBER RAFTS

The Pacific Command ships were requested to speed to the scene at 12:30 a.m. today after U.S. Coast Guard aircraft pinpointed the location of the tug's survivors adrift in two rubber rafts.

The tug sank at 4:30 a.m. and its large barge was cut adrift. The Canadian ships were diverted 160 miles off their intended course.

FLEW CIRCLES

The Coast Guard planes wove protective circles over the 12 men who took to life rafts when fire swept the tug Sea Wolf halfway between San Francisco and Honolulu.

Two Coast Guard cutters as well as the RCN ships and two luxury liners were steaming to the scene.

Reports from C130 planes circling the life rafts said the sea was relatively calm and visibility good.

The Sea Wolf was bound from Portland to Honolulu with a lumber barge in tow when the fire broke out.

The tug was blazing when the first plane reached the scene but the flames were extinguished a short time later, the spokesman said.

FATE UNKNOWN

The fate of the tugboat and barge was not immediately known.

The latest rescue plane message to Coast Guard headquarters in San Francisco said:

"Twelve men all accounted for. One man second degree burns on arms and feet. Men in two rafts, well provisioned. The plane dropped another raft and emergency radio equipment."

The coast guard cutters were on patrol about 200 miles from the Sea Wolf when they received its SOS around midnight.

Royal York Emptied By Fire

TORONTO (CP)—Football players, a nightclub singer and an actress were among 800 guests evacuated into the lobby and out onto the street when fire broke out on the sixth floor of the Royal York Hotel early today.

Jim Trimble, coach of Montreal Alouettes; and his club, who are here to meet Toronto Argonauts tonight to decide the Eastern Football Conference leadership, were staying at the hotel, at Front and York Streets in downtown Toronto. Also on the guest list were Dorothy Dandridge, a nightclub singer, and actress Sheree North.

Four persons were taken to hospital for treatment and released shortly after.

Damage was confined to about four rooms. All 22 floors in the building were smoke-filled.

The hotel, largest in the Commonwealth, has more than 100 suites and 1,600 bedrooms.

Mrs. Frances Fitzgerald of Middleton, N.S., fractured her ankle when she fell from a line of bedclothes from her room to the roof of the main mezzanine, 11 feet below. She and her husband, Peter, were taken from

Top Winners Chosen In Snapshot Contest

Judging takes place today to pick the four lucky winners of the Times snapshot contest to be entered in the national competition.

Names of the winners—one in each section—will be announced on Tuesday.

So if you have already had a winning picture during the six weeks the contest has been running, look for your name.

The lucky four will each receive $25. Their snaps, together with the untouched negatives will then be put forward for the national contest.

Make sure you can produce these negatives, together with the consent of any identifiable persons on your winning snap.

If you cannot do so then you will not be eligible.

Real Mermaids—All in the Round!

DOVER, England (Reuters) The English Channel, which sank the Spanish armada and saw the mighty D-Day invasion, today faced a new challenge — 10 nude British women.

A team of 10 women set off early today to swim the channel in relay clad only in the "topless-bottomless."

It's a measure of our times that when you see a headline, "Rebels on the Attack," you have to read further to see which country.

A rescue at sea is allus excitin'. There's a lot on land e'd do with help too.

Uncle Zeke was proud o' savin' money on his garden water bill this summer — till he got his fuel bill.

Bathing suits were planned only for the start and finish of the crossing. Youngest of the team was 17 and the oldest a 45-year-old grandmother.

They hoped to make the journey to Cap Gris Nez, France, in 10 hours.

The Channel Swimming Association-observer, 76-year-old John Wood, and the team's pilot boatman, Reg Brickell, both said they had no objection to the girls swimming without suits.

"I shall be keeping my eyes on the wheel-and-compass," Brickell said.

Grandmother of the party and swimming at number nine position is Mrs. Sheila Black, women's editor of The Financial Times, Britain's national business daily.

"It's the first time I have swum in the sea for years," she said.

Just before leaving, 25-year-old Harriet Hoskins-Abraham, daughter of a Unilever executive, revealed that once away from the shore the girls would swim nude.

She said: "It's the idea of myself and my 23-year-old twin sisters Amanda and Lucinda and all the other girls have agreed."

"But it was decided that the first swimmer from Britain and the girl to land in France will wear suits."

"We don't want any sun-moneses," Harriet said.

WASHINGTON (CP)—A cloud originally no bigger than a hamburger patty has arisen on the United States agriculture department's horizon. It has Canadian ramifications too.

On one hand, despite a big beef population, the government has been doing its best to keep prices up. The prices have done pretty well too after a fall of nearly $4 a hundred pounds for choice steers last year. Prices have revived by about $3 a hundred since then.

This wouldn't affect Canada as much as it would Australia, Argentina, Mexico and some other countries. Canadian beef exports to the U.S. are mainly live—and thus exempt from the proposed bill. Sales of beef, veal and mutton from other countries have ranged from 10,000,000 to 50,000,000 pounds annually in the past.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMMES

HOW TO GET STARTED — COUNSELLING

Special programmes in which total requirements have been eased are available to adults wishing to advance their education. While emphasis is placed on high school completion subjects, special classes at lower grade levels will be held. Information may be obtained by telephone or by interview. Assistance in "getting started" and planning a study programme is readily available by telephoning EV 5-1411 during the day and asking for "Adult Education." Experienced counsellors will answer queries or arrange a counselling appointment for the prospective student. Evening counselling will be available September 7, 8, 9, 1964, from 7:00 p.m., in Victoria Secondary School. Please DO NOT telephone Victoria Secondary School during the day.

1. SPECIAL BEGINNING AND BRUSH-UP CLASSES

Adults wishing instruction or brush-up in Elementary or Junior Secondary subjects before embarking on work at the Senior Secondary School level should contact the Director of Adult Education for information and counselling. Every effort will be made to provide instruction for serious applicants without regard to their previous level of education.

2. FULL-TIME HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAMME Begins Sept. 14

This programme will enable students who are accepted to attain High School Graduation on a University Programme in ONE YEAR. Full-time attendance, six hours per day, Monday through Thursday, September to June, plus approximately four hours daily of private study will be required. This is a concentrated, highly demanding course. Past experience has indicated that it should not be attempted in conjunction with a full-time job. Students thus employed are advised to register in the Part-Time Programme for a limited number of subjects.

3. PART-TIME HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAMME

High School Graduation may be obtained by attending evening and/or Saturday morning sessions of the Part-Time Programme. Courses listed below will be offered during the 1964-65 term (Sept.-June). Classes commence Monday, September 14, 1964. Fees $30.00 per subject, plus $5.00 laboratory fee where applicable. For information and counselling, telephone EV 5-1411, ask for "Adult Education." Please DO NOT telephone Victoria Secondary School during the day. Counselling services will be available in the evening at Victoria Secondary School on September 8, 9, 10 and during the first week of classes, from 7:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m.

4. FULL-TIME SENIOR MATRICULATION

A Grade XIII (Senior Matriculation) programme will be available this year. A minimum of five subjects is required, with English 100 and 101 (considered as one course) being compulsory. The remaining four subjects may be chosen from those offered. Subjects may be chosen to satisfy the requirements of first year university. Classes are held twice weekly in each subject.

5. PART-TIME SENIOR MATRICULATION

Limited participation in the Senior Matriculation programme is possible. One subject (two classes per week) is considered a reasonable commitment for a student working full time.

Senior Matriculation Time-Table Begins Sept. 21

SUBJECT	DAY	TIME
Math. 101 A	Mon. and Wed.	4:00-6:00 p.m.

ARCHITECTURAL DRAWING

This course is intended to teach the fundamentals of architectural drawing beginning with very elementary work and introducing simple presentation drawing in plan and elevation, drawing in perspective, elementary building construction and the principles of preparing drawings for construction purposes.

Instructor: Mr. J. Phillips
Time: Wednesday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-213
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

AUTOMOTIVE MACHINIST

Basic automotive engine machining will be taught including engine block reborring, crankshaft grinding, piston pin fitting and rod aligning, valve fitting and refacing. Valve guide installation, connecting rod riveting, engine stripping and assembling.

Instructor: Mr. J. Rands
Time: Tuesday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-213
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

AUTO MECHANICS REFRESHER

This is for mechanics who wish a review of automotive theory prior to writing the Tradesmen's Qualifying Examinations.

Instructor: Mr. J. McDonald
Time: Monday and Thursday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: Victoria Sr. Secondary, Rm. 313
Fee: 24 sessions—$20.00

CAKE DECORATING FOR THE TRADE

This is a course for those who wish to learn the fundamentals of decorating cakes as an added skill in the baking or confectionery trades. Instructions will be given in the use of tools, equipment and materials and in the design and decoration of cakes for various occasions. Cake decorating may be done as a fulltime occupation or used as a part-time supplement to your income.

Instructor: Mrs. Daisy Sims
Time: Monday and Thursday, 10 a.m.-12 noon
Place: 2428 Davidson Street
Fee: 30 Sessions—$15.00

COASTAL NAVIGATION

This course covers virtually all aspects of navigation in British Columbia coastal waters. It includes chart reading, laying out courses, the magnetic compass, tidal stream, fitting, etc. Rules of the road, boat handling in heavy weather and practical craft work will be included. But other aspects of basic seamanship will not be taught.

Instructor: Mr. Rodney Darby
Time: Wednesday, 7:30-10:30 a.m.
Place: Lansdowne Jr. Sec'ry, Draft. Rm.
Fee: 20 Sessions—$25.00

CUSTOM TAILORING

Professional tailoring of coats, suits and jackets will be taught to those wishing to learn this craft. Considerable sewing experience is a prerequisite to this course.

Class A:
Instructor: Mrs. L. Corbin
Time: Thursday, 7:00-10:00 p.m.
Place: Oak Bay Sr. Sec'ry, Cloth. Rm.
Fee: 20 sessions—$15.00

DISPLAY TECHNIQUES FOR INCREASED SALES

Effective displays make money! Learn the secrets of building these eye-catching sales promoters. An expert in the field will show how to develop striking advertising displays for retail stores.

Instructor: Mr. S. Carson
Time: Tuesday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Place: Victoria Sr. Secondary, Rm. 310
Fee: 10 sessions—$12.00

ELECTRICAL CODE

This course is for qualified journeymen who desire improvement in Electrical Code knowledge. Emphasis will be on those sections necessary to qualify for Class A, B, and C Provincial Government certification.

Class I:
Instructor: Mr. Merrill Schwartz
Time: Tuesday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-115
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

Class II:
Instructor: Mr. Merrill Schwartz
Time: Wednesday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-115

VOCATIONAL AND TRADE EXTENSION COURSES

ELECTRICAL WIRING, PRACTICE AND THEORY

This course is for those who wish to obtain theory and practice in wiring a private dwelling.

Instructor: Mr. Albert Cunningham
Time: Thursday, 7:30-10:00 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-116
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

ENGINEERING DRAWING

This course is designed for those who wish instruction in fundamentals of drafting. It will be slanted toward marine work but will cover such topics as applied geometry, orthographic projection and its applications to geometric solids, engineering details in various views, and technical drawing of sample parts.

Instructor: Mr. Richard G. Scarbrough
Time: Tuesday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-213
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

ENGINEERING MECHANICS

A beginning course applying principles of physics to the fundamentals of structural and mechanical engineering. Equilibrium, statics, dynamics, kinematics, the slide rule, and drafting is desirable. Text: Merriam Mechanics, Part I, Statics.

Instructor: Mr. Richard G. Scarbrough
Time: Tuesday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Place: Victoria Secondary, Rm. 104
Fee: 20 sessions—$25.00

ELECTRONICS

A revised series of four courses is now being taught. They are programmed to parallel the courses taught in B.C. Vocational Schools. Completion of the four courses will give a student an excellent basic grounding upon which a successful career in electronics can be built.

Place: F. T. Fairley Tech.
Time: Tuesday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Fee: 40 sessions—$30

Electronics I:

Basic electrical-electronics theory from magnetism, through electrostatics, thermionic emission to D.C. and A.C. theory.

Instructor: Mr. Wm. Matheson
Time: Monday and Wednesday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech.

Electronics II:

Covers advanced A.C. theory, circuit components, tuned circuits, vacuum tubes and transistor theory. Electronics I or equivalent is prerequisite to this course.

Instructor: Mr. E. Constantine
Time: Tuesday and Thursday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech.

Electronics III:

Electronic circuits, wave forms, differentiation and integration, limiters, multi-vibrators, saw tooth generators, transmission lines will be included in this course. Electronics II or its equivalent is a prerequisite.

Instructor: Mr. J. Mathieson
Time: Monday and Wednesday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech.

Electronics IV:

Micro wave antennas, servo mechanisms, photo tubes, telemetering, wire telephony, television, and radar will be included in this course. Electronics III or its equivalent is a prerequisite.

Instructor: Mr. B. Bester
Time: Tuesday and Thursday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech.

ESTIMATING (Building Trades)

This course is for those who have had several years' experience in the construction trade and who seek advancement through becoming familiar with the techniques of estimating. The problems will be presented on British Columbia requirements and will cover estimating as a business, building code, plans, specifications, contracts, and the general procedure of estimating.

Instructor: Mr. W. Newman
Time: Tuesday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: Victoria Sr. Secondary, Rm. 110
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

FURNITURE UPHOLSTERING AND RECOVERING

This course will teach the student how to re-upholster and remodel pieces of furniture. Sessions will be devoted to removal of old coverings, remodelling, springing, padding, covering, trimming, etc.

Instructor: Mr. E. Hindson
Time: Tuesday, 7:30-10:00 p.m.
Place: Oak Bay Jr. Secondary, Metal Shop
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

GAS ENGINE MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR

This course is designed to teach the fundamentals of a single or twin-cylinder gas engine. The operation, maintenance and repair of outboard motors, chain saws, inboard motors, lawnmowers, etc., will be covered in demonstration, practice and theory.

Instructor: Mr. C. Whitehouse
Time: Wednesday, 7:30-10:00 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-122, A-121
Fee: 20 sessions—$18.00

GAS FITTING

This is a course for Plumbers and Steamfitters who wish to prepare for their Gas Fitter's Licence. Instruction will be given in pipe and orifice sizing, venting, benchmark, automatic controls, combustion, installation, etc.

NOTE: The completion of this course does not, in itself, provide the necessary qualifications to sit for the examination for a Gas Fitter's Licence, one requisite of which is four years of pipetting experience.

Instructor: Mr. Stanley Darling
Time: Monday and Thursday, 7:00-9:30 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech. Unit, Rm. A-110

JUNIOR COUNTERMAN

This course is for junior employees to provide or supplement counter training. The automotive parts trade will be the medium for teaching, but emphasis will be on cataloguing systems, meeting the public, salesmanship, etc.

Instructor: Mr. N. McCandlish
Time: Tuesday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Place: Victoria Sr. Secondary, Rm. 113
Fee: 10 sessions—$12.00

LEVEL AND TRANSIT PRACTICE

This course is to teach the use of the Builder's Level and Transit to find lines and grades on a construction job. This is a highly practical course with most of the time devoted to the actual use of the instruments. Men must come prepared to work in the open. Class begins Oct. 17.

Instructor: Mr. J. C. B. Keane
Time: Saturday, 8:30 a.m.-12:00 noon
Place: Fairley Technical, Rm. A-102
Fee: 10 sessions—$25.00

MACHINE SHOP PRACTICE

The basic skills and technical knowledge required in the Machine Shop will be taught through a variety of jobs chosen to illustrate the operations performed on the bench, lathe, shaper, drill press, grinder, etc.

Instructor: Mr. J. White
Time: Tuesday, 7:30-10:00 p.m.
Place: Fairley Technical, Rm. A-122
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

MECHANICAL SCIENCE AND APPLIED MATHEMATICS

This course is designed to give instruction in the fundamentals and practical application of physics and related mathematics. The syllabus will cover mechanics, statics, work, power, energy, machines, motion and heat. The mathematics required to make the calculations will be taught where required.

Instructor: Mr. J. C. B. Keane
Time: Thursday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Place: Central Jr. Secondary, Rm. 104
Fee: 20 sessions—$25.00

OIL BURNING SERVICING—Elementary

This course will cover the theory of combustion as well as the installation and servicing of domestic burners and controls. The local by-laws will also be discussed.

Instructor: Mr. R. Morgan
Time: Wednesday, 7:30-10:00 p.m.
Place: Victoria Senior Secondary, Rm. 300
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

OIL BURNER SERVICING—Elementary

This advanced course, offered in cooperation with the Oil Heat Institute of B.C., covers the theory and practice of oil burner servicing. Text books will be included in the fee.

Instructor: Mr. R. Morgan
Time: Tuesday and Thursday, 7:00-10:00 p.m.
Place: Fairley Tech., A-121 and Forge Rm.
Fee: 32 sessions—$35.00

APPRENTICESHIP COURSES

Courses listed under Apprenticeship Classes may be taken for the purpose of trade and industrial training providing the person who requires this training first obtains permission from the Director of Adult Education.

NOTE: These classes begin the week of September 28, 1964. Indentured apprentices will be informed by the Department of Labour as to where and when to attend. Other students desiring admission must apply to the Director of Adult Education at the School Board Office from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday to Friday inclusive, or to Room A-105, in the F. T. STATIONARY ENGINEERING—Fourth Class

The course provides instruction for those preparing to write government examination for Fourth Class Certificate.

Instructor: Mr. M. Lavade
Time: Monday and Thursday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Place: Victoria Sr. Secondary, Rm. 113
Fee: 40 sessions—$30.00

STRUCTURAL ANALYSIS AND DESIGN

This course will cover the following:
(a) Structural Theory—Laws of statics and equilibrium; shear and moment diagrams; beam theory; and moments of inertia.
(b) Steel—Tension and compression members, beams, girders and connections.
(c) Reinforced concrete—Beam and column formulae; and introduction to beam, slab and column design.
(d) Timber—Beam, truss and truss connection design.

Instructor: Mr. D. Logan
Time: Monday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.
Place: Central Jr. Secondary, Rm. 205
Fee: 20 sessions—$25.00

WELDING—ARC (Elementary)

Forty hours of intensive instruction in metallic arc welding of mild steel. Maximum enrolment 15 in each class.

Class E:
Instructor: Mr. H. East
Time: Wednesday, 6:00-8:00 p.m.
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech., Room A-114
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

Class G:
Instructor: Mr. W. Maydon
Time: Thursday, 6:00-8:00 p.m.
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech., Room A-114
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

Class H:
Instructor: Mr. W. Maydon
Time: Thursday, 8:00-10:00 p.m.
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech., Room A-114
Fee: 20 sessions—$20.00

WELDING—ARC (Intermediate)

This is a follow-up course for those having taken basic welding course.

Instructor: Mr. H. East
Time: Wednesday, 8:00-10:00 noon
Place: F. T. Fairley Tech., Room A-114

Late Afternoon and Evening Courses Available

Senior Matriculation courses will be offered beginning in September of this year. Classes will begin at 4:00 p.m. and continue through 10:00 p.m., Monday to Thursday.

Combination Classes

Pupils who fail even one subject are ineligible to attend University. Rather than spend a whole year to obtain a passing standard for the one subject, the new programme will allow the student to take that subject as well as several other courses at the Senior Matriculation level. Classes will be scheduled in such a manner that almost any combination of subjects can be programmed.

Part-Time Classes Available

Most sessions will be two hours long with classes scheduled twice a week. However, this will vary somewhat to allow for laboratory periods, heavier courses, etc. The 4:00 p.m. starting time will allow students who do not wish a full programme to hold down a full or part-time job.

Transitional Year

The Grade 13 courses will be a gradual transition from the secondary school atmosphere—where teachers give a good deal of help to the student—to a more adult approach where the student is expected to do a good deal of work on his own—under guidance. Those enrolled in these courses will find excellent instruction from a well-qualified staff who have majored in the field. At the same time, these teachers will purposefully untie the apron strings so that when the student continues to university, he will not be overwhelmed by the abrupt change in techniques.

Counselling Services

Counselling services will be available at the School Board offices, Adult Education Division, after August 17 during the day and at the school after September 7th during the evenings.

Students are urged to seek this service before enrolling to avoid some costly mistakes.

Enrolment Date Set

Students may enrol after August 17 by telephoning the Adult Education Office at EV 5-1411 or writing P.O. Box 700, Victoria, and making an appointment to see the counselors. Fees will be $50.00 per subject plus a laboratory fee where applicable. Any number of Junior or Senior Matriculation courses may be taken in any combination—subject to certain regulations. Fee for a Junior Matriculation course is $30.00—see page 3.

Provincial Government To Build New Vocational School

After strong representation by the local school board for a comprehensive adult school, the Provincial Government announced its intention to build a new Vocational School here in Victoria financed jointly by the Federal and Provincial Governments. Three meetings were held between the local and provincial authorities after which the Minister of Education, the Hon. Leslie Peterson, announced the decision of the Provincial Government to proceed with a provincially-operated Vocational School to be built before 1967. The school will offer a wide variety of trade courses.

Adult School Facilities Supported By Community

A spectacular rise in adult enrolments in the last 10 years—1,800 to 6,500—is indicative of the community demand for adult school facilities. Academic classes in particular have soared from five classes in 1953 to the 63 classes planned for this year to cope with the demand. Enrolments in these courses are expected to pass the 12,000 mark. Six schools are used during weeknights and Saturday mornings to accommodate the adult programme.

Parents Go Back to School

Parents are returning to school in droves—and loving every minute of it. Miss Creighton and Mr. Garner have been teaching the new mathematics to mom and dad who are finding that the little red school house isn't what it used to be. It is really reported that no one has received the strap and that even detentions are few and far between.

Perhaps the new mathematics is more interesting than the old, or perhaps the more relaxed atmosphere is a contributing factor—but whatever the reason, we think that once mom and dad realize how much fun problem.

Magic Carpet Tours

The World Around Us series was very popular again last year and many tickets have already been sold for the fall programme. Speakers with films taken in the four corners of the world take you on a magic carpet tour for an hour and a half each night. Such fascinating places as Easter Island, Turkey, Holland, Shetland, Brazil and England will be shown. By way of variety, one evening will be devoted to the world beneath the sea.

These films have been taken by the speaker himself who comes with first-hand information of his subject. Most speakers will answer questions from the audience.

This is the fifth year of the World Around Us series which has brought a first-hand recent view of the various lands. These films provide a knowledge and understanding of the world and its peoples in a stimulating, interesting way.

New Videos To Be Offered
Film Cavalcade III will be offered again this year. It is the latest in the Film Cavalcade series. However, something new has been added. Cavalcade will be broken into 4 series—(1) Across Canada, (2) Canadian Nature, (3) Around Britain, (4) World Tour. Each series consists of 5 evening showings of 4 or 5 films each evening.

Tickets will be available for any series of five evenings. Anyone who wishes to see one complete series may do so, or, if preferable, one may choose one or two from each series. Take your choice—each ticket is good for any five showings.

Single tickets may be bought at the door or full season tickets may be bought at a reduced rate. See page 11 for details.

Businessman

Management Accounting will give those who attend an insight into how to analyze their records and how the information found in them can be used to make a profit. Later courses will be announced. Anyone wishing to be placed on a mailing list should call the Adult Education office—EV 5-1411, local 25.

Technicians' Courses To Be Offered

Beginning in October, in addition to the courses offered last year, four new ones have emerged—Engineering Drawing, Mechanical Science and Mathematics, Engineering Mechanics, and Structural Analysis and Design. Courses are expected to be the forerunner of a new engineering programme for the technician who in the future will be working more closely with the engineer.

Tradesmen's Qualification Act Passed

Last January the Tradesmen's Qualifications Act was passed and became law. Since that time 102 auto mechanics in Victoria have been examined and have qualified for their Certificate of Competency. The examinations were held at 3 separate times during the year. The exam consisted of practical and written work.

Prior to the second set of examinations, Jim McDonaid, Empress Motors shop foreman, and Glen Dyer, service manager at David Motors, gave a 12-week refresher course in theory. Fifty-one men took advantage of the course and all of them passed the examination which followed. Jim will repeat the course beginning the first week in October and another qualifying test will be held at the end of the course.

Adult Programme Trend Continues

The Adult Programme operates on a self-sustaining basis, expenses being met partly by fee and partly by Federal and Provincial grants. Fees offset the difference between the grants and direct cost of operation. Adult classes have increased in numbers during the 1963-64 school year with a total figure of 6,897 registrations made to date.

The trend which began several years ago has continued. Courses designed to increase fundamental knowledge and skills have continued to multiply in number, while the number of people enrolled in leisure-time courses—arts and crafts, recreation, etc.—have not increased significantly.

Eight Regional Centres in Operation

Eight schools were used for adult classes in the school year, namely, Victoria Senior Secondary, T. Falvey Technical and Vocational Unit, Oak Bay Senior Secondary, and the Central, Lansdowne, Oak Bay, and Qualicum S.S. 1. In addition, several classes were held in private studios because school facilities were inadequate for certain types of courses.

Here is an opportunity to tour the world from your armchair. Professional world travellers will present the finest in colour motion pictures. This is travel by magic carpet where you can leave home, tour an interesting part of the world and return in one evening with a greater appreciation of the world around us.

The Adult Education Division of the Greater Victoria School Board takes pleasure in bringing these speakers to Victoria. It is our hope that they will bring enrichment and understanding—as well as pleasure—to those who attend.

Tour 1

Mr. Green will present Asiatic Russia from Samarkand to the Sea of Japan. This is a vast section of the U.S.S.R.—a mysterious land of little-known Soviet republics—which few Westerners have visited.

Tour 2

Called Rapa Nui by the Polynesians, Easter Island is "the world's most remote corner." It is 2,200 miles from the nearest mainland and 1,600 miles from Pitcairn Island. The only scheduled contact with the outside world is a yearly supply ship sent by the government of Chile, its protector. Mr. Geza de Rosner will show you how the people live on this remote island.

Tour 3

Brazil, the giant, is astir. This great nation is larger than the U.S.A. with an extra Texas thrown in. Astonishingly prosperous, incredibly poor, a vast land of untapped resources and potential, Brazil is delicately balanced. Mr. Howard Pollard will give some background into the question "What are the big steps ahead?"

Tour 4

Perhaps the most amazing thing about Holland is the Dutch genius for beauty. Despite being one of Europe's most densely populated nations, they have preserved the natural loveliness of their countryside. Beauty, colour and dramatic action abound in Mr. Nichols' film of one of the most interesting countries in all the world.

Tour 5

The years have been kind to Turkey. Graced by natural splendors, arrayed by man-made wonders, Turkey bears her age well—proud of her natural heritage, but alive with youthful vitality. Mr. Dewey has captured the exciting story of a colorful people, their ancient past and their present-day progress.

Tour 6

Harry Pederson and his brother Verne rank as two of the world's leading underwater photographers, having produced the footage for Walt Disney, Rachel Carson, Time and Life Magazines, the Smithsonian Institute and many others. Village Beneath the Sea is a superb colour film which takes its audience into an unbelievably beautiful world beneath the sea.

Tour 7

With his English birthright, Dr. Taylor's sly wit and humour cannot be concealed as he takes you on a good-humoured, fun-poking romp through Merrie England. Despite his delightful presentation, Dr. Taylor describes the history and customs in a way which makes anyone from Britain proud of his Anglo-Saxon heritage.
